

Poetry.

MORNING.

'Tis not alone a bright and streaky sky—
Soul-cheering warmth—a spicy air serene—
Fair peeping flowers, nor dews that on them lie—
Nor sunny breadths topping the forests green—
That make the charm of Morning:—thoughts as high,
As meek and pure, live in that tranquil scene,
Whether it meet the rapt and wakeful eye
In vapoury clouds, or tints of clearest sheen.
If to behold, or hear, all natural things
In general gladness hail the blessed light,—
Herds lowing—birds sporting with devious flight—
And tiny swarms spreading their powdery wings—
And every herb with dewy shoots up-springing—
If these be joys—such joys the Morn is ever bringing.

THE PROVINCE OF WOMEN.

By Hannah More.

As some fair violet, loveliest of the glade,
Sheds its mild fragrance on the lonely shade,
Withdraws its modest head from public sight,
Nor courts the sun, nor seeks the glare of light;
Should some rude band profanely dare intrude,
And bear its beauties from its native wood,
Expos'd abroad its languid colours fly,
Its form decays, and all its odours die.
So woman born to dignify retreat,
Unknown to flourish, and unseen be great;
To give domestic life its sweetest charm;
With softness polish, and with virtue warm;
Fearful of fame, unwilling to be known,
Should seek but Heaven's applause and her own;
Should dread no blame but that which crimes impart,
The censures of a self-condemning heart.

Notice.

THE Subscriber having been given to understand that certain persons through interested motives endeavoured to injure him in Public estimation, and prevent his getting employment on the plea of high prices, extravagant charges, &c., merely through opposition in favor of another;
and as their report seems to have gained credit with a certain portion of the community, he takes this opportunity of informing his friends and the public in general, that it is his intention henceforth to work at the lowest possible prices, and compete with any of his business for cheapness and expedition; he therefore invites them to try for themselves in future and not to be led away by exaggerated reports or the prejudice of a party.

The subscriber also gives notice to such as are indebted to him, to call and settle their respective accounts immediately, otherwise he will put them in the hands of an attorney for collection, without discrimination.
