ANAGANOE.

May 16.—On Friday week the officers and delegates of the district lodge I. O. G. T. held their quarterly meeting in the public hall. The first session was from two to five, after the brief session seven to eight the doors were thrown open to the public and the talented lads and lassies entertained the large audience who came and paid their devours. The first number on the programme was a chorus by some ten or twelve people entitled "We Come," after this came a speech by Mr. Bleakner, high secretary, then followed a patriotic recitation by Kate Smith, at the close of which Mr. Ayer delegate gave an interesting rehearsal of the good work done in connection with the temperance organization and extended a gracious invitation to all to come and associate with this grand order. Next number was a Dairymaids drill which was a "Zorongo" as it consisted of simple steps and a lively movement some-times accompanied by tapping of feet. The maids wore the most picturesque attire and their stools which they carried and manipulated so wonderfully to the strains of a lively march by Blind Tom proved they had acquired the agility so indispensable to a milkmaid for they are usually a little dubious as to what "Daisy" will do next as quite often the kicks at the slightest provocation with the dire result that milkmaid and stool are literally bedabbed with lactated fluid. The song these maidens sang was very sweet, they put their feelings into phrases of exquisite tenderness and pathos when stringing of the pet names, Daisy, Fannie, Daisy etc., and terms of endearment in "linked sweetness long drawn out" their rendition was enough to disturb the serenity of the mind of a butter and cheese young man and unfit him for business next day. The praise bestowed by all present was voluntarily granted Messrs. Chas. F. Goddard, Solomon Traves, Herbert Teakles and Chris Smith gave short addresses dwelling upon the importance of leading a temperate life and notwithstanding the diversity of minds in such an audience by the lightning of eloquence they were melted into one mass; the whole assembly actuated in one and the same way, became as it were but one man and had but one voice and temperance was the song "Let us conquer or die." Miss Ethel Traves sang "Little Boy Blue" very nicely. Her bowing was marked by easy grace and she produced a clear tone of the most pleasing quality. Miss Briggs gave a reading pertaining to temperance and she established an enviable name for herself as all were well pleased with her elocutionary powers. Next came a duet "She died she did" by Messrs Herbert and Frank Smith, with violin obligato by Mr. Samuel Snider and Miss Smith accompanist. According to the plaudits they reached a position where criticism would be a superfluous yet I dislike to concur with the judgment of the audience but one rarely hears a greater number of tones with such little meaning attached. There were two tableaux and well put on, the first was a destitute looking home with no wood on the fire, no meal in the barrel, no flour in the tub, no money in the purse, no clothes hardly on the wife's or children's backs, all swallowed up in the maelstrom of drink when the bearded father entered tattered and torn and reeling under the influence of rum; to depict the scene vividly I can only say the father was a proper representative of his satanic majesty and Erebus his home. The final tableaux was "Home sweet home" and this humbly pictured cottage held as much happiness as might stock a palace. As the audience arose to depart Mrs. Davidson suggested that something patriotic be sung when everyone instantaneously enthusiastic sang God Save the Queen with great vim. The delegates from various towns and villages were entertained right royally by the Good Templars of Lady-smith lodge at their respective homes.—Mesquite.

THINGS OF VALUE.

There never was, and never will be, a universal panacea, in one remedy for all ills which flesh is heir to—the very nature of many curatives being such that were the germs of other and differently seated diseases rooted in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill, in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when obtainable in a sound unadulterated state, a remedy for many and grievous ills. By its gradual and judicious use, the frailties of the system are led into convalescence and strength, by the influence which Quinine exerts on Nature's own restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state of morbid despondency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and, by tranquillizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep—imparts vigor to the action of the blood, which, being stimulated, courses throughout the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system, thereby inducing a necessary result, strengthening the frame, and giving life to the digestive organs, which naturally demand increased substance—result, improved appetite, Northern & Lyman of Toronto, have given to the public their superior Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and, gauged by the opinion of scientists' this wine approaches nearest perfection of any in the market. All druggists sell it.

'You say you cannot afford to marry?' she suggested scornfully.

'Not at all,' answered the chronic bachelor. 'You entirely misunderstand me. Almost anyone can afford to marry. But it doesn't follow that a man can afford a wife. The marriage is the simplest part of the programme.'

The great lung healer is found in that excellent medicine sold as Bickel's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It soothes and diminishes the sensibility of the membrane of the throat and air passages, and is a sovereign remedy for all coughs, colds, hoarseness, pain or soreness in the chest, bronchitis, etc. It has cured many who on supposed to be far advanced in consumption.

'She is a girl of very little feeling, I think. I notice that she never cries even at the most pathetic plays.'

'No,' her complexion won't permit it.

Street Car Accident.—Mr. Thomas Sabo says "My eleven year old boy had his foot badly injured by being run over by a car on the street railway. We at once commenced bathing the foot with Dr. THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL, when the discoloration and swelling was removed, and in nine days he could use his foot. We always keep a bottle in the house ready for any emergency."

'No,' she said regretfully, 'I am not strong enough to run a sewing machine. Why it just about uses me up to make a century run.'

Good Digestion Should Wait on Appetite.—To have the stomach well is to have the nervous system well. Very delicate are the digestive organs in some so sensitive are they that the atmospheric changes affect them. When they become disarranged no better regulator is procurable than Parmenter's Vegetable Pills. They will assist the digestion so that the hearty eater will suffer no inconvenience and will derive all the benefits of his food.

Clara—I wouldn't marry a man for his money.

Maud—Nor I; but I wouldn't marry one who didn't have it.

A Pill for Generous Eaters.—There are many persons of less than average appetite and poor digestion who after a hearty meal, are subject to much suffering. The food of which they have partaken lies like lead in their stomachs. Headache, depression, a smothering follow. One so afflicted is unfit for business or work of any kind. In this condition Parmenter's Vegetable Pills will bring relief. They will assist the assimilation of the aliment, and, according to direction will restore healthy digestion.

Thin Blood.

Thin Blood Starves the Nerves and Weakens the Heart, Circulation Becomes Poor, the Extremities Are Cold, and the Whole System is Weak and Run Down—Restore Vitality by Using

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Vital energy or nerve force is supplied to the body by the brain—the great nerve centre where it is to be created. No less than one fifth the blood of the human body is required by the brain in its work of creating this force which runs the machinery of the body.

Just as soon as the blood becomes thin, watery and diseased, the brain is starved for lack of proper nourishment, and cries out in nervous headaches, neuralgia and body pains—cries that give warning of the approach of paralysis or nervous prostration.

Pain, lag, loss of energy, ambition and appetite, sleeplessness, nervousness and inability, incapacity for business, fears of the future and general exhaustion and weakness of the body are further symptoms of the thin blood and weak, worn-out nerves which cause such misery to men and women of this age of nervousness.

To call a quick halt to this process of nerve waste and set at work the restorative process of building up you cannot possibly find so efficacious a restorative as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the enricher of blood and builder of new nerve cells.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food does not stimulate or deaden the nerves, but gradually and surely builds up the system, permanently overcomes disease and puts new life, new hope, new energy into every movement of the body. It is the world's greatest restoratives for pale, weak, nervous, woman and children. 50 cent a box at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto. A book on Nervous Diseases sent free.

Asthma, bronchitis croup and all coughs and colds are quickly cured by Dr. Chase's Syrup of Limes and Turpentine. 25 cents a bottle. Family size, three times as much, 60 cents.
