We are happy to say that His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor is fast improving, but under great anxiety (as are also His Excellency's family in general) for Lady Douglas, in whom unfavourable symptoms have appeared within the last two or three days. Miss Hellen Douglas, we hear, is but slowly recovering.

In to-day's Gazette we have the pleasure of laying before our readers the official accounts of the battle of Navarin; together with every other interesting particular that we could collect relating thereto. These have naturally obliged us to postpone a variety of other intelligence, tho' of inferior consequence: But we doubt not our efforts to gratify the deep anxiety which this memorable action has created, will be sufficiently estimated, to render any apology for the expulsiou of other information, unnecessary.

The London Courier, in remarking upon the battle of Navarin says,

When we look to Turkey, and the great probability that what has occurred will be construed by the Ottoman Government into a personal cause of war—when we recollect what conflicting European interests may be brought into activity should such be the case, and the possible extremity to which the infatuated policy of the Ottoman Government may lead, we cannot persuade ourselves but we are only on the threshold of mighty events which the future will disclose.

We have received the first number of the Colonial Patriot, a new paper recently published in Pictou, N. S.

MR. EDITOR,

By inserting the following from the Al- bion of the 29th December, in a conspicu- ous part of your paper, you will oblige a Subscriber.

14th January, 1828.

Excuses for not attending Public Wor- ship.—Overslept myself; could not dress in time. Too cold; too hot; too windy; too dusty. Too wet; too damp; too sunny; too cloudy. Don't feel disposed. No other time to myself; look over my drawers; put my papers to rights. Letters to write to my friends. Taken a dose of physic. Mean to walk to the canal. Going to take a ride. Tied to business six days in the week. No fresh air but on Sundays. Can't breath in church, always so full. Feel a little feverish. Feel a little chilly. Feel very very lazy. Expect company to dinner. Got a head ache. Intend nursing myself to-day. New bon- net not come home. Tore my muslin dress coming down stairs. Got a new novel, must be returned on Monday morn- ing. Wasn't shaved in time. Don't like the liturgy; always praying for the same thing. Don't like extempore prayer; don't know what is coming. Don't like an organ; 'tis too noisy. Don't like singing without music; makes me nervous. Can't sit in a draft of air; windows or doors open in summer. Stove so hot in winter; always get a headache. Can't bear an ex- tempore sermon; too frothy. Dislike a written sermon; too prosing. Nobody to day but our minister; can't always lis- ten to the same preacher. Don't like strangers; spurn them with contempt. Can't keep awake when at church. Snored aloud the last time I was there; shan't risk it again.—English Paper.

FIRE.—About 4 o'clock on Friday morning the Town was alarmed by the ringing of Bells and a cry of Fire. It ori- nated in a house in Duke Street, occupied by Mrs. Miller, and soon communicated to several others adjoining, and great fears were entertained for the safety of the whole square. The Inhabitants and Military mustered promptly, and by unwearied exertions finally succeeded in getting it under. The build- ings destroyed are, a corner house occupied by Mr. Charles Austen, partly torn down; house owned and occupied by Mr. George Jost, house where the fire originated; and corner house owned by Mr. Albro, tenanted by Mr. Peitzch, burnt; house owned and occupied by Mr. George Anderson partly burnt and partly pulled down.—Halifax, January 7.

CANADA.—The Colonial Parliament of Lower Canada is further prorogued from the 31 of Jan. to the 15th of February.

BOSTON, Dec. 13.

North-Eastern Boundary.—We have read the correspondence between Mr. Clay and Mr. Vaughan, the British Minister at Washington, on this subject; and we think it very clear that there are two sides to it, and that any excitement or violence is to be deprecated and avoided by all means. It is one of those controversies in which people are in most danger of being precipitate, foolish and rash; and yet it is one, which, above all others, requires to be settled by deliberate & nice investigation; the actual possession and jurisdiction ought not to be disturbed in the slightest degree until the question of right is fully examined and precisely settled. We shall give the docu- ments entire as soon as we can find room. Journal.

BOSTON, Dec. 25.

CONGRESS.—Mr. Hayne presented the memorial of sundry citizens of Boston and the vicinity, praying that no additional duty may be imposed on imports, especially on Woolens.

Mr. H. stated that the memorial was signed by 1562 inhabitants of Boston, and its vicinity.

Senate.—Mr. Woodbury submitted a resolution to consider the expediency of a- bolishing all discriminating duties on the vessels and merchandize belonging to Foreign Powers extending the same measure to those of this country. Since agreed to Poor Mitchell, the pilot, who was killed by the deliberate aim of the Turks firing through the ports at him, was a man of very extensive acquirements and respect- able family, they having been consuls and pilots for years. His father, who is now a consul, was the pilot who conducted the Bri- tish fleet through the Dardanelles, on the attack of Sir J. Duckworth. Mitchell is universally regretted by every officer and seaman who knew him.

It is stated, in a letter from an Officer on board an English ship, in the late en- gagement, that after its termination the few vessels of the enemy which remained were set fire to and destroyed, either by their crews or the Greeks.

The French, it seems, are at last deter- mined to push, with some vigour, the war against Algiers, which has been suffered to linger so long. It is said that 10,000 men are to be disembarked, to commence operations against the town by land.

It is just 1000 years since England be- came a kingdom.

Brig Try Again, from Quebec for Li- verpool, was abandoned at sea, Nov. 20, water logged, &c., and the officers and sur- viving seamen received on board the Alex- ander, from Liverpool for Phila. And landed in the latter city. Two seamen were lost when the brig was first disabled. The sur- vivors (13,) had been on the wreck 27 days ...and had endured the greatest sufferings. It had been proposed to draw lots for one to die for food for the rest; but two refused to draw.

The loss of the English at Navarin was nearly equal to that which they experienced in the memorable battle of Trafalgar. In the latter they had 37 killed, and 223 wounded...at Navarin they had 75 killed, and 197 wounded.

A public dinner, has been given in the London Tunnel in honor of the expulsion of the Thames. The Colastream band play- ed a number of favorite tunes under water.

The allied fleet carried 1260, and the Turkish 1718 guns.

It is said the Russians had an army of 80,000 men, near the Pruth and Danube, and a great army under Marshal Sachem in reserve.

It appears Admiral Codrington did com- pel the Greeks to refrain from hostilities, as well as the Turks. Gen. Church, and Lord Cochrane meditated, it appears, an ex- pedition to Albania. Lord Ingestrie arri- ved in their camp at Vostiliza, and commu- nicated to them that the British admiral de- sired the expedition might not be undertaken. It was accordingly abandoned.

MONTREAL Dec. 13.

The loyal address to His Excellency, lying in the News-room is constantly re- ceiving accessions of subscribers. Yester- day, at 3 o'clock, there were 1273 signi- tures attached to it, including the most re- spectable names in the city.
