In the Care Of the Queen.

The organ of the 'Girls' Society' in London gives an instance of the zeal and fidel. ity with which Queen Victoria fulfilled a duty once undertaken.

This society is probably the largest organization of women in the world. It originated in England, but now extends to this country, to the continent and to all of the British colonies. Its object, as is pretty generally known, is to draw women of every rank closer together by mutual help and acts of christian kindness. The members who are so fortunate as to have education or money support and teach schools for their poorer sisters. Cooking, sewing and the management of a home and children are taught in these schools.

Each associate is given charge of one of the poorer members; she watches over her, finds work for her if necessary, visits her, writes to her when absent, stands ready so long as they both live to help her. They are, in a word, friends and sisters-daughters of one Heavenly Father.

The list of English associates includes most of the royal and noble women of the kingdom, and was headead by the queen. With many of these the duty ends by lending their names and paying their annual dues, but the queen was as zealous a member as the poorest girl in her dominions. She took a poor young woman as her especial charge, and faithfully gave her counsel and personal help. After the girl was grown she emigrated to this country, but her royal friend did not loose her hold upon her, although her hands were full of the cares of a great empire. Twice each year this girl received a letter written by the queen herself, not dictated to a secretary. The last came but a short time before death claimed the foremost woman in the world.

Foremost and beloved by all nations, not because of her power or resplendent rank, but because that with them she never ceased to be a true, womanly woman.

On Parole.

A fine Jersey cow which had escaped from her owner's lot and was roaming the streets of Memphis at will was roped in by a pound officer. This action, says the Memphis Scimitar, evoked a moving appeal to the chief of police from her owner:

'Chief Richards, old friend. The pound man hauled my cow into court this morning for prowling. As it was her first offense, please have her let off with as light a fine as possible.

'G. W. Davis.'

Underneath this letter Chief Richards scribbled the following instruction to the pound man:

'Release the old cow referred to on her own recognizance.

Doctors not seldom give up a case, but a mother never does. While life lasts, while there is a spark of vitality which love's labor may fan into a flame, she toils untiringly for the child she brought into the world. And sometimes where the doctors fail the mother succeeds. She has no prejudices. Any means she will use which will save her child. The mother's prescription given below is a case in point. Her daughter was given up by physicians as suffering from an incurable disease, called "wasting of the digestive organs." The mother prescribed Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and " Favorite Prescription," and had the happiness of seeing her daughter restored to perfect health. Dr. Pierce's making new blood and new life. "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol and it is absolutely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics.

Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It is a nervenourishing, flesh-forming medicine-

It is a true temperance medicine. "My sister (of Arlington, Washington Co., Nebr.,) was taken very sick and had several doctors," writes Mrs. C. L. Harrison, of Elk City, Douglas Co., Nebr. They could not do her any good, and told my mother they would not come any more, as no doctor could help her, that she could not get well. She had 'wasting of the digestive organs.' My mother said to my sister: 'Well, I almost know that Dr. Pierce's medicines will cure her.' So she bought six bottles-three of 'Golden Medical Discovery' three of 'Pavorite Prescription,' and some of the 'Pellets;' and now my sister is a well woman.
"We thank you for your medicine."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 31 one-cest stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.
