WOLFVILLE.

JUNE 12.—Wolfville has now settled down to her usual summer quiet. The academies have closed for a long vacation and the students, with a few exceptions, have departed for their homes. The closing exercises were witnessed by the friends and relatives of the pupils, some coming from quite a distance to be present at the interesting ceremonies. Many former graduates were noticed among the spectators. Mrs (Dr.) McKelkie of Vancouver, B. C. a graduate of Acadia, is here to spend the summer with her sister Mrs W T Stackhouse.

THINGS OF VALUE.

Mr Chilly—I should think you would raise mushrooms; they are very expensive. Mr Isolate (of Lonelyville, mournfully)—Everything is expensive by the time I have raised it. There never was, and never will be, a universal panacea, in one remedy for all ills to which flesh is heir—the very nature of many curatives being such that were the germs of other and differently seated diseases rooted in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill, in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when obtainable in a sound undiluted state, a remedy for many and grievous ills. By its gradual and judicious use, the frailtest systems are led into constancy and strength, by the influence which Quinine exerts on Nature's own restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state of morbid despondency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and, by tranquillizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep—imparts vigor to the action of the blood, which, being stimulated, courses throughout the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system, thereby making activity a necessary result, strengthening the frame, and giving life to the digestive organs, which naturally demand increased substance—result, improved appetite, nourishment & Lyman of Toronto have given to the public their superior Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and gauged by the opinion of scientists this wine approaches nearest perfection of any in the market. All druggists sell it. When the Union troops were passing through Missouri in pursuit of Gen. Price, a crowd of negroes came out of some cabins to look at the soldiers, one of whom asked—"Boys, are you all for the union." "Oh, yes, massa; when you uns is about we is." "And when Price comes you're all secesh, aren't you?" "Lor, yes, massa; we's all good secesh then. Can't 'low de white folks to get ahead ob niggers in dat way, massa."

It is a Liver Pill.—Many of the ailments that man has to contend with have their origin in a disordered liver, which is a delicate organ, peculiarly susceptible to the disturbances that come from irregular habits or lack of care in eating and drinking. This accounts for the great many liver regulators now pressed on the attention of sufferers. Of these there is none superior to Parnee's Vegetable Pills. Their operation though gentle is effective, and the most delicate can use them.

Towne—Henpeck tells me that his wife actually pulls his hair when she gets mad. Brown—Why doesn't he keep his hair cut short? Towne—I asked him that and he says his wife won't let him.

Tested by Time.—In his justly-celebrated Pills Dr. Parnee has given to the world one of the most unique medicines offered to the public in late years. Prepared to meet the want for a pill which could be taken without nausea, and that would purge without pain, it has met all requirements in that direction, and it is in general use not only because of the two qualities, but because it is known to possess alternative and curative powers which place it in the front rank of medicines.

Guest—Why do you print your bill of fare in French? Fashionable Restaurateur—Because my patrons like to think that I think they can read it.

Unequelled.—Mr. Thom. Brunt, Tyendinaga, Ont., writes—"I have to thank you for recommending Dr. Thomas' ELECTRIC OIL for bleeding piles. I was troubled with them for nearly fifteen years, and tried almost everything I could hear or think of. Some of them would give me temporary relief, but none would effect a cure. I have now been free from the distressing complaint for nearly eighteen months. I hope you will continue to recommend it."

Jones—Some of the spring hats look like strawberry short-cakes. Smith—My daughter has got one that is the living image of an open top rhenubarb pie.

There are cases of consumption so far advanced Bickie's Anti-Consumptive Syrup will not cure, but none so bad that it will not give relief. For coughs and colds and all affections of the throat, lungs and chest, it is a specific which has never been known to fail. It promotes a free and easy excretion thereby removing the phlegm, and gives the diseased parts a chance to heal.

"Isn't that English girl sweet? She has such a charming way of dropping her h's." "Yes, and such a bewitching way of letting her eyes fall, too."

The Rabbit Fired the Gun.

"Brer Rabbit has been outdone in real life, and a West Virginia rabbit family has a hero. The incident occurred in this wise, according to the Chicago Tribune:

Peter Frees and his son Louis went out rabbit-hunting in the woods near Parkersburg, West Virginia. Their dog soon chased a cottontail into a pile of brush, and Louis rushed up to get him out. He put his gun on the ground, and taking up a long pole, began to punch in the brush-pile to dislodge the rabbit.

Finally bunny run out in an unexpected place, straight over the gun, which was cocked. His hind foot struck the trigger, sending the charge of shot into Louis' leg, and some of it into the dog. The boy yelled, the dog howled, and in the midst of the excitement bunny got away.

Forgot and Kissed the Queen.

Courtly old Richard Vaux of Philadelphia, could boast that he had danced with Queen Victoria, but there was a young American girl who went even further, for she kissed the queen. And it was not much of a day for kissing queens, at that, as the Anglo American tells the incident.

She was an American debutante, young and pretty, and in her confusion in making the courtesy, she committed the frightful solecism of kissing her majesty. Instantly recognising the enormity of her offence, the poor girl nearly fainted. She hurried home in the most distressed state of mind. The American minister was immediately summoned, and was asked by her parents to present her abject apologies through the proper channels.

Simultaneously the minister received a note from her majesty's secretary, saying that Victoria recognized the young girl's embarrassment and sent her an invitation to a state dinner. Of course this not only satisfied all adverse criticism, but opened at once to the young woman every door of fashionable London.

In the Play.

In the play Mrs. Nation is represented as being exceedingly apt with bon mots.

For example: "Why, your hatchet is only tin!" exclaims a character adroitly introduced for the purpose.

"Yes, it's what some people might call a ho-ax!" retorted the great reformer, with an explosive laugh.

And with epigrams only less brilliant than this, the dialogue fairly bristles.

"Lucy, where's that other tall beau you used to have?"

"Laws, Miss Nancy, don't went back on dat man; he didn't have no taste at all—dat man wo' silver shirt-studs when he had a gold front toof."

Mrs Browne—I've just been to see Mrs Swellman's new place. She has stained glass all through the house.

Mrs Parvenu—The idea—Her servants are too lazy to remove the stains, eh?
