

HOUSE OF COMMONS, MONDAY, March 16.—Mr. Peel announced his intention to introduce a bill for regulating and reducing the militia staff of the country, by which a saving of £65,000 per annum would be effected.

The debate, on the second reading of the Catholic Relief Bill, terminated at four o'clock on Thursday morning, and the majority on the division was 180. The speeches do not contain any new views, but that delivered by the Attorney-General is in a new style, at least in the House of Commons. We cannot attempt, at this late hour of the week, to give a report of the debate.

The Legislature of Nova Scotia has been prorogued. The following is from the Nova Scotian of the 22nd inst.

CLOSE OF THE SESSION.—At 2 o'clock on Saturday, His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, came down to the Council Chamber, when a message was sent commanding the attendance of the Representative body, and the House having attended accordingly, His Excellency, after giving his assent to several Bills, closed the session with the following speech—

Mr. President, and Gentlemen of his Majesty's Council,

Mr. Speaker, and Gentlemen of the House of Assembly:

My best acknowledgements are due to you for the zeal and assiduity with which you have disposed of the business that required your attention, and enabled me to consult the convenience of the different branches of the Public Service, by closing, at the present period, this session of the Legislature.

My concurrence in the several bills which have resulted from your deliberations, has been attended with the satisfaction that I must always feel in joining with you to promote the general good, by the adoption of wise and salutary laws.

I thank you, in the name of His Majesty, for the supplies you have given for the service of the present year; you may rest assured that no attention shall be wanted to render them effectual for the purposes for which they were granted.

Your Bill, making permanent provision for the Custom House Establishment, I shall transmit, with pleasure, for the consideration of His Majesty. It will not fail to convey a fresh proof the enlightened public spirit and sense of justice towards the Mother Country, which have guided your legislative proceedings, and tended to confer on them a character so honorable to this Province.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

We do not think that by publishing ALPHA's favor, in its present shape, we should render him any service. His lines are not perhaps wholly devoid of merit, but they appear to be in some respects objectionable. "Age" being considered the period in which every virtue attains, or should attain, its full maturity, we ought not to speak disrespectfully of it in a general sense. We do not believe that "folly" will ever tempt the wise and prudent "Scholar" to relax in even the most ardent application of the mind; and we doubt whether mere "amusement" can produce any thing justly entitled to the name of "happiness." We believe genuine felicity to be one of the peculiar attributes of virtuous knowledge, which indeed can even sanctify innocent recreations, and then the "happiness" this life occasionally affords may safely be indulged in.

SAMUEL came too late for this impression. Our opinion is that it had better not be published, although we can have no objections to comply with the author's particular request, the subject being perfectly innocent in itself.
