LONDON, JULY 19.

The Coronation.

The festivities of the day commenced at 1 o'clock this morning with the ringing of bells and firing of an animated scene. Continuous lines of carriages were seen advancing in perfect order along the pre-an immense multitude in holiday attire, eagerly hastening to take possession of the places engaged, or to secure positions which might command a glance of the splendid pageant.

proached the temporary landing place in the Speaker's garden in the city's barges, early in the morning. Besides the Lord Mayor, Sheriffs, and Alder-

Knight Marshal and his two officers, in their proper habits.

In Westminster Hall, at the Lower end—his Majesty's Band.

Without the north door of Westminster Hall—All who are to precede the Knight Marshal in the procession.

His Majesty having entered his Chamber near the south entrance into Westminster Hall—

The Peers were called over in the House of Lords by Deputy Garter; and proceeded to the Hall, where the other persons appointed to walk in the procession had been previously marshalled on the right and left by the Officers of Arms; leaving an open passage in the middle, so that the procession, with the regalia, might pass uninterruptedly up the Hall.

His Majesty, preceded by the great Officers of State, went then into the Hall, and took his seat in the chair of state at the table, when a gun was fired.
The Deputy Lord Great Chamberlain, the Lord High Constable, and the Deputy Earl Marshal, ascended the steps, and placed themselves at the outer side of the table.

The Lord High Steward, the Great Officers, Deputy Garter, and Black Rod, arranged themselves near the Chair of State; the Royal trainbearers on each side of the Throne.

The Lord Chamberlain, assisted by officers of the Jewel-office, then brought the sword of state to the Lord High Constable, who delivered it to the Deputy Lord Great Chamberlain, by whom it was laid on the table; then Curtana, or the sword of mercy, with the two swords of justice, having been in the like manner presented, were drawn from their scabbards by the Deputy Lord Great Chamberlain, and laid on the table before his Majesty; after which the gold spurs were delivered, and also placed on the table. Immediately after, a procession, consisting of the Dean and Prebendaries of Westminster in their surplices and rich robes, proceeded up the Hall, from the lower end thereof, in the manner following:

Procession with, and delivery of the Regalia.

Children of the King's chapel, in scarlet mantles, four abreast.

Children of the choir of Westminster in surplices,
four abreast.

Gentlemen of the King's chapel, in scarlet mantles,
four abreast.

Choir of Westminster, in surplices, four abreast.

Sub Dean of the Chapel Royal.

Two Pursuivants at Arms.

Two Heralds.

The two Provincial Kings of Arms.

The Dean of Westminster, carrying St. Edward's crown on a cushion of cloth of gold.

First Prebendary of Westminster, carrying the orb.

Third Prebendary, carrying the sceptre with the cross.

Fourth Prebendary, carrying St. Edward's Staff.

Fifth Prebendary, carrying the chalice and patene.

Sixth Prebendary, carrying the Bible.

In this procession they made their reverences, first at the lower end of the Hall, second about the middle where both the Choir opening to the right and left formed a passage, through which the Officers of Arms passing opened likewise on each side, the Seniors placing themselves nearest towards the steps: then the Dean and Prebendaries having come to the front of the steps, made their third reverence. This being done, the Dean and Prebendaries being come to the foot of the steps, Deputy Garter preceding them (he having waited their coming there) ascended the steps, and approaching near the table before the King, made their last reverence.
The Dean then presented the Crown to the Lord High Constable, who delivered it to the Deputy Lord Great Chamberlain, and by him it was placed on the table before the King. The rest of the regalia was severally delivered by each Prebendary, on the knee, to the Dean by him to the Lord High Constable, by him to the Deputy Lord Great Chamberlain, and by him laid on the table. The regalia being thus delivered, the Prebendaries and Dean returned to the middle of the Hall. His Majesty having commanded Deputy Garter to summon the Noblemen and Bishops who bore the regalia, the Deputy Lord Great Chamberlain, then taking up the several Swords, Sceptres, the Orb, and Crown, placed them in the hands of those by whom they were carried.

First, St. Edward's Staff, by the Marquis of Salisbury.
