Opened His Eyes.

On a recent trip in France, Jean de Rezke was forced to wait at a little railroad junction town for his train. He was not in the best of humor and was therefore not particularly pleased when the old station master recognized him as the great artist and opened up a conversation. 'Good evening Mr de Rezke,' he began in a confidential tone. 'I recognized you from the pictures in the papers.' 'Indeed!' grumbled the singer. 'Yes,' continued the old man, 'and I thought I would ask you if it was true that you earned such piles of money. Perhaps you earn twice as much as I do.' 'How much do you earn?' asked De Rezke. 'Eighteen francs a week, all the year round,' replied the old man. De Rezke swelled out his chest and sang 'Do, re, mi, fa, sol, la, si, do,' letting out the high C with the usual vigor. Then turning to the agent who had been listening intently he said: 'There my friend, are your whole year's wages.'

THINGS OF VALUE.

'Have you ever been perfectly happy?' 'Yes but I never knew it at the time.'

There never was, and never will be, a universal panacea, in one remedy for all ills to which flesh is heir—the very nature of many curatives being such that were the germs of other and differently seated diseases rooted in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill, in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when obtained in a sound unadulterated state, a remedy for many and grievous ills. By its gradual and judicious use, the frailties of the system are led into convalescence and strength, by the influence which Quinine exerts on Nature's own restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state of morbid dependency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and, by tranquilizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep—imparts vigor to the action of the blood, which, being stimulated, courses throughout the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system, thereby making activity a necessary result, strengthening the frame, and giving life to the digestive organs, which naturally demand increased substance—resulting in improved appetite, Northrop & Lyman of Toronto have given to the public their superior Quinine Wine at the usual rate and gauged by the opinion of scientists this wine approaches nearest perfection of any in the market. All druggists sell it.

'What do you do?' asked the one who had been married only a few months, 'when your husband came home late at night?' 'I pretend not to notice that he isn't on time, and pretty soon he asks me if I would like to go to the roof garden on somewhere to-morrow afternoon.'

THEY DROVE PIMPLES AWAY.—A face covered with pimples is unsightly. It tells of internal irregularities which should long since have been corrected. The liver and the kidneys are not performing their functions in the healthy manner they should, and these pimples are to let you know that the blood protests. Farmelee's Vegetable Pills will drive them all away and will leave the skin clear and clean. Try them, and there will be another witness to their excellence.

'Have you got any condensed milk asked the man at the gate.' 'No sir,' replied the driver of the wagon, imperterbably. 'Nothing but the expanded kind.'

FOR INFLAMMATION OF THE EYES.—Among the many good qualities which Farmelee's Vegetable Pills possess, beside regulating the digestive organs, is their efficacy in reducing inflammation of the eyes. It has called forth many letters of recommendation from those who were afflicted with this complaint and found a cure in the pills. They affect the nerve centres and the blood in a surprisingly active way, and the result is almost immediately seen.

Clara.—It seems so strange to be in love. Mand.—Why haven't you ever experienced that feeling? Oh, yes but not for several weeks.'

There is not a more dangerous class of disorders than those which affect the breathing organs. Nullify this danger with Dr. THOMAS' EMULSION OIL—a pulmonary acknowledged efficacy. It cures lameness and soreness when applied externally, as well as swelled neck and crick in the back and, as an inward specific, possess most substantial claims to public confidence.

Oom Paul in Exile.

From Dr. Heymans I gathered some curious details of the daily habits and regime of the president. At 8 in the evening the old man goes to bed; at 1 in the morning he is awakened by his valet, puts on his dressing gown and walks about the room till 2 o'clock, smoking his pipe in meditation. At 2 o'clock he goes to bed again, to be called once more at 5. From 5 to 6 he reads his Bible or meditates. At 6 they bring him his morning coffee and rolls. He remains up only till 8.30 when he turns in again to sleep or rest. In one hour's time he is up for the day. His first work is to look over the correspondence after careful sitting by the 'cabinet.' Then when all business has been discussed and settled, he takes a walk round the garden and sits in the summer house till the mid day dinner. After dinner he takes a siesta. About 3 o'clock he usually goes for a long drive, returning home for supper at 6. All through the day he has had frequent recourse to the Bible—practically his only reading—and it is known that a great deal of his time is spent in private prayer.

THE HACKING COUGH.

One of the meanest things to get rid of is a hacking cough. There is apparently no cause for it. No soreness, no irritation at first; but the involuntary effort of the muscles of the throat to get rid of something is almost constant. Of course, with many coughs is a habit, but it is a bad habit, and should be stopped. When you realize this and try to stop it, you find you can't, for by that time there is an actual irritation, which will never get better without treatment.

It is a curious thing that nearly all treatment for cough actually makes the cough worse. Then, too most medicines for cough have a bad effect in the stomach. This is especially true of so-called cough remedies that contain a narcotic. The true treatment for cough is one that heals the irritated surfaces. This is what Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam does. It protects the throat also while the healing process is going on. When this remedy was first compounded our old men were young boys, and all this time it has been doing a steady work of healing throats. The most obstinate hacking cough will quickly show the effect of the balsam. People who have been trying for years to break up the mean little cough, will find a sure friend in this old time soothing compound made from the barks and gums of trees. All druggists sell Adamson's Botanic Balsam. 25c.

'John,' she said insinuatingly, 'I need some money to-day. My bathing suit has shrunk till it's really a joke.' 'And not much a joke at that,' was all the comfort John had for her.
