BOSTON, SEPT. 23.

It appears probable that the fort which our government had began to erect on Lake Champlain, falls within the British lines. This is to be regretted, but if it fairly belongs to them by the treaty, let them have it. If we lose Rouse's Point, it is said we shall receive a compensation in the district of Maine. Our Northeastern boundary it is said will be many miles further north than has heretofore been supposed. It will extend so far as completely to cut off the communication between the Provinces, and will embrace within our limits a considerable French settlement, which has formerly been under the jurisdiction of Canada.

Extract of a Letter from Rio Janeiro, July 19.

"In Buenos Ayres there is much alarm in consequence of the Cadiz expedition. It is said to be the determination of this Government to deny the Spaniards the hospitality of their ports—and to maintain possession of Monte Video. Troops are expected out from Lisbon, I suppose, to enforce this determination.

LATEST FROM ENGLAND.

The ship Mary and Susan, Capt. Curtis, has arrived at this place, with London papers to the 23d, and Liverpool to the 25th ult. Excepting on the subject of the Manchester riots, their contents are uninteresting but on this fruitful theme of political speculation, they are literally overburthened; and present as many aspects of the present and anticipations of the futre peace and safety of the country, as there are hues in the rainbow. On one side, the meeting of the populace, though multifarious, is described as in the highest degree orderly, and decorous, and the attack upon them to have been wanton and unnecessary. The people received the different military corps with cheering, until their sabres informed them, that their visit was hostile. On the other hand the marching in regiments under regular leaders, the numerous banners with their inscriptions, the call of several persons to the people to lock their arms fast together round the hustings—and other circumstances indicated any thing but a peaceable meeting. And the riot act having, according to the ministerial papers, been twice read,—the magistrates consulted together, and issued a warrant to arrest Hunt. The officers and cavalry who were appointed to execute it, were assailed by heavy vollies of stones and shouts, and they did not use their sabres, until compelled to do it for self defence. Not a single shot was fired by the military.—There were 100,000 persons within view.

On Tuesday evening a large and riotous mob assembled in Oldham, and the riot act was read to them—but they were dispersed by the military. On Wednesday, not the least disturbance took place in Manchester or Salford. Cheerfulness and confidence appeared to be restored; but a notice was issued to the inhabitants by the magistrates requesting them not to be out of their own houses after nine o'clock at night. There is a list of thirty persons very much hurt, who were lodged in the infirmary, of whom two had died, and forty out patients who were dressed there. The thanks of the magistrates of Manchester, to Col. L'Estrage, and the officers and men under his command, have been given, for the energy and humanity they displayed in their conduct. The same vote was passed in favor of Major Trafford of the Lancaster and Salford Yeomanry Cavalry, for their exemplary conduct, and to numerous other persons. But the public mind is still in a violent state of agitation.

Hunt, Johnson, Saxton, Night, Morehouse, Wild, Jones, and several women, were brought before ten magistrate on Friday afternoon, and all of them detained in custody, upon charges of HIGH TREASON. They generally bowed and retired. Hunt said he was innocent of the charge and was willing to meet it.

"CAUTION.—The Inhabitants of Manchester and Salford are requested not to be out of their own houses after nine at night, during the present disturbed state of these towns."

On Thursday, 19th, the town of Manchester was quiet; but not so in the neighbourhood, for large parties were assmbled at Middleton, Royton, all the adjacent parts, committing the most outrageous depredations on every well dressed individual that passed them. A person who came from Middleton this morning states, that there were at least three thousand assembled there; a portion of the Cheshire Cavalry have been sent to disperse them.

On Friday, 20th, though no acts of violence were committed, the poplulation, both in Manchester, and its neighbourhood, were found to be deeply incensed against the magistrates for their conduct in the affair of Monday, the 16th. From this silent, though dangerous agitation of the mind, fears were apprehended of a serious rebellion. The utmost vigilance of the civil and military authority was in constant exercise to check the assembling of any large masses of the people.

The following, among other regulations, adopted in Manchester, must have a salutary tendency in preserving the public peace.

"The Watch and Ward Act is now put into full operation. This will be a great security to every one. Its powers are very summary, especially against night-walkers and skulkers.—The unlawful training of men in the neighbourhood to the use of arms
