The wedding was celebrated in the drawing room which was specially arranged for the occasion. In the centre of the room a large floral bell was suspended, while the room about was banked with palms and plants. An arch was erected over the staircase just inside the main entrance. The decorations were all done by the young lady friends of the bride. The marriage took place at 2.30 o'clock, when the bride entered the room leaning on the arm of her father, and walked between ribbons held by six young ladies to her place beneath the bell, where the parties were pronounced man and wife by Rev. Dr Lathern, assisted by Rev Mr Moore, father of the groom. The bride was beautifully attired in white organdie, veil and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. Miss Mary Smith, daughter of Ex Mayor Smith, of Windsor, was bridesmaid. Dr McKenzie of Mount Hope was groomsmen. The couple were the recipients of a large list of rare and costly presents. The groom's present to the bride was a pearl and opal pendant pin, which she wore at the wedding. The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a crescent pearl pin. Among the gifts received was a handsome cabinet presented by the teachers of the Sunday school, in which Miss Beck was organist. Dr and Mrs Moore left by the 5.30 train on a bridal tour through the maritime provinces, visiting P E Island, Fredericton and Bras D'Or Lakes. The Secret

Of womanly health would be esteemed as priceless by thousands of suffering women. Each month sees them moaning in a darkened room. At the best they endure pain every day. At the worst the pain becomes torment. The secret of womanly health is in keeping the womanly organism in a perfectly healthy state. This can be done by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It regulates the periods, dries debilitating drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Women suffering from chronic forms of disease are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as sacredly confidential and womanly confidences are guarded by strict professional privacy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. Accept no substitute for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. There is nothing else "just as good" for womanly ailments. "I suffered for more than ten years with female weakness of very bad form," writes Mrs. D. Marwood, of Treherne, Macdonald Co., Manitoba. "I used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery' with good results. I am able to do all my own work now. I do not know how to thank you enough for the kind advice you have sent me by letter. Your remedies did for me more than all other doctor's medicines, and I have taken lots of them." Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure biliousness.

Mrs McKinney and children of Calais are visiting Mrs James O'Brien. Miss Mabel Sealey's friends are glad to hear of her safe arrival in Canyon City, Colo. MAX.

Stories of the Bar. An able Southern lawyer, still living has a good story about his examination by Revery Johnson, one of the greatest lawyers of the last century, says the Philadelphia 'Times'. Mr. Johnson knew the young man, but, apparently, he did not allow his familiarity to influence the case. He asked him one or two questions as easy as the alphabet or the multiplication table, and then very severely demanded: 'Young man, can you mix a good brandy julep?' 'I think I can, sir,' was the reply. 'There,' pointing to the sideboard are the ingredients, sir. Now, let me see what you can do.' The candidate approached and used his finest touch and sense of selection in compounding the tonic. Then topping it off artistically with a fresh mint, he presented it to his examiner. Mr Johnson gave the case his best care and patience, and finally, when the bottom of the generous glass had been reached, he looked at the young man admiringly and announced that he had passed. Another story is told of a judicial district in Florida where before the era of railroads and owing to the numerous creeks and rivers, there had to be frequent fording of streams in order to make good time between the country towns. The candidate presented himself before the judge, who, after looking at the young man a few moments and taking in his measure, asked: 'Can you ride?' 'Yes, sir.' 'Do you own a horse?' 'Yes, sir.' 'Can he swim?' 'Yes sir.' Whereupon the judge bowed gravely and remarked: 'I am very glad, sir, to welcome you to the practice of law in my district.'

What She Said. It wasn't a smoking compartment, but they were using it for that purpose all the same, and she was too modest to object. By and by the two men got into a discussion over the women question, and at last one of them, a unregenerate bachelor, appealed to the lady thus: 'Do you think there will be men in heaven, miss?' She blushed. 'No she said. They will want to go somewhere where they can smoke.' The discussion stopped; so did the smoking.

Tentative Interment. A poor Scotch woman lay dying and her husband sat by her bedside. After a time the wife took her husband's hand and said: 'John, we're govin' to pr-t. I have been a gude wife to you, haven't I?' John thought a moment. 'Well, just middling like, Jenny, you know, anxious not to say too much. Again the wife spoke. 'John, she said taintly, ye maun promise to bury me in the auld kirkyard at Str'aven beside my mither. I could na rest in peace among unco' folk in the dirt and smoke o' Glasgow.' 'Weel, weel, Jenny, my woman, said John soothingly, we will just try ye in Glasgie first, and gin ye dinna be quiet we will try ye in Str'aven.

Wealth's Millstones. 'Spring has come,' mused Mr. Gotrickwick, as he stood before the window with his hands thrust deep into his pockets. 'Aw, now, how kind you tell, pap?' gurgled his diamond-bedecked daughter. 'Because—,' said the father, as he clicked the coins in his pocket, 'because the snow has went.' Smith—Did you ever see a woman trying to pull a cork out of a bottle, colonel? Col. Drinker—No, sub, and no gentleman will stand idly by and see a lady struggling to take a cork out of a bottle. It takes her too long, sub.
