

you to labour in this part of the Vineyard; still would we hope that no intervening distance will ever weaken our respect and love for you, or diminish our interest in your welfare and prosperity.

Here, or elsewhere, we feel assured that your talents and learning, your integrity of character and high principles of honor, and your gifts as a zealous and pious Minister of the Gospel; will with a blessing from on high, always deserve, and we trust, obtain the entire confidence of those with whom you may in future be connected.

Believing that our feelings are mutual, we trust that no distance will deprive us of a participation in your prayers, and aspirations for our welfare and true prosperity.

Accept, Reverend and Dear Sir, this unaffected tribute of our esteem and respect, for yourself and your amiable family, &c.

NOTICE.

 We would particularly request the attentive consideration of our readers to the PROSPECTUS in today's Supplement, under the title of "HEADS OF REGULATIONS FOR THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A LOAN AND LABOUR FUND, &c. &c.," and we would strongly recommend the immediate formation of such Societies in every County, with or without reference to the Emigration Societies already formed in some Counties. The beneficial effects which have succeeded the establishment of similar institutions in England, have been incalculably great; and we are satisfied, if once adopted, and under proper regulations and management, particularly during the present season of great commercial distress, would materially better the condition of the poor and industrious settlers and Emigrant,—remunerate the farmer, and benefit the Agricultural interests of the Province generally.
