A SHORT STORY.

As told by Mr. Matthews, the Comedian.
"My friend and myself, when in Devonshire, were visiting an acquaintance, who had a daughter not remarkable either for her wit, beauty, or accomplishments. She had passed the grand climacteric, and was certainly on the wane; but her heart has lost none of its susceptibility to la grand passion. She had for ten years been conspicuous for her dress, airs, and "beau-tachers;" but alas! she had toiled all night at balls, routs, and levees, but had caught no beau. Being as vain as she was simple, we thought her fair game for a quiz. Miss Lucretia Elvira, said I, have you heard of the late act of parliament, by which all ladies with small mouths shall be allowed to marry two husbands? "No, Sir, said she, (SCREWING UP HER MOUTH INTO A PUCKER)—what a curis law!" You are wrong, Edward, said my friend to me; those ladies with large mouths are to be allowed two husbands. "LAW ME!" exclaimed she, (opening her mouth as big as a bucket,) what a curious law!"

Drawing Inferences.—Two clerical gentlemen of Scotland having called on a reverend brother in the country at rather an early hour in the morning, found the minister in bed; so were ushered into the garden to look about them till his reverence could get himself in a condition to receive them. Finding John, the minister's man busy at work, one of them entered into a familiar conversation with this "lesser prop of the church," and amongst other things inquired, "Well, John, how lang ha' ye been wi' the minister?" "Indeed," quoth John, "I ha' been twa score years, Sir!" "Aye! twa score years, then ye'll be able to preach yourself by this time, John?" "Na, na," replied honest John, "I canna preach, but I dinna think but I could draw a few inferences." "Well, John," continued his interrogator, "what inferences would ye draw frae that portion of scripture, which says, 'the ass snuffeth up the east wind?' " "If I were to draw any," replied the minister's man, shaking his hand slowly and significantly, "it would be, that he would snuff lang at it ere he would get fat on't."

Receipt for a Fashionable Rout.—Take all the ladies and gentlemen you can get, place them in a room with slow fire, stir them well; have ready a Piano forte, a harp, a handful of books, or prints, put them in from time to time; when the mixture begins to settle, sweeten with politeness and wit, if you have it; if not, flattery will do as well, and is very cheap. When all have stewed together for two or three hours, put in one or two turkeys, some tongues, sliced beef or ham, tarts, cakes, and sweetmeats, and some bottles of wine; the more you put in, the better and more substantial your rout will be.

N. B. Fill your room quite full, and let the scum run off of itself.

Receipt, to make a pound of Firewood save a cord.

From the end of a small, strait grained stick, saw off a pound, and split it into as many pieces as it will admit for the purpose designed. Make each piece into the form of a wedge, and place one of those wedges between the casing and the top of the lower sash, whenever the wind enters between the sashes.

Carving the Turkey.—It is said to have been a question in the political conversation of Paris, what slices of Turkey were to be allotted to the gentlemen of the Holy Alliance.—It was supposed that legs and thighs, (some ports in the Archipelago) would be given to England; wings and breast, (Moldavia and Wallachia) to Russia; the backbone, (Servia) to Austria; and the merry-thought, (no matter where) to be reserved as a morsel for the erection of a new Grecian State. But as the wild Turkey is somewhat a shy bird, they will take a little time to bring her down; when with careful cooking and a proper sauce, they may (as is generally done on these occasions) fall to without saying grace. It is to be hoped there will be no quarreling about the rich, juicy, savory, and well-roasted liver—that is, Constantinople.

LONDON, Nov. 5.
Friday evening, a respectable couple, inhabitants of Sheffield, presented their eight children to the baptismal font of the parish church. They had been married about 23 years, and the mother has been delivered of a child every succeeding ten months. There have been no twins, and the youngest are the only children now living.

The above anecdote reminds us of a Mr. Hamilton, who lived near Dublin. This gentleman was asked how many children he had, replied, "a quarter of a hundred and a cast," as if he were counting oysters—He had just 28 children—25 for the quarter—3 for the cast.

A fellow named Rogers, was recently pardoned from the New-York Penitentiary, on condition that he would depart from the State never to return. He went to Elizabethtown, New Jersey, where imposing upon her credulity, he married a spruce, lively, dashing young heiress of 17. Four days of the honey moon passed, but on the fatal fifth his biography in New-York is revealed. The lovely bride leaves him in disgust. He pursues her into New-York—she gives him money to return, which he wastes in profligacy. A second time he obtained supplies; but she is only exposed to desperate threats and letters of abuse. The Police hearing of the circumstances arrested the new made husband and he is returned to the Penitentiary to serve out his original term of labor at the Stepping Mill. A divorce is said to be on foot.

NEW-YORK, Dec. 17.

A Bill to repeal the 3d section of the Act of May 15, 1820, which prohibited importations from the British Provinces in North America and the West-Indies, except of articles the growth or manufacture of the place where the same was laden, also passed the House on Friday, and was sent to the Senate for concurrence.—For the information of our mercantile readers we publish that section of the act.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, that from and after the 13th day of September next, no goods, wares or merchandize, shall be imported into the United States of America, from the province of Nova Scotia, the Province of New-Brunswick, the Islands, of Cape Breton, St. Johns, Newfoundland, or their respective dependencies, from the Bermuda Islands, the Bahama Islands, the Islands, called Caicus, or either or any of the aforesaid possessions, Islands, or places, or any other province, possession, plantation, Islands, or place, under the dominion of Great Britain in the West Indies, or on the continent of America, south of the United States, except only such goods, wares, and merchandize, as are truly and wholly of the produce or manufacture, of the province, colony, plantation, Island, possession or place aforesaid, where the same shall be laden, and from whence, such goods, wares or merchandize, shall be directly imported into the United States, and all goods, wares and merchandize, imported or attempted to be imported into the U. States of America, contrary to the provisions of this act, together with the vessel on board of which the same shall be laden, her tackle, apparel and furniture, shall be forfeited to the United States.

SUPPRESSION OF PIRACY.

It will be seen by the Congressional Diary, that a bill to appropriate 160,000 dollars for the purchase or construction, of armed steam boats, schooners, and cutters, for the entire destruction of the buccaneers of the West-Indian seas, passed all its stages in the House of Representatives, the 13th inst., and that a bill for the same object had two readings in the Senate, in one day, and was ordered to be engrossed by unanimous consent. This is despatching public business. It will also be found, by advice from the Bahamas that the expedition from thence had scoured the coast of Cuba of the sea-robbers, and captured several of them; and that hopes were entertained that the nest had been wholly broken up. This, if true, will give leisure to the Executive to build the new contemplated vessels, and thus add to the naval force a species of vessels much wanted for various purposes; as it is probable our cruisers and those of the British, on the Cuba station, will be able to prevent the formation of any new nests of marauders. The Spaniards, it also appears, are now in earnest, in their co-operation for the destruction of the pirates, and report adds, that they have promptly executed 22 of them, which escaped to the Island.—Boston Cent.

We are pleased to learn that the subscription proposed at a late meeting of the Merchants and Importers of this city, to be raised for the benefit of the family of the brave ALLEN, is now closed, and the sum of two thousand dollars deposited in the New England Bank, to the credit of the chairman of the committee appointed to appropriate the same.

This is a more solid demonstration of sympathy in the grief of his aged mother, and sisters, under their afflicting bereavement, as well as a more handsome tribute of respect to his memory, than all the eulogiums, obituary notices, &c. which we see echoed from Maine to Georgia. A proportionate sum from New-York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, &c. will place this family beyond the reach of want and will show to our officers that we are not ungrateful for the services now required at their hands. This call has been cheerfully met by all classes of the mercantile community, with the liberality for which this town has long stood conspicuous.—Boston Advertiser.

LONDON. EAST-INDIA INTELLIGENCE.

The new teak-built ship of the line Ganges, of 86 guns, commanded by F. A. Collier, C. B. and K. S. L. lately arrived at Portsmouth, from Bombay and Trincomalee; and the Topaze, frigate, Captain Price Blackwood, from Madras and Trincomalee; the former left Bombay the 5th, the latter Ma-
