The alleged strength of the French Ministry disappeared on the first division of the Chamber of Deputies. They were occupied until Monday last with preliminaries; and before proceeding to the immediate business of legislation, they had to elect a president. M. Lafitte was a can li late for the situation ; but he was objectives to Ministers, and accordingly they us id every exertion to prevent his being elected. On the ballot being taken, there appeared, out of the house of 355 deputies, for M. Girod de L'Ain, the ministerial Candidate, 181.

The final decision is communicated to me while writing, viz :- Count Mole, the triend of Prince Talleyrand, is at length charged ov the he (Mole,) being president of the council and minister for foreign affairs. It is amazingly difficult to anticipate the effeet on the public mind, of any administration formed under the auspices of Count Mole. The funds of course, this day, influenced by the great unce tainty of public events, have declined considerably.

In order to avoid the danger to French libertv, and the disgrace to his own character, which further submission to the triends of Russian and Prussian interests would involve, M. Cisimer Perrier hat no other alternative but war. Either his judgment opposed, or his courage was unequal to his trial, and he has resigned.

Up to this hour we know not exactly how his place has been supplied. One of our morning contemporaries states, that Soult is to be placed at the head of the new cabinet, and another mentions M. Mole. Neither of these is of the extreme left, but no ministry can stand, except on the principle of assisting the Poles. This is positive. It may be right, or it may be wrong, but the fact is clear, and it would be fully to attempt to conceal the fact from the people of this country, who are deeply interested in the politics of France.
