PROGRESS, SATURDAY, JULY 7, 1900

Bryan's Anti-British Political Capital.

called "to tender a tarewell reception to the Boer envoys," was held in Cooper Union last night. Two of the Boer delegates, Abraham Fischer and C. N. Wessels, and Robert B. Roosevelt, Congressman William Sulzer and the chairman, George M. Van Hoesen, made speeches, but the meeting might easily have been mistaken for one called to ratify the ticket to be nominated at the Democratic National Convention. Of the three United States citizens who spoke all were Democrats. Two of them, Messrs. Van Hoesen and Sulzer, 'made use of their opportunities to boom | Mr. | Bryan, to insult President McKinley and to picture the armies of the United States marching into Pretoria in support of the Boer forces when the elocutionist of the Platte should occupy the Presidential chair.

2

In all their efforts the speakers were ably seconded by the audience, which was largely anti-everything and anti British in particular. Perhaps 2,000 men and women attended the meeting and hailed Congressman Sulzer as the next Vice-President. The champion of the "peepal" appeared to enjoy the allusions to such a possibility greatly took occasion to inform bis audience two or three times that he was 'going West on the midnight train." Mr. Van Hoesen called the meeting to order soon after 8 o'clock. Among other thirgs te said :

"Tois meeting is called for the purpose of reaffi ming our sympathy with the cause of the struggling South African republics, ot bidding tarewell and godspeed to the envoys from those republics to our sho es, and of assuring them that, no matter whether or not they have accomplished all

A meeting advertised as having been | Jameson was coming a bugle sounded in the streets. What do you think our boys did P Did they go home and change their clothes? Not a bit of it.

> 'They just got out their Musers, mounted their ponies and went down to fight Jameson in their dress suits. They did the surprising and Jameson was thrashed, sent to England and imprisoned-tor not succeeding. (Lughter) Then he was returned as a member of the Cape Parlia ment.' [Hisses.]

Mr. Wessels gave place to Robert B. Roosevel', who reluted the proposition that the war waged by England in South Africa was like our war against Spain There wasn't enough billingsgate in Mr. Roosevelt's speech to secure an enthusi astic reception for it and the audience got up and went out in considerable numbers. Then came the Hon. Mr. Su'zer and be got a riproaring reception He had no sooner oeen introduced than some one yelled :

"Three cheers for the next Vice Presiden! '

The cheers were given, and Mr. Sulzer proceeded to deliver the real thing in the way of a Bryanized Democratic speech After he'd been talking about halt an hour. during which the audience nearly lost its voice cheering Mr. Sulzer said :

"Now, my triends, I don't want to talk politics. I'm going West on the midnight train. (Loud applause). And when I come back, I "As Vice President," yelled somebody. "I'll make it my business to talk some politics, and in every speech I make, I'm going to tell the people on my responsibility as a Congressman, that Great Britain is stealing territory right along from of the stick, while six more tug at ropes the United States in Alaska just as she is which are attached to the animal's horns. stealing it in South Africa. We don't appear to be sympathizing much with our selves, but, thank Go ! Citizen Americs is for the Boers, but official America is for England. Citizen America is for helping the Boers fight their fight against the chief of nations, while official America go a permission of England to breathe. (Howls | boat by the strength of a smill army of and ch ers)

"But I'm going west on the midnight train, and when I come back a man will be nominated to be elected President of the United States who will change all this. The refore I would say to old Paul K uger tonight: 'Hold on, K uger! Ano when Bryan's in the White House, you c n rend another ultimatum, not to Salisbury, but, to Roberts. And you can tell him if he don't take his army out of South Africa in twenty-tour hours you'll put him out, and the armies of the United States will help vou.' ' Su'zer closed his speech by working him self into a fine frei zy over the fact that tcday, for the first time in our history.

American soldiers are commanded by British officers in China. With this for a peroration the speech and the meeting closed

A thiuese Ferry.

Ferries in China are numerous, and so are the heavy carts to be ferried. The spectacle of a crossing is full of surprises. savs Rev. Arthur H. Smith in Village Life in China.' To get one of the clumsy cart down the steep and s elving incline to the river requires considerable engineering skill, and accidents are not intrequent. When the edge of the terry is reached the whole team must be unbitched, and each animal got on board as best it can be.

Some animals make no trouble, and will give a mighty bound, landing somewhere or everywhere, to the imminent peril of any passengers on board. When an animal refuses to budge, -- an occurrence at almost every crossing,-its bead is band aged and it is led around and around for a long time, so as to induce it to tor, et all about the terry boat.'

At last it is led to the edge and urged to jump, which it will by no means do. Then the drivers twist its tail, put a stick behind it as a lever, and get six men at each end bour, and frequently after prolonged and cruel beatings, the poor beasts are all on board, where the more excitable prance about among and over the human passen. g. rs.

around with its trousers turned up, sking cart, which must be dragged on to the terry after what they had undergone, to be in-

On the farther bank another exciting beight. struggle occurs The exit of the carts and animals is impeded by the struggles of those who are eager to cross to the other shore, and cannot be content to wait un'il the bost is unloaded O der is unknown, and it is a wender that people are not frequently killed in these tumultuous cross-

Turkien Pelice Justice.

A triffing dispute terween a Kurd and an Armenian, on a street in Constantinople is dispensed by the Turkish police :

A tobacco box was found on the sidewalk, as alleged, by a Kurd. An Armen. would give in and the dispute waxed warm. From words they were near coming to blows when a policeman came up; but he could not d cide the question of ownersbip.

At last the Armenian suggested that the policeman ark what was in the box. 'Tobacco and cigarette paper,' said the Kurd, promptly.

'The box contains nothing but a twenty five cent piece ' said the Armenian smiling. The offi er opened the box, and finding the Armenian was right, settled the dis pute by giving him the box.

'The Armenian is the owner of the box.' he said. 'The Kurd is a liar.' Here he smote the Kurd over the head. 'Allah be praised ! For my trouble in deciding this complicated affair I will keep the twenty five cents.'

Marylanders in the Revolutions.

The character of the revolutionary soldiers from Maryland, who went to Massachusetts to join Washington's army, may be seen from the following letter to a gentleman then resting in Philadelphia: I have had the happiness of seeing Capt. Michael Cresap, marchirg at the head of a timate with danger and familiar with hardship. Many of them exceed six feet in Yesterday they were drawn out to show the gentleman of Frederick Town their dexterity in shooting. A clapboard, with a mark the size of a dollar, was put up. They began to fire offhand, and few shots went wide of the paper. Then they lay on their backs, some on their breast or side, others ran twenty or thirty steps, and firing appeared to be equally certain of the mark.

A young man then took the board in his hand, not by the end, but by the side, the other day, says the Chicago Record, and while he held it up, his brother walked led to an amusing instance of justice as it to the distance and very coolly shot into the white Then he laid down his rifle, took up the board, and held it as it was held before, while the second brother shot ian claimed the box as his own. Neither at it. By this exercise I was more astonished than pleased.

ch.

But will you believe it, when I tell you that one of the men took the board, and placing it between his legs, stood with his back to the tree while another drove the c ntre ?

What would an army of one thousand of these men do in the forests of America ? They want nothing to preserve their health and courage but water from a spring, a little parcaed corn. and what they can essly procure in bunting Wrapped in their blankets in the dampest night they need only the shade of a tree for shelter and the earth for a bed.

An Inqui litive Bear.

The story of a bear, whose inquisitiveness was the occasion of his death, is told by a woodsman in the New York Tribune. One summer I worked for a man on the Sinnam honing Creek, who had a queer experience with an inquisitive bear. The water used on the premises was forced to the house from a spring behind a kaoll by a bydraulic ram that s'ood in a covered plank box a few feet below the spring.

Every best of the ram's valve could be plainly heard in the wood-bouse, and the inge.

they hoped to accomplish when they came here, they carry back to their unhappyland the heartfelt sympathy of the American people. When President Kruger and President Steyn requested the good offi es of the United States to end the war they had a right to expect that our government would act upon the request with som vigor. Instead of that all the officials in Washington would consent to do was to act as a mere messenger."

Mr. Van Hoesen talked along leisurely for the better part of an hour and then ir troduced Mr. Fischer, who wore evening clothes. He had a most enthusiastic reception.

"We are grateful to the American people." said Mr. Fischer, "for the kindly treatment we have received and the respectful and cordial hearing which they have accorded us. We know that we take home with us the warm, earnest, heartfelt sympathy of the citizens of this great republic. Remembering that, we will also remember that liber y here is not shut up in any capital or town or city."

At this somewhat undiplomatic remark, the audience howled with delight and an excitable brother on the platform jumped up and shouted :

"We'll throw the British out of the capital on the 4th of March and then you'll get a show !'

"Three cheers for our Democratic friend !' shouted a tawny-haired young man, who had been nervously stroking a budding moustache and the audience yelled like Comanobe Indians.

Mr. Wessels followed Mr. Fischer. He is something of a humorist and having put the audience in excellent humor, he told them frankly that the Boers were much obliged for American sympathy, but they wanted and thought they had a right to expect more.

"We (want your sympathy," said Mr. Wessels, "but when you have given us that we want you to rise up in all the majesty of your young strength and say to England: 'Stop that war!' When you get ready to say that, it will stop. We want the help of all of you. We want the help of the ladies in America. I have heard that the almighty dollar controls elections in this country and, of course, the ladies control the purse strings. Therefore if we have the ladies with ts we'll get your substantial help."

"You've got us now !" screamed a little, old lady on the platform.

Next comes the moving of the beavy

After a struggle, often lasting halt an tormidable company of men from the mountains and backwoods, painted like Indians, with tomabawks, and although some of them had mar hed eight hundred miles from the banks of the Ohio, they seemed to walk light and e sy.

Their beslih and vigor declared them, ram had worked all right for six years. when, one morning, it got balky just as the owner was dipping bis pail into the trough. It stopped and started several times, and the astonished farmer, after he had listened to it a while, handed a monkey wrench to me and told me to go over to he spring and find out what the matter W 15.

Just Ithen the man's wife wanted me do something in the cellar, so the man himself took the wrench and started for the spring When he got to the edge of a grove the secret of the ram's queer conduct was revealed to him.

He saw a large bear with its paws on the box peering down at the ram, the animal's aquisitiveness have driven to tear the cover off to find out what sort of a thing was beating in the box.

The bear was very much amused with its new plaything, for it touched the valve several times with its paw, and acted as if it was trying to ascertain why the valve didn't work when its paw was on it.

It circled around the box, eyed the value and seemed to be bound to solve the mystery. Finally it grabbed the box and wrenched it apart.

That was more than the man could stand. He ran to the house, got the rifle and hurried bcak just in time to see the bear upset the ram and almost ruin it. Then he banged away and killed the bear.

Prejudiced.

Not exactly the right word, but a very expressive, was that used by a dilatory witness, a woman, who, says the Kansas City Journal, was brought by the sheriff before District Judge Thompson at Westmoreland.

'What reason, madam,' said the judge, severely, 'have you for not obeying the summons of the court ?

'I haint got none, Mr. Judge, only we have smallpox down at our house, an' I thought you might be kinder sorter prejudiced agin' it.'

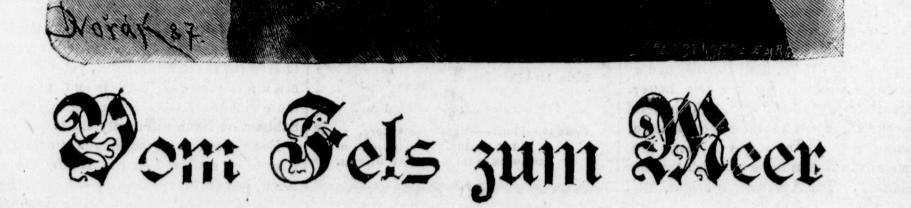

The judge was 'kinder sorter prejudiced and the spectators must have been more so, to judge by the quickness with which the court room was emptied.

A Similarity.

'What do you think of these yarns about the Chinese being among the most civilized people on earth?' asked Plute Pete.

'Well' answered Three Finger Sam, 'I must say their way o' treatin' strang hs they don't happen to like reminds me of the palmy days in our great an' growin' city of Crimson Gulch.'

'And besides the ladies,' continued Mr. Wessels. 'we want your boys to help their brother boys in the little republics. We've got the boys there who are of the stuff of which men are made. Jameson found that out. You'know he was coming down to surprise us. & (Laughter) He decided to come on New Year's Day, when all our young people were dancing and making merry. When the news reached us that It's Always Midnight Gloom to the sufferer from stomach disorders and the diseases which can be directly traced there-neglect or ignorance may have produced the darkness, but so sure as night follows day, just so surely will Dr. Von Stan's Pineapple Tablets let in the sunshine and bring back the full noonday brightness of perfect health. This is taking strong ground-but proof is to be had-one tablet after eating-69 in a box-35 cents. Sold by E. C. Brown.