The Canadian Pacific railway announce that twenty thousand farm laborers will be required to harvest the enormous wheat crop of Manitoba and Assinabois this season; and in order that as many as possible in the maritime provinces may take advantage of this great demand for labor, it has been decided to run a low rate farm laborers excursion on August 10th to all points in Manitoba and Assinabois, west, southwest and northwest of Winnipeg, as far as, and including, Moose Jaw, Estevan and Yorkton. Particulars will be announced later in Canadian Pacific advertisement in this paper.

A Family Crisis Averted.

A New York man, whose business keeps him down town very late at night, and whose wife does not sit up for him, received a present of some very fine writing-paper, says the Times, and it occurred to him that, inasmuch as he would not have the opportunity of showing it to his wife until the next morning, it would be a good joke to write her a note. It was a good scheme and he took much pleasure in it. But the next morning his wife received the letter with conflicting emotions. She turned it over. What could her husband—at that moment up-stairs, sleeping the sleep of the just—have to say that he could not say by word of mouth? It certainly was very mysterious.

Could it be?—Yes she remembered now they had had a little discussion the other day in which they were not of the same opinion. Poor, dear boy! It must be that that little matter had rankled in his mind all this time. Well, she would open the letter and see. And this is what she read:

"Liabe Frru: What do you think of this for letter-paper b Yours."

Her Fingers Came in Too Late.

Oliver Wendell Holmes enjoyed nothing so much as a clever retort, even if it happened to be at his own expense. One day at an entertainment, he was seated near the refreshment table, and observed a little girl looking with longing eyes at the good things. With his invariable fondness for children he said kindly:

"Are you hungry, little girl?"
"Yes, sir," was the reply.
"Then why don't you take a sandwich?"
"Because I haven't any fork."
"Fingers were made before forks," said the doctor smilingly.
The little girl looked up at him and replied to his delight.
"Not my fingers."

New Steam Ferry.

Capt Pitt will have his new steamer ready about August 15th. She will be licensed to carry twenty teams and four hundred passengers. The boat will make four round trips a day between Rothesay and Reed's point calling at Moss Glen and other points when necessary. This service will be appreciated by both country and city residents, as they can reach many points in a very short time that heretofore has been almost a day's journey away.

Quality Folks.

Since bacteriologists have attributed the dissemination of yellow fever in Cuba, and of the deadly malaria in Italy, to the mosquito, that creature has emerged from the general host of insects into a place of individual importance.

For other reasons than these, however, an old Cornish woman lately pronounced upon the mosquito's aristocracy. She had asked the parish priest to read to her a letter from her son in Brazil. The writer's orthography was doubtful, but the vicar did his best to read phonetically.

"I cannot tell you how the muskitties torment me. They pursue me everywhere—even down the chimney!"

The fond mother's eyes grew large with mingled pride and amazement.

"Ezekiel must be rare handsome," she then said, "for the maidens to be so after him. And I reckon the Miss Kitties is quality folks, too!"

How to Tell the Time.

People who like to bother over juggling letters and figures will find something for the exercise of their ingenuity in three conundrums resurrected by the Cleveland Leader. One of them, at least, is so old that it may fairly be considered new.

If a father gave nineteen cents to one of his sons, and six cents to the other, what time would it be?

Why a quarter to two of course.

A postmaster went to a menagerie and was eaten by one of the wild beasts, what would be the hour?

Nothing could be easier. Eight p. m.

If a guest at a restaurant ordered a lobster and ate it, and another guest did the same, what would be the second guest's telephone number?

Aburdly simple. 8-1-2.

Advantageous Terms.

"I hear that you have compromised your suit for damages against P.D. and Q. Railroad Co." "Yes." "Advantageously?" "Very." "What were the terms?" "They paid my lawyer's bill."

Just The Same.

Bobby—Mamma, if God is as good as you say he is, why doesn't he always answer our prayers? "He does Bobby, when they deserve to be answered." "Well I prayed that I might not steal any more jam out of the butler's pantry, but it didn't make any difference."

Crimes are Sensational.

Carleton is reported to have had a regular old time burglary. Crimes around have been sensational this summer, even if there was nothing in some of them.

Dyspepsia

From foreign words meaning bad cook, has come rather to signify bad stomach; for the most common cause of the disease is a predisposing want of vigor and tone in that organ.

No disease makes life more miserable. Its sufferers certainly do not live to eat; they sometimes wonder if they should eat to live.

W. A. Nugent, Belleville, Ont., was greatly troubled with it for years; and Peter R. Gaure, Eau Claire, Wis., who was so afflicted with it that he was nervous, sleepless, and actually sick most of the time, obtained no relief from medicines professionally prescribed.

They were completely cured, as others have been, by Hood's Sarsaparilla according to their own statement voluntarily made. This great medicine strengthens the stomach and the whole digestive system. Be sure to get Hood's.

He Wasn't Afraid, But—

"I protest I wasn't frightened a bit, said a suburban resident the other evening as he sat on his front porch with a few of the neighbors. "You may laugh all you want to, but you can't prove by any act I committed or any word I spoke that I was at all scared. This is how it happened:—" "I was coming home from a—from the park about 11.30 p. m., and being in a hurry to get home, I made a short cut through the cemetery. I was going along at a pretty good pace, jumping over the mounds and tombstones. I was never more well, more normal or less nervous in my life.

But suddenly, down in the hollow at one corner of the cemetery where the trees didn't admit of the moonlight, I saw something white rise up out of a grave and then disappear in the earth; immediately after I heard a dreadful groan. It was a groan I was sure; the kind of groan that is wrung from a man by great physical pain.

"I stopped stock still. I didn't move. Once more something white rose out of the grave under the tree shadows, and then sank back into the grave. Once more the groan was repeated.

I was not frightened—protested I wasn't.

But as I stood and looked and listened while the strange phenomenon was repeated, it seemed to me the best course was to retire as speedily as possible from that part of the cemetery.

"Was it a ghost? I didn't believe it was at first. But I wasn't going to set myself up as a judge and decide the case and I wasn't going to investigate. It wasn't my business, anyhow I didn't own the graveyard and I did not have any relatives buried there. So I got out."

"And you ran, too," remarked the man who lived across the street. "I saw you."

"Yes, I suppose I must have run. You see, I was anxious to tell my wife about it; such a good story."
"Well, did you find out what it was?"
"Oh, yes. It was perfectly natural, just as I expected. The sexton's white horse had fallen in a grave and broken its leg. It was trying to get out."

CATNIP FOR LIONS.

They Get it Once in a While, at Some Women's Instance but they Don't Want it. "Well, lions and tigers are cats, and I think they ought to have catnip."

Once in a while a woman interested in cats says something like this at the Park Zoo. Last Tuesday there was catnip all over the floors of the dens. Supt. Smith said it had been put there to convince one of those women interested in cats that lions didn't want catnip.

"I discovered that eight years ago," Mr. Smith went on. "I don't remember how I got the idea, but I decided to try the experiment. I bought some bricks of dried catnip at a druggist's and sprinkled the stuff in the cages of all the animals, but none of them paid the least attention to it. The following spring when we were able to get some green catnip we tried it again, but with the same result."

"Since then, from time to time, I have received letters from people, mostly women, who felt a sympathy with the poor caged beasts, and knowing the apparently delightful effect of a bunch of catnip on the ordinary family cat, suggested that the big cats might like it, too. Two years ago an elderly woman brought me a big bunch of it, and to convince her that the animals did not like the stuff I took her into the lion house and distributed her gift. The animals sniffed at it and one of the leopard's rubbed her head on it a few times, but none of them ate any of it."

"I have been corresponding with another woman on the same subject recently, and in spite of what I wrote her she sent me about fifty pounds of the stuff. It came to me this morning. When it was given to the animals the two spotted leopards rubbed their heads on it a few times, and Alice, the blind lioness, sniffed at it, but none of them ate any. The big tiger and the other cats paid no attention to it whatever."
