

stuck close to me during the whole of the heart-rending scene, determined to defend himself to the last.

One old man, a native of Ireland, when about to be seized, fell upon his knees and entreated them to spare his life, and he would give them all he had. He then drew from his purse a number of sovereigns, and offered them to the crew, but they were thrown aside and himself thrown overboard. A lad about 18 years of age, requested time to say his prayers, and when he concluded, he said, I am now prepared—I do not wish you to throw me overboard—I will go myself, and he stepped off the gunwale into the sea. Of all who were thrown overboard, not one, to my knowledge, succeeded in getting on board again. There were no hands cut off, nor any blood spilt; neither did any one except the young man already mentioned, jump overboard voluntarily.

The unfortunate passengers offered no resistance; prayers and entreaties were all they used. 'Oh! spare me! spare me!' several of them cried, even when they were half overboard. I will not attempt a description of this awful scene—it would melt a heart of stone. I believe there were sixteen thrown overboard.

The boat was hailed out after she had been lightened; she then rode very well and made but little water. The following morning I discovered a sail, and communicated the fact to the mate, who said—'By —, Jack you're a lucky fellow; you have saved your life.' The ship that picked us up, as is already known, was the Crescent. So strong was my indignation against the negro, that, upon reaching the Crescent's deck, I seized a heaver and threw it at his head.

All of the crew in the boat, excepting the mate and another man, were foreigners, or as sailors say, Dutchmen, that is, men belonging to the continent of Europe.

Upon our arrival at Havre, in the Ville de Lyon, the American Consul, when made acquainted with the facts, advised me and my companion to remain and give our evidence against the mate and the crew; but we declined upon the ground that we conceived the testimony of the passengers sufficient. As he was not very urgent, we were liberated, after an examination before the Board of Police.

After my health was somewhat recruited, I shipped on board the Angelo, Capt. Jaques, bound for Newburyport, where I arrived on Wednesday last. I arrived in Boston on Thursday, and have made this statement for the information of the public.

The Cheapest Work ever Published.

SECOND VOLUME OF Pictorial Illustrations of the BIBLE, AND VIEWS IN PALESTINE.

IN Presenting the "Second Series" of this Work to the Christian Public, the publisher feels it to be his duty gratefully to acknowledge that general approbation and success which distinguished the "First Series," by which seven large editions were sold in as many months! As the present volume contains fewer "fancy sketches," and is almost wholly confined to "Landscape Illustrations" of the Bible—matter-of-fact views of places, as they exist at the present day; and is entirely free from every thing illiberal and sectarian in sentiment, he trusts it will be deemed worthy of a portion of that patronage so amply bestowed on its predecessor.

Eighth edition of the 1st vol. just issued—price $2.

Douglas, June 15, 1841.

SCORBUTIC OINTMENT.

THIS OINTMENT is made from a Recipe of the late celebrated Professor, JAMES HAMILTON, of Edinburgh, who was a member of that bright constellation of the Eighteenth century, which illumined the whole Medical World, and, in fact, there is scarcely a Physician of any standing or talent at present who has not been taught by them.

When Dr. Hamilton gave the writer of this his Recipe, he stated that an English Nobleman who had two sons sorely afflicted with ringworm, had sent them to London and put them under many of the most eminent Physicians of that City, without any benefit; he heard of his celebrity, and sent them to Edinburgh, and in a few months he sent them home perfectly sound by the use of the above Ointment.

This excellent Ointment is far superior to anything hitherto used, for those who are afflicted with eruptions of any part of the body, but particularly the young of both sexes, when they arrive at the age of puberty; they are often troubled with eruptions of the face, which are very obstinate of cure. The finest face may be injured and the countenance entirely destroyed by freckles and other skin diseases. The patient has only to use a box of the above Ointment with a box of the pills, to be convinced of the invaluable nature of both. Ladies who are billious and their faces of a dark or yellow hue, will do well to use the Ointment and pills, as they will invariably turn the complexion to its proper colour and agreeable whiteness.

The above Medicines will never fail in inducing a healthy action of the whole frame, without which no person can enjoy a good state of health; in fact the very lustre of the eye, as also the muscles of the face are lost and destroyed in sickness. The old adage is certainly true "a sound mind in a sound body is surely preferable to any other situation in life," but to see the young, who shall always be gay and cheerful, suffering, and who cannot often go into company on account of some deformity of the face, is really dreadful in the extreme. In ulcers of the lower extremities (which is often the case in old people,) it will be found a valuable remedy.

Children afflicted with skin diseases of the head will find it answer better than any other application whatever; and in cases of bald head, the Ointment induces a healthy action of the scalp, when the hair grows beautifully.

The writer of this has been abroad for 25 years, and during that period he has never failed in one instance in making the most complete cures.

The Ointment and pills may be had at No. 6, Belvoir Terrace, Vauxhall Road, near the toll bar, Pimlico. All orders from the country punctually attended to by addressing A. B. Manson.

A work on the diseases of Children (addressed to Parents and Guardians of Children,) will be published in a few weeks, by a Physician of 25 years' standing, and whose practice has been very extensive amongst the young of both sexes. Also, two Works, one on Yellow Fever and the other on Asiatic Cholera.

The Advertiser has for sale 3,000 acres of fine Land in Nova Scotia, North America.
