Secretary's Office, 21st June, 1852.

Extracts from a Despatch of Sir J. Pakington, Bart., to the Officer administering the Government of New Brunswick, dated May 26, 1852.

"Among the many pressing subjects which have engaged the attention of Her Majesty's Ministers since their assumption of office, few have been more important, in their estimation, than the questions relating to the protection solicited for the Fisheries on the coasts of British North America.

"Her Majesty's Government have taken into their serious consideration, the representations upon this subject contained in your Despatches noted in the margin, and have not failed to observe, that whilst active measures have been taken by certain Colonies for the purpose of encouraging their Fisheries, and of repelling the intrusion of foreign vessels, it has been a subject of complaint in New Brunswick, that impediments should have been offered by the policy of the Imperial Government to the enactment of bounties considered by the local Legislature essential for the protection of its trade. Her Majesty's Ministers are desirous to remove all grounds of complaint on the part of the Colonies, in consequence of the encroachment of the Fishing vessels of the United States upon those waters from which they are excluded by the terms of the convention of 1818, and they therefore intend to despatch, as soon as possible, a small naval force of Steamers, or other small vessels, to enforce the observance of that convention.

"With regard to the question of promoting the Fisheries of the British Colonies by the means of bounties, Her Majesty's Government, although desirous not to sanction any unnecessary deviation from that policy which regulates the Commerce of this Country, are still disinclined to prevent those Colonies, by the interposition of Imperial authority, and especially pending the negotiation with the United States of America for the settlement of the principles on which the Commerce with the British North American Colonies is hereafter to be carried on, from adopting the policy which they may deem most conducive to their own welfare and prosperity.

"Entertaining these views, it is the intention of Her Majesty's Government to advise the Queen to give her assent to an Act passed by the Legislature of Prince Edward Island in the Session of 1851, for the promotion of its deep Sea Fisheries, and they will be prepared to give favourable consideration to any Acts for a similar purpose which may be passed by the Legislatures of the other North American Provinces."
