

KENTVILLE.

JUNE 20.—On Wednesday afternoon last the residence of Mr Rains Redden of Kentville was filled with young guests to witness the marriage of his youngest daughter Miss Jessie Blanche to Mr P Mosely of Dartmouth. The ceremony was performed by the Rev Charles DuWolfe White, rector of St James church.

The bride was very charming, robed in white fall silk with point lace trimmings and heavy white satin girdle. Her veil was surmounted with a coronet of orange blossoms and her bouquet a sheaf of roses and carnations.

Miss Ethel Mosely, niece of the groom was bridesmaid, and looked very lovely in a white muslin gown with lace trimmings and large picture hat. Mr Chalmers Redden was best man.

Immediately after the ceremony refreshments were served and after the bride had donned a blue serge travelling suit and grey toreador hat with chiffon trimmings the happy pair left amid the hearty good wishes of many friends for their future home in Dartmouth.

WHY CROUP IS FATAL.

When croup attacks your child you must be ready for it. It comes as an accompaniment to an ordinary cough, or it may attack without warning. All ills of children develop quickly, and when any kind of cough appears there should be something at hand to stop it with promptness. Many a child has choked to death with croup because the right remedy was not convenient. Every one should know that the right safeguard for a child's cough or any cough is Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam. With this soothing compound in the house, croup is always easily checked and relieved.

To give a child a "cough mixture" containing a narcotic is a very serious matter yet most preparations contain something of this kind. Adamson's Botanic Balsam is prepared from the purest extract of barks and roots and gums of trees, and is health-giving in every component part of it. Wherever it touches an inflamed surface, it heals and soothes it. Nothing ever compounded for cough is so harmless and nothing so efficacious. Adamson's Balsam is an old remedy and it has never lost a friend through failure to help. Keep it in the house. Try it on your own cough and do your child's good turn by being ready for any emergency. Price 25c. at any druggist's.

drawers a faded sheet of note paper containing some verses addressed to 'Carrie,' signed with his own name, and written in a much better hand than the business chirography of his later years. He read them through and called to his wife.

'Carrie,' he said, 'did I ever write those verses and send them to you?'

'You certainly did.'

'What a callow idiot I must have been to think it was poetry! Didn't it strike you as the worst drivel you ever saw?'

'On the contrary, I thought it was sublime. I suppose,' she said, with a tender smile, 'I was as callow an idiot then, James, as you were—and I don't think either of us has got entirely over it.'

THINGS OF VALUE.

'Have you ever been perfectly happy?'

'Yes but I never knew it at the time.'

There never was, and never will be, a universal panacea, in one remedy for all ills to which flesh is heir—the very nature of many curatives being such that were the germs of other and differently seated diseases rooted in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill, in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when obtainable in a sound unadulterated state, a remedy for many and grievous ills. By its gradual and judicious use, the frailtest systems are led into convalescence and strength, by the influence which Quinine exerts on Nature's own restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state of morbid despondency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and, by tranquilizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep—imparts vigor to the action of the blood, which, being stimulated, courses throughout the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system, thereby making activity a necessary result, strengthening the frame, and giving life to the digestive organs, which naturally demand increased substance—result, improved appetite, Northrop & Lyman of Toronto have given to the public their superior Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and gauged by the opinion of scientists this wine approaches nearest perfection of any in the market. All druggists sell it.

Joker—It is unfortunate that Capt. Lozset never smiles from ear to ear.

Bibley—One of his ears is in the Philippines.

Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup stands at the head of the list of diseases of the throat and lungs. It acts like magic in breaking up a cold. A cough is soon subdued, tightness of the chest is relieved, even the worst case of consumption is relieved, while in recent cases it never fails to fall. It is a medicine prepared from the active principles or virtues of several medicinal herbs, and can be depended upon for all pulmonary complaints.

Kind Lady—It must be hard to get along without working?

Tramp—Indeed it is, ma'am; yer have no idea how strong de temptation ter go to work is, sometimes.

A Short Road to health was opened to those suffering from chronic coughs, asthma, bronchitis, catarrh, lumbago, tumors, rheumatism, excoriated nipples or inflamed breast, and kidney complaints, by the introduction of the inexpensive and effective remedy, Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil.

'Clara, that is a hideous vase.'

'Yes, it is; it was one of our bridal presents—but we never have any luck getting ugly things broken when we move.'

TO THOSE OF SEDENTARY OCCUPATION.—Men who follow sedentary occupations, which deprive them of fresh air and exercise, are more prone to disorders of the liver and kidney than those who lead active, outdoor lives. The former will find in Parmelee's Vegetable Pills a restorative without question the most efficacious on the market. They are easily procurable, easy taken, act expeditiously, and they are surprising cheap considering their excellence.

'That's what I call downright funny.'

'What's that?'

'Elbert Hubbard says Kipling 'is loud and blatant.'

A SURE CURE OF HEADACHE.—Bilious headache to which women are more subject than men, becomes so acute in some respects that they are utterly prostrated. The stomach refuses food, and there is a constant and distressing effort to free the stomach from bile which has become unduly secreted there. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are a speedy alternative, and in neutralizing the effects of the intruding bile relieve the pressure on the nerves which cause the headache. Try them.

'Kindly reduce the kicking power of the largest piece of ordnance to horse power, Mr. Glasgow.'

'I've figured it out in mule power, professor. Isn't that more appropriate?'

A Pair of Them.

In a general way the experience of Mr. Brownsmith, herewith narrated, was not different from that of other persons who had grown older and, mayhap, although that is not so certain,—wiser.

He was looking through a long-unused cabinet, when he found in one of the
