POETRY.

FROM CAMPBELL'S "PLEASURES OF HOPE."

Unfading hope! when life's last embers burn,
When soul to soul and dust to dust return,
Heaven to thy charge resigns the awful hour,
Ah! then thy kingdom comes, immortal power!
What tho' each spark of earth-born rapture fly
The quivering lip, pale cheek and closing eye!
Bright to the soul thy seraph bands convey
The morning dream of life's eternal day:
Then, then the triumph and the trance begin,
And all the Phœnix spirit burns within!

* * * * *

Eternal Hope! when yonder spheres sublime
Peal their first notes to sound the march of time,
The joyous youth began---but not to fade,
When all the sister planets have decayed,
When the last flames of livid ether glow,
And heaven's last thunders shakes the world below,
Thou undismayed shall o'er the ruin smile,
And light thy torch at nature's funeral pile.

(From the Lancaster Journal.)---THE SIGHTS I HAVE SEEN.---The following condensed chronology of events may be taken as a nut shell argument in proof of an affirmation, which, though few might dispute, is still open to controversy by the captious sophist. We owe it to the pen of the Reverend Mr. Dutens, a gentleman well known as a literary and diplomatic character. It is taken from a sketch lately published called, "The Sights I have seen;" and contains a more compressed view of the leading events of modern times than we have seen.---As such, we offer it to our readers:---

"I have seen a king imprisoned by his son---5 emperors massacred---5 kings assassinated---6 kings deposed---5 republics annihilated---and a great kingdom effaced from the map of Europe. I have seen England lose in eight years half North America, after possessing it for more than a century. I have seen her verifying the sentiment of an ancient, (that the empire of the seas gives that of the land) take the Cape of Good Hope and the Island of Ceylon from the Dutch; Malta, Egypt, and several colonies from the French. I have seen her dictate the laws to the king of Denmark, at Copenhagen, and carry her victorious arms into the most remote parts of the world. I have seen this same England, in 1780, resist the combined efforts of Europe, of America, and the northern powers who formed an armed neutrality against her maritime dominion. I have seen her in the revolutionary war, often destitute of allies, and alone opposing the enormous power of France, of Italy, of Denmark and of Russia. I have seen the son of an Englishman, go out to India, as a writer to a mercantile company; but quitting the service when very young, to embrace the military life, afterwards rising to the head of the army, dethrone a most powerful prince in the east, place another on his throne, conquer a part of Hindostan, and raise the British dominion in that quarter to the pre-eminence which it now enjoys.

I have seen what has no example in history, a little Corsican gentleman conquer Italy---force the Emperor of Germany to make a disgraceful peace---take Malta in two days---Egypt in a month---return from thence, and place himself on the throne of the Bourbons---and all in less than four years, from May, 1796, to November 1799. I have seen him transport his army and artillery in the most difficult pass of the Alps and in a single battle, decide at once the fate of Germany and Italy. I have seen this same Corsican gentleman order the Pope to Paris, in 1804, to crown him Emperor of the French, and afterwards depose the same Pope, and deprive him of the temporal possessions which his predecessors had enjoyed for more than a thousand years.

I have seen him declare himself king of Italy---I have seen him braving a formidable league which was directed against him, marched to Vienna and even into Hungary, in six weeks; give the law three times to the Emperor of Germany, compel him to abdicate the imperial crown of the Cæsars; deprive him of a part of his dominions; forced the Emperor of Russia twice to retire; and soon after oblige him to march to his assistance against the Emperor of Austria.---I have seen him destroy the power of the King of Prussia, in fifteen days and strike all Europe with dismay. I have seen him dethrone five kings, and create eight others; annex Holland to France; dictate to Spain as if it were one of his provinces; employ her forces as his own, and at last take possession of the whole kingdom.---I have seen him pronounce a divorce between himself and his own wife, whom he had previously, at his own coronation, declared to be Empress of France and the partner of his throne. In short, I have seen him extend his dominions further than those of Charlemagne, and find nothing to resist his ambition, but the King of Great Britain, sometimes with the troops of the continent in his pay."

Such are some of the strange sights which Mr. Dutens has seen, and the most striking of which those who are much younger than he is, have beheld with equal consternation and surprise.
