NOTICE TO MARINERS.

[No. 48.]

NEWFOUNDLAND—HEART'S CONTENT
HARBOUR,—TRINITY BAY.

CAUTION TO AVOID ANCHORING NEAR ATLANTIC
TELEGRAPH CABLE.

The shore end of the Atlantic Telegraph Cable passes 150 yards west of Norther point, on the east side of the entrance to Heart's Content Harbour, Trinity bay; and from this spot, two beacons—situated over the southern cove of the harbour—will be seen in line S. by W.; these beacons mark the direction of the cable's first course into the harbour.

When the white beacon on the eastern shore is in line with the School house, the cable commences to curve to the eastward, and continues to do so until the Church tower is in line with the northern pier, on the shore under the Church: on this line the Atlantic Cable approaches the shore within a cable's length, and thence to the land under the Telegraph Office.

Vessels intending to anchor, should carefully avoid the line indicated above, by anchoring either east of the line of the Southern beacons, and north of the line where the East beacon (appearing midway between the School house, and the house next South of it,) bears S.E.  $\frac{1}{2}$  E.; or by anchoring South of the line where the Telegraph station flag (on with a whitewashed stone on the shore) bears S. E. by E., as on this latter line it is intended to place a second Telegraph Cable.

[All Bearings are Magnetic. Variation at Heart's Content, Newfoundland, 32° 10' West in 1866.]

By command of their Lordships,

GEO. HENRY RICHARDS,

Hydrographer.
