THINGS OF VALUE.

Nozey—I just heard you talking of your alma mater. Of what institution are you a graduate? Lushley—Keely.

A PLEASANT MEDICINE.—There are some Pills which have no other purpose evident than to get rid of internal disturbances in the patient, adding to his troubles and perplexities rather than diminishing them. One might as well swallow some corrosive material. Parrole's Vegetable Pills have not this disagreeable and injurious property. They are easy to take, are not unpleasant to the taste, and their action is mild and soothing. A trial of them will prove this. They offer peace to the dys-peptic.

I am sure you do not love me as you once did. I am sure your standard of comparisons has changed, too.

But you said you loved every inch of ground I stood upon.

Ah, my dear, you must not forget that there has been a tremendous shrinkage in local real estate values since that time.

Great Things From Little Causes Grow.—It takes very little to derange the stomach. The cause may be slight, a cold, something eaten or drunk, anxiety, worry, or some other simple cause. But if precautions be not taken, this simple cause may have most serious consequences. Many a chronically debilitated constitution today owes its destruction to simple causes not dealt with in time. Keep the digestive apparatus in healthy condition and all will be well. Parrole's Vegetable Pills are better than any other for this purpose.

When his wife met him with another woman she turned green with envy. We have never heard of a black look. The woman turned red and the man turned white. Eventually they all felt blue about it.

Pale sickly children should use Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator. Worms are one of the principal causes of suffering in children and should be expelled from the system.

'Remember this, young man,' said he 'Who through the mill had been; 'Enough grass is green as it can be; Grass widows are not green.'

Holloway's 'Cure is a specific for the removal of corns and warts. We have never heard of its failing to remove even the worst kind.

Buster—I am having awful hard luck. I am now down to my last dollar.

Dearbroke—Patav! that's nothing. Wait till you are down to the last dollar of your last friend.

You need not cough all night and disturb your friends; there is no occasion for you running the risk of contracting inflammation of the lungs or consumption, while you can get Bickel's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine cures coughs, colds, inflammation of the lungs and all throat and chest troubles. It promotes a free and easy expectoration which immediately relieves the throat and lungs from viscid phlegm.

'I would give you my seat, sir,' said the fair young girl to the pale young man who was hanging to a strap in the street car, 'but I am very tired. I have sat through a matinee performance of Rantem, the actor.'

'Never mind, madam,' said the pale man, taking a fresh grip on the strap; 'I am Rantem the actor.'

Differences of Opinion regarding the popular internal and external remedy, DR THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL—do not, so far as known, exist. The testimony is positive and concurrent that the article relieves physical pain, cures lameness, checks a cough, is an excellent remedy for pains and rheumatic complaints, and it has no nauseating or other unpleasant effect when taken internally.

Beating An Avalanche.

One of the most exciting Alpine adventures on record was Mr. Tuckett's race with an avalanche on the Eiger Glacier in 1871. He was ascending the glacier with two friends and a guide. Says Travel:

The glacier sloped somewhat steeply, and on the upper part, above the climbers, a mass of loose, freshly fallen snow had collected. Suddenly the travellers heard a thundering noise, and perceived a huge mass of snow and ice sliding down toward them. They could only try to reach the rocks at the side of the glacier, hoping to do so before the avalanche should sweep them away. Through the knee-deep snow they ran for their lives.

'I remember,' said Mr. Tuckett, 'being struck with the idea that it seemed as if the avalanche were sure of its prey, and wished to play with us for a while. At one moment it let us imagine that we had gained on it; and the next, with mere wantonness of vindictive power, it suddenly rolled out a vast volume of grinding blocks and whirling snow, as if to show us that it could outflank us any moment it chose.

'Nearer and nearer it came, its front a mighty wave about to break. It aimed straight at us, swift, deadly, implacable. The next instant we saw no more. A wild confusion of whirling snow and fragments of ice, a frozen cloud, swept over us, entirely concealing us from one another. But still we were untouched, and still we ran.

'Another half second, and the mist parted. There lay the body of the monster, whose head was still careering away at lightning speed far below us, motionless, rigid, harmless.'

'Would you please give me $2 to get some bread for my hungry family?' said the beggar to the man passing.

'Why, $2 would buy a whole lot of bread, my man!'

'Yes, I know it; and I need a whole lot sir. You see, the turkey has to be stuffed my wife must have bread puddin', and three of the children are always crying for milk toast, sir.'

PUBLIC OPINION is strong in favor of Pain-Killer. For over sixty years the foremost household remedy for cuts, bruises, and all bowel complaints. Avoid substitutes, there is but one Pain-Killer, Perry Davis. 25c. and 50c.

MURDER AT A MURDER TRIAL.

Prisoner Stabbed By A Brother Of His Victim In Court At Naples.

A sensational trial which throws an interesting light upon the Neapolitan character, has just come to a sensational conclusion at Naples. A singularly bland and mild looking young man named Simeoli was indicted at the Criminal Assize for the murder of one Ricci. The court was from the first predisposed in the prisoners favor, for he made a good impression in the dock. Moreover, nearly all the witnesses called gave evidence distinctly in his favor.

Hope shone from Simeoli's eyes, and as he was leaving the court during the luncheon interval on the last day of the trial he cast upon the prosecution a smile, just one little smile, of gentle triumph. He never smiled again, for at that moment two young women, sisters of the murdered man, threw themselves upon Simeoli and punched and clawed his face with unladylike vigor. Several gendarmes went to the prisoner's assistance and rescued him in a very bedraggled condition. But Simeoli had only escaped from the frying pan into the fire. A young brother of Ricci broke through the gendarmes and drove a dagger right into Simeoli's heart, killing him instantly.

Afterward it was discovered that Simeoli was a murderer and a leading member of a secret band of criminals who have for years past terrorized the vicinity of Naples and even the city itself by frequent highway robberies, burglaries and assassinations. All his witnesses were proved to be members of the same society and perjurers.

He ran a mile,

and so would many a young lady, rather than take a bath without the "Albert"

Baby's Own Soap.

It leaves the skin wonderfully soft and fresh, and its faint fragrance is extremely pleasing.
