When You Were Young

Your Father and Mother read Dr. Chase's Receipt Book and Cured their ills and yours by using

Dr. Chase's Remedies.

"This, to me, is the grandest thought of my life, I have done what I could to benefit mankind," writes Dr. Chase in his recipe book.

Ever since the publication of the first edition of this great work in 1863, and the introduction of his famous family remedies in 1868, Dr. Chase's name has been dear to the hearts of the people of this wide continent.

Your fathers and mothers proved the merits of Dr. Chase's remedies long years ago, and they stand today the standard of excellence unapproached by their myriads of imitations.

Where is the home where Dr. Chase's Ointment has not time and again worked wonders in the cure of eczema, salt rheum or piles? Where is the home where Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills have not time and again cured ailments of the liver and kidneys, backache and stomach troubles? Who does not know of Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure, as a prompt cure for "cold in the head" and catarrh, and of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine as mother's favorite remedy for croup, bronchitis, asthma, coughs and colds? Who has not heard of pale, weak, nervous men, women and children being restored to vigor and health by using the great restorative—Dr. Chase's Nerve Food?

These remedies are the stand-by of the homes of this continent and Europe. They are sold everywhere. They have cured your parents and will cure you. They have stood the test of time and were never so popular as they are today. At all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

THINGS OF VALUE.

Mrs. Bellefeld—Well, Lent is passing away quite rapidly.

Mr. Bellefeld—Odd, isn't it?

What's odd about it?

So many people are trying to keep it.

You need not cough all night and disturb your friends; there is no occasion for you running the risk of contracting inflammation of the lungs or consumption, while you can get Riddle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine cures coughs, colds, inflammation of the lungs and all throat and chest troubles. It promotes a free and easy expectoration which immediately relieves the throat and lungs from phlegm.

Mr. Gaddaby is sadly neglecting her work at the Give All a Chance Mission.

But it's only temporary, I think. I understand she has been visiting her husband for a few days.

Safe, Certain, Prompt, Economic—These few adjectives apply with peculiar force to Dr. Thomas' Eucalypti Ointment—a standard external and internal remedy, adapted to the relief and cure of coughs, sore throat, hoarseness and all affections of the breathing organs, kidney troubles, excoriations, sores, lameness and physical pain.

"I'm going to travel this year," said the young man with more money than brains. I've decided that I need a change."

I guess that's right," replied the candid friend. You've got dollars and you need sense."

There is nothing equal to Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator for destroying worms. No article of its kind has given such satisfaction.

Mrs. Geyer—Men have different ways of making home happy.

Mrs. Meyer—How so?

Mrs. Geyer—Some do it staying at home and some by going away.

Holloway's Corn Cure is the medicine to remove all kinds of corns and warts, and only costs the small sum of twenty-five cents.

Mrs. Benham—It's hard on the people of Greenland to have nights six months long.

Benham—Yes; just think of the suffering of the poor man whose wife's mother drops in to spend the evening.

A Cure for Fever and Ague—Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are compounded for use in any climate, and will be found to preserve their power in any latitude. In fever and ague they act upon the secretions and neutralize the poison which has found its way into the blood. They correct the impurities which find entrance into the system through drinking water or food and if used as a preventive fevers are avoided.

I do not write poetry for the vulgar considerations of pecuniary reward, said the young man haughtily.

I see," said Miss Cayenne. "It's not a business with you; merely a habit."

Just the Thing that's Wanted.—A pill that acts upon the stomach and yet is so compounded that certain ingredients of it preserve their power to act upon the intestines, so as to clear them of excreta, the retention of which cannot but be hurtful, was long looked for by the medical profession. It was found in Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, which are the result of much expert study, and are scientifically prepared as a laxative and an alternative in one.

Teacher—Willie, can you tell me what this spells R-e-f-r-g-o-r-a-t-o-r?

Willie Starvem (the landlady's son)—Um-m. Why—e-r?

Teacher—Come. What does your mother put the meat and vegetable and things in?

Willie Starvem, brightening.—Hash!

Deep is the eager lover's voice,
When, like a muffled bell,
He to the object of his choice
A tale of love does tell.
Deep is the early robin's lay,
As he the bluebird greets;
But deeper still his sad to say—
Is mad upon our steels.

Editor—Callowman, the cigarette fiend, is dead.

Publisher—I can't help it.

Editor—But he always paid up his subscription.

Publisher—Then I guess we'd better give him a puff.

New York Millionaires.

Only a few people reading advertisements of bankers and brokers, saying that money could be made through speculation, realize that the richest men in America have commenced life in a humble way and have made their fortune through stock exchange speculations.

Men like Jay Gould who worked as a dry goods clerk in a small town at $10.00 a week up to his twentieth year, and commenced to operate with his small savings of $200 in Wall Street left at his death 70 millions of dollars; Russell Sage who worked as a grocery boy at $4.00 per week and whose present wealth is estimated at 100 millions of dollars is still operating the market, although 80 years of age, and so are thousands of others who are enjoying all the luxuries life can offer, which is due to their success in speculations.

To the shrewd and speculative the same opportunities are open to-day as to others in the past. The smallest lot which can be bought and sold is 10 shares on 3/4 margin, making 30 dollars.

Anybody interested as to how speculations are conducted can get information and market letter free of charge upon application by letter to,
