

6th. It is also your duty to see that the provisions of the Passenger Acts are strictly complied with, and all breaches thereof punished according to law. For this purpose you will cause all vessels arriving with Immigrants at the Port of New York to be carefully inspected, and in every instance in which the Acts referred to shall have been violated, you will take the necessary measures to have the captain or owners of such vessels punished.

7th. On the first of each month you will transmit to the Immigration Bureau of the State Department at Washington condensed statements of the arrival of Immigrants for the previous month, setting forth their respective nationalities and the ports of departure, the number of each sex, and classifying the ages for each five years, the professions, and States of destination.

8th. Among the philanthropic and useful organizations of the country, none are more distinguished, or have effected greater or more lasting benefits, than the New York State Commission of Emigration, nor have there been any conducted with greater wisdom. The eminent services rendered by that Commission are recognized by Congress in providing in the Act creating your office, that your duties shall not affect the powers and duties of the Commissioners of Emigration of the State of New York.

The objects of Congress and of that Commission are the same, and it will be your aim to act in entire harmony with it, furthering its views as far as may lay in your power, and relying much in your own action, on the experience, wisdom, and integrity of that Board.

I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

JAMES BOWEN,

Commissioner of Immigration.

I approve, WILLIAM H. SEWARD,

Department of State, Aug. 12th, 1864.
