Spring Poetry.

They say that poets never
Should sing of budding spring;
I wonder if they ever
Have heard the robins sing.
Or found the winds flowers growing
Upon a hillside gray.
Where snows were lately blowing,
And spring seemed far away?

Let those talk on who never
Have seen the cuckoo start
Fed from the tide that ever
Flows through the tree's green heart;
Who never saw earth brighten
When south winds come to stay
Or felt their own heart lighten
When blue skies follow gray.

But we who know the glory
When earth awakes from sleep,
Who hear the new old story
Told in the river's leap.
When first, its ice bonds riven,
It moves—a restless thing—
We to whom this is given
May surely sing of spring.
—Ninette M. Lowater.

THINGS OF VALUE.

There never was, and never will be, a universal panacea, in one remedy for all ills to which flesh is heir—the very nature of many curatives being such that were the germs of other and differently seated diseases rooted in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill, in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when obtainable in a sound unadulterated state, a remedy for many and grievous ills. By its gradual and judicious use, the frailties of the system are led into convalescence and strength, by the influence which Quinine exerts on Nature's own restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state of morbid dependency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and, by tranquilizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep—imparts vigor to the action of the blood, which, being stimulated, courses throughout the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system, thereby making activity necessary result, strengthening the frame, and giving life to the digestive organs, which naturally demand increased substance—result, improved appetite, Northron & Lyman of Toronto, have given to the public their superior Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and, gauged by the opinion of scientists, this wine approaches nearest perfection of any in the market. All druggists sell it.

"I could die for you," he cried.
But the girl gave no sign of reciprocal affection.
"And my life," he continued, "is insured for $20,000."
"I am yours," she sighed, "till death."
BILIOUSNESS FURDERS LIFE.—The bilious man is never a companionable man because his ailment renders him morose and gloomy. The complaint is not so dangerous as it is disagreeable. Yet no one need suffer from it who can procure Parmentier's Vegetable Pills. By regulating the liver and obviating the effects of the bile in the stomach they restore men to cheerfulness and full vigor of action.

The Caller—And so you're going abroad. For your health?
Oh, not for my health. For my husband's. I am going to give him absent treatment.

Useful at all Times.—In winter or in summer Parmentier's Vegetable Pills will cure with or overcome any irregularities of the digestive organs which change of diet, change of residence, or variation of temperature may bring about. They should be always kept at hand, and once their beneficial action becomes known, no one will be without them. There is nothing nauseating in their structure, and the most delicate can use them confidently.

"Gee whiz!" exclaimed the young benedict, "what ails this mince piece?"
"Why, nothing," replied his wife, who was a white-ribboner. "I followed the recipe except where it called for brandy. I substituted root beer for that?"

Money Saved and pain relieved by the leading household remedy, Dr. THOMAS' EUCALYPTIC OIL—a small quantity of which usually suffices to cure a cough, heal a sore, cut, bruise or sprain, relieve rheumatism, neuralgia, neuralgia, excoriated nipples, or inflamed breast.

Pessimistic artist—Just look where they've got my canvas, on the top line!
Optimistic artist—It might be worse.
"I can't see how; it's as high as the ceiling will allow."
Yes; but the ceiling might be a great deal higher.

The great demand for a pleasant, safe and reliable antidote for all affections of the throat and lungs is fully met with in Bickel's Anesthetic Syrup. It is purely Vegetable Compound, and acts promptly and magically in subduing all coughs, colds, bronchitis, inflammations of the lungs, etc. It is so palatable that a child will not refuse it, and is put at a price that will not exclude the poor from its benefits.

"Is Bibb a good neighbor?"
"No; he's very unpopular, because he paints his house every spring and that makes everybody in the block do the same."
The superiority of Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is shown by its good effects on the children. Purchase a bottle and give it a trial.

"So your son has returned from college, has he?"
"Yes."
"Did he get his degree?"
"Yes; he got 15 degrees below the graduating requirement."
It is only necessary to read the testimonials to be convinced that Holloway's Corn Cure is unequalled for the removal of corns, warts, etc. It is a complete extingisher.

Little Elmer (who has an inquiring mind)—papa, what is conscience?
Prof Broadhead—Conscience, my son, is the name usually given to the fear we feel that other people will find us out.

"In my business," declared the stock broker, "it is impossible to succeed without pluck."
"You mean 'plucking,' don't you?" replied the man who had been up against it.

Working on His Pride.
A pedler who was in the habit of visiting the various offices in a large down-town building at regular intervals with a patent shoe polish was making his rounds one day as usual, when an occupant of one of the rooms said to him:

"Say, you've been coming here for about six years. Twice a year I buy a box of your polish, and never any oftener. Six weeks ago you sold me one, and it will last me nearly five months yet; and still you drop in regularly every week to ask me if I don't want another box. You know I don't. What do you do it for?"

I thought maybe you'd git sort o' 'shamed of usin' so little shoe-polish after a while and 'd buy a box now an' then as a matter o' pride," answered the pedler, taking the precaution to edge toward the door as he spoke.

But he sold that man another box of polish there and then.

"Just think, 'Lottie had to make her first appearance on the stage in tights!"
"My! Didn't she feel dreadfully embarrassed?"
"She said she thought she was going to, but she felt quite at ease as soon as she advanced to the footlights and saw some of the décollete gowns in the boxes."

EASING THE CHEST.

It is the cold on the chest that scares people and makes them sick and sore. The cough that accompanies the chest cold is racking. When the cold is a hard one and the cough correspondingly severe, every coughing spell strains the whole system. "We feel sure that if we could only stop coughing for a day or so we could get over the cold, but we try everything we know of or can hear of in the shape of medicine. We take big doses of quinine until the head buzzes and roars; we try to sweat it out; we take big draughts of whiskey, but the thing that has its grip on the chest hangs on, and won't be shaken loose.

If the irritation that makes us cough could be stopped, we would get better promptly, and it is because Admanson's Botanic Cough Balsam is so soothing and healing to the inflamed throat that it is so efficient a remedy for coughs and colds. This really great medicine is a very simple preparation, made of extracts of bark and gums of trees, and it never deceives. It heals the throat and the desire to cough is gone. When the cough goes the work of cure is almost complete. All druggists sell Admanson's Balsam, 25 cents. Try this famous Balsam for your sore throat and you will find prompt relief.

Preoccupation.
One of the familiar figures in our large cities is the busy 'suburbanite' who, apparently, does all his reading on the trains that carry him to and from the down-town district.

An elderly citizen of this class was on his homeward journey one evening, sitting alone in a seat, with his knees braced against the seat in front of him, and was intently absorbed in his evening newspaper when the train on which he was riding ran into the rear end of a train just ahead. The engineer saw the danger in time to apply the brakes and avert a serious disaster, but the shock was severe enough to throw one of the passengers forward and knock off the hat of the busy suburbanite in question.

He merely muttered, as he picked up his hat and went on with his reading, unconscious that anything unusual had happened:

"I think you might at least have apologized for that!"

Mrs. Ondego (making a call)—I am sorry to hear you are having trouble with your cook.

Mrs Upjohn—Yes, I shall have to let Serena go. I didn't mind her practicing on the piano now and then, but she wants to join our golf club.
