

or from the first cutting must not be attempted by the Forest Ranger, excepting in the most extraordinary cases where the prohibition of such burning until autumn would be a very severe hardship on the owner and where the burning may be safely done. The Government has particularly stressed this clause of the regulations. Rangers must always consult with their inspectors before deciding to burn such hazardous areas, and in all such cases the slash must be carefully inspected by the Ranger, who will personally or through a reliable Fire Warden acting under his orders supervise the burning during a period when weather conditions are such as to be absolutely safe. In each case the Ranger will issue a written permit to the owner. Such permits shall state the conditions regarding the number of men required to be present during burning and the number of pails, barrels of water and tools required or any other condition deemed necessary. All such permits shall also include a clause stating that no burning shall be done except under the direct supervision of the Ranger or Fire Warden acting under and in accordance with his directions. Also that all burning must be done after 4 p. m. when there is no wind blowing or turning wet weather and a watch must be kept on all fires until completely extinguished and three days after. All fire permits must be issued for as short a period as possible. No permit may be issued unless the slash is piled and is at least 39 feet from standing timber.

The burning of stump piles, root piles, etc., on ground which has already been recently burned over, may be done under permit but the burning must be supervised by the Ranger or other Warden authorized by him. Such burning must only be done, however, where the prohibition of the same if left until autumn would be a serious hardship on the settler and where such burning can be safely done.

Forest Rangers and Fire Wardens acting under their direction must explain the law, courteously, to all, including the clause that the permittee is legally responsible for all damage caused by his fire even if set under permit, that he must notify his neighbors before he sets fire, and also the new clause which prohibits all slash and brush burning during the spring of 1925 and encourage all future burning of slash in the fall.

All Forest Rangers and Fire Wardens are authorized to and must refuse fire permits where the above requirements are not complied with.

All Forest Rangers and Fire Wardens are authorized to and must refuse to issue any fire permits and must cancel any they have issued if they consider conditions dangerous in their district at any time.

No Forest Ranger or Fire Warden may alter or waive any of the above regulations without the written permission of the Deputy Minister. Special Fire Rangers appointed to assist in supervising slash burning or for fire patrol shall be subject to the direction of the Forest Ranger of the district in which he is employed.

Municipal Councillors are not authorized to issue Fire Permits.

Game Wardens, should consult with and let under the direction of the Forest Ranger in regard to slash burning unless otherwise authorized.

In the event of any person burning without permit or contrary to law the Ranger is authorized to report at once for prosecution.
