I have the honor to be,
Your most obedient Servant.
W. DOUGLAS of Steam Ship Unicorn.

[From the Boston Patriot, June 6.]

CELEBRATION OF THE ARRIVAL OF THE UNICORN.

The celebration yesterday of the arrival of the first steam ship from Liverpool, was conducted in a manner worthy of the occasion. At three o'clock the City Government and a large number of invited guests assembled at the City Hall, and at half past three the procession was formed under the direction of the City Marshal and proceeded to Faneuil Hall, which had been fitted up in a handsome style, suitable to the occasion. The hall was festooned with a large number of flags of the United States and Great Britain, and was decorated in a very appropriate and tasteful manner. An elegant collation had been prepared, to which the large audience was seated after grace had been said by the Rev. Mr. Rogers. At five o'clock, the Mayor, who presided on the occasion, addressed the company in a handsome and appropriate manner. He explained the objects of the meeting, and congratulated the citizens of Boston on the arrival of the first steam ship from Liverpool, which he regarded as one of the most important and interesting events that had occurred for many years. He took occasion to speak in high terms of the energy and enterprise of Mr. Cunard, and regretted his necessary absence on the present occasion. In conclusion, he alluded in an eloquent manner to commercial enterprise as second only to Christianity in advancing the world in a moral and political point of view, and as strengthening the bonds of friendship between the nations of the earth. He then offered the following sentiment:

"Commercial Enterprise: it waked up the dark ages, it launched mankind on the sea of improvement; it launched their bark and spread their sails until a sail is no longer needed to join the two continents together."

His Honor then again referred to Mr. Cunard, and offered the following sentiment:

"Hon. Samuel Cunard: identified with an improvement which has blessed two countries, they will vie with each other in doing him honor."

This called out the son of Mr. Cunard, who made a few appropriate remarks, in which he thanked the citizens of Boston in the name of his father, for the kind attentions paid to him on his former visit, and for the enthusiastic manner in which the arrival of his first ship had been received. He proposed as a toast: "Prosperity to the citizens of Boston," which was received with great applause; and the band played "God Save the Queen."

The Mayor then rose and said he would read an extract from Messrs. Toppliff's books, which was as follows:—

"Steamer Unicorn, 18 days from England; we add, God save the Queen and God save the United States of America."

This was received with three cheers.

Capt. DOUGLAS was then introduced to the audience, and made a few remarks. He said the Unicorn was the smallest ship of the intended line; that a great portion of her was filled with her machinery, but the other ships were of the first class. He said his voyage would have been shorter, but for the constant succession of head winds.

The Mayor then proposed as a sentiment, "England and America: amidst all fluctuations of trade—all vicissitudes of time and explorations of land-marks, may we never forget the relation in which we stand, of mother and daughter."

This called up Mr. GRATTAN, who made an eloquent and highly interesting speech, which was received with great applause. He said the inhabitants of New England had been compared to the granite and ice which were their chief articles of export. But from his short residence here, he could deny the charge, unless, indeed, it was intended to compare them to granite in point of firmness in moral resolves, and to ice in the purity of their moral characters. He proposed as a sentiment:

"The Unicorn: long considered an apocryphal animal, but now known as a reality;—and he would add, May the Lion of England never lay his paw, or was his tail, or shake his mane in anger at the Unicorn."

The Mayor then proposed the following:—"The Commonwealth of Massachusetts: as she is likely to become the half-way house between England and the Rocky Mountains, we will take care that all the travellers have a hearty reception."

Mr. PHILLIPS, the Mayor of Salem, being called upon made a few appropriate remarks, and proposed: "The City of Boston: may her future prosperity be commensurate with her past fame and the public enterprise which pervades all classes of her citizens."

The Mayor then gave:

"The Judiciary: amid all changes and revolutions, we rejoice that justice changes not."

Although this part of the government was ably represented, yet no one responded, and the Mayor then proposed:

"The House of Representatives of Massachusetts: we rejoice that that at least has a Speaker."

Mr. WINTHROP responded to this in his usual happy manner and proposed as a toast: "James Watt of Great Britain, and Robert Fulton of Little Britain." (Penn.)

The Mayor then read a letter from Gov. Everett, in which he expressed deep regret that he was unable to be present on account of ill health.

Mr. GRATTAN took occasion to pronounce an eloquent eulogy on the late Governor of the Commonwealth, which was responded to by the audience with three cheers.

Professor LONGFELLOW being called upon, made a few remarks which were not distinctly heard in all parts of the hall. He proposed: "Steamships: the pillar of fire by night and the cloud by day that guide the wanderer over the sea."

The Russian Consul made a few remarks and proposed: "Prosperity to America; growing up more and more."

Mr. BIGELOW, Secretary of State, proposed: "Nova Scotia: there has been much dispute concerning her north-western angle; there will be no dispute hereafter touching the enterprise of her people."

Capt. STURGIS proposed: "The Cunard Steamers: may they cut their way through friends and foes."

By Mr. STEVENS, of Savannah.—"The third of June, 1840—the bridal day of England and America—what steam has joined, let no political feuds put asunder."

By Mr. RICE, of Boston.—"Halifax, may prosperity attend her."

By a volunteer.—"Captain Sturgis's warm welcome—a sailor's grip—hearty, though it hurts a little." [Some of the Unicorn's glass was cracked by the salute from the Revenue Cutter Hamilton.]

By a volunteer.—"The Unicorn—may the enterprise, of which she is the pioneer, never come out of the little end of the horn."

By a volunteer.—"England and America—the public will soon be satisfied that Mr. Cunard's line is of more consequence than the 'Boundary line'."

By a volunteer.—"The most touching event in modern history—England restoring to the grenadiers of France the remains of Napoleon."

By M. GOURAUD, from Paris.—"The steam navigation enterprise—the great apostle of peace, making friends of nations which have heretofore been called natural enemies."

By Mr. DEMONT, Member of Senate of Maine.—"Our north-eastern boundary question—may it be settled as satisfactorily as the event we have met on this auspicious occasion to celebrate."

By N. GREENE, Esq.—"The boundary line of international good feeling—may it never be ascertained."

By Mr. CUNARD.—"The Ladies of Boston."

By J. C. PARKER, Esq.—"The Mayor, Jonathan Chapman, Esq.—We have proved our zeal for trade by putting a champion at our head; and when John Bull's sons come here, the first land of congratulation is extended by real brother Jonathan, and when they proposed an interchange of good feeling, they found him, Yankee like, ready to 'swap even'."

By AMASA WALKER, Esq.—"The City of Boston—with steam navigation to the fatherland, with rail-road communication to the father of waters, and the providential smiles of the Father of mercies, she needs no guarantee of her future growth, prosperity and happiness."

By the Mayor.—"The occasion—the jubilee of good feeling to the citizens of Boston—its memory will never depart from the heart."

Mr. GEORGE S. HILLARD made a few remarks in his usual neat and classic style, which elicited much applause. He was followed by the Consul of the King of the two Sicilies. Several other gentlemen addressed the meeting—among them Mr. Rockwell; General Dearborn; a son of Governor Campbell, of Nova Scotia; but we have not space for a more particular account of this celebration, which passed off very pleasantly, and will be long remembered by all who had the good fortune to be present.

DEPARTURE OF THE UNICORN.—This splendid Steamship is advertised to leave Cunard Wharf, East Boston, on Wednesday next, at 7 o'clock, P. M. and her departure, as well as her arrival will give our citizens an opportunity to witness the excellent sailing qualities of the boat.

We learn that prior to her departure, a grand Levee will be given on board the steamer, by Mr. CUNARD, at which a large number of invited guests will be present.—Boston Evening Gazette, June 6.

ESSENCE OF SMOKE.

THE Subscriber has just received from the CHEMICAL WORKS at Hampton, a fresh supply of the above article.

Beef, Pork, Mutton, Fish, &c., may be preserved for any length of time by simply washing them over twice with the ESSENCE OF SMOKE; then hang them up to dry; if very large, repeat the process three times, allowing 24 hours to elapse between each washing. Shortly after, upon examination, it will be found that the Essence has penetrated through every part of their substance imparting a most delicious flavour.

N. B.—Apply the Essence of Smoke to the Meat or Fish, &c., while it is moist, as the liquid does not penetrate so effectually when the surfaces of those articles are dry.
