Since receiving this letter, we have seen Mr. Panet, the coroner, who returned this morning which took effect the preceding June, "orderhaving got the hodies lilted, and taken an inquest upon them. It appears that the persons mardered were well identified to be Hugh Griffith, hall-pay lieutenant of His Majesty's Navy and his brother William Griffith. They are known to a number of persons in town; their books on naval gunnery and tactics and literature all bear their names, and they lately purphased of Mr. Plante, ferryman, at the island of Orleans, the boat in which they followed their occupation, and which is also well known. The men whom they hired, and who murdered them with a view to get £75 in their chest were two emigrants supposed to be Irishmen, engaged just as they landed from the vessel on one of the wharves, and anknown to their employers. The day the murder took place, the wind was westerly, and they no doubt proceeded down the river, but the strong gale from the east which blew the following day, would probably induce them to come up towards town. They were ignorant of the management of a boat and of the river, and it is hoped that they will have landed somewhere, where being strangers, they may be looked upon with suspicion, and noticed. Griffith had been for nearly a week, was left by them at St. Laurent, (Orleans,) on Monday last the 18 inst. The two men, after remaining several hours in the boat and on the beach walked away. They have been traced by Police officers, sent for the express purpose, to Point Levy, where, it appears, they arrived on Friday night, and farther trace of them was then lost, A full description of their dress has been obtained, and parties have been sent after them by different routes .- Old Gazette 25

THUNDER STORM .- We experienced yesterday, after a fine morning, one of the most se- ing, removed from the Parish. vere thunder storms we recollect. The air was surcharged with electrical matter and the thunder clouds covered a space of several leagues in width. The rain was incessant from five o'clock to near eight, and during that time, the lightning flashed and the thunder roared without almost a moment's interuption.

About six o'clock an appalling clap was heard over the town; the lightning had struck the English Cathedral in different parts of the building; it apparently has only removed some wood and stones and broken a number of panes of glass. The lightning also struck a hangard belonging to Mr. Delausier St. Roc's suburbs and did considerable damage to the building. A short time after, a fire, was seen in the direction of Beauport, and this morning we learn that the barn of Louis Grenier, a little beyond the church had been consumed.

We regret to state that a young girl of the name of angelique Maheu, aged 17 whose fawas boiling at the fire. Another woman was struck senseless, but will recover.

We regret to learn that the barn and stables of Captaine Routier of St. Foi, were also totally consumed during the storm. The thunder aiso tell at Carouge, but did no material damage. A son of Mr. Prior, merchant tailor, about nine years of age, returning from school was struck when passing the English church during the time the lightning fell upon the building and was taken up by a servant of Mr. Ander- zer, do. 10th August. son senseless. The poor little fellow has however recovered, though a good deal burned. Pretty severe electric shocks were also felt by persons in different houses in the vicinity of the

This is the third severe thunder storm experienced this season. In the parish of St. Ann, during that which occurred about two weeks ago, several valuable buildings were burned, and there is little doubt from the great extent of the present storm, that we shall hear of further damage done by it. It has in many places much laid the grain and hay .- Quebec Mercury
