

being derived to the Province from the very large expenditure that has been incurred, in bringing it into active operation; my attention was, a few days since, particularly drawn to a Communication that appeared in the St. Andrews Herald of the 28th of June last, signed "Censor"—a name certainly very appropriate to the author of that article, as he appears to have seized his pen with a determination to indulge his spleen, not only in an attack upon the College and the persons connected therewith, but, as far as he dared to go, in an attack upon the Honorable the House of Assembly of the Province, and more particularly upon the members thereof who formed the Committee of public and private accounts in the year 1831.—However, I should not have thought it necessary to take any part in the discussion he has entered upon, if he had not introduced and thus again called the attention of the public to the report of that Committee on the College accounts, made to the House on the 22d of March 1831, without giving with it, or in any way alluding to, the very full explanation that was furnished at the time, (immediately after that report appeared on the journals) by the Treasurer of the College in a letter on the subject, addressed to the Hon. Wm. Black, then President of the Province, and by him officially laid before the House at the request of the College Council, together with the further accounts called for by the House—which explanation, it will be found, on inquiry, satisfied a large majority of the Members, it not the whole of them, that their Committee of accounts had certainly framed a very hasty report, to say the least of it; and in one part it, had made a most egregious blunder, in stating that the college council had allowed the Treasurer £25 for the extra services of one day, when it appeared by the accounts, that that was an extra allowance for the services of a whole year. It is true it was said, that this was either a mistake in the print or in the copying clerk, whether it was so or not, I leave for them to settle, but let the blunder have originated where it might, it does not appear to have been corrected, as the report was published to the world, with this blunder in it; and it still stands so, as now again published by "Censor." But as a full explanation was given, and as it was acknowledged generally that the same was satisfactory to the House, and in fact was acted upon in the resolution passed for the annual Grant to the College for that year. It certainly is a matter of much surprise, that such explanation did not appear upon the Journals of the House, for independent of what was due in common justice to the College Council, and in particular to that officer of the College who was more directly attacked by the report,—a due regard for consistency in their own proceedings would (one is led to suppose) have pointed out to the House in the wisdom of their deliberations the necessity of something appearing upon their journals to account for that extraordinary change in the sentiments of many of the Members, in respect to the College Grant, which the author of Censor has so pointedly alluded to.—And I must admit, that if I could suppose him ignorant of all that passed at the time except what appears on the Journals, there would be some foundation for the remarks he has made upon the conduct of the members of the House, and particularly of those who composed the Committee; at the same time as it was publicly known and talked of, that a full explanation was given and that that caused the change in the opinions of the members of the committee as well as others, I cannot acquit Censor, of having purposely appeared ignorant of the fact merely to avail himself of an opportunity of venting his ill will towards the College, and of again publishing at this late day, the report of the Committee, with the view of creating false and unfavorable impressions on the minds of those not fully apprised of all the circumstances. In order therefore to counteract the effects of this and that the public may be in possession of all the facts, I have procured a copy of the letter of the Treasurer of the College to Mr. President Black before alluded to, as laid before the House at the time, which I sign, and trust you will give it insertion in your paper, together with this communication, by which the erroneous statement made by Censor, will receive that correction, which he, in conclusion, asks for from—

[LETTER from the Treasurer of the College, to Mr. President Black, above referred to.]

Fredericton 26th March, 1831.

To His Honor Wm. Black, Esq. President and Commander in Chief of the Province of New Brunswick.

SIR—Perceiving from the report of the committee of the Hon. the House of Assembly on the College accounts, presented to the House on Tuesday last, that dissatisfaction is expressed both with the manner in which the accounts are made up, and with certain charges made therein by me for commissions, as also with a particular grant of £25 by the council for extra past services, and with a deduction made on warrants on the Provincial Treasurer sold at a discount. I beg leave to request your Honor's attention to the following statement, in explanation of these several points.

In the first place, as to the manner of making up the accounts. I conceived myself bound to follow literally the words of the resolution of the House, which required "a detailed account, shewing the particulars of the income and expenditure of the College before and since the granting of the Royal Charter." Being aware, that this would be a prolix, and not a very perspicuous account, I brought the subject before the College Council at a time, when Mr. Charles Simonds, then a member of the board, was present, for the express purpose of ascertaining whether it was the wish of the House to have the whole accounts in full detail from the commencement or not; and Mr. Simonds, I recollect, gave it as his opinion, that they had better be as full as possible.—An order was consequently made by the Council directing me to apply to the Hon. Mr. Justice Bliss for a more full and particular account, respecting the time during which he held the office of Treasurer, than he had previously rendered.—The account which I have rendered is therefore a complete detail of the particulars of the income and expenditure of the College as they actually accrued and were disbursed, made up and balanced at the end of each year, during the period of my occupation of the office. Such an account, however inconvenient for a general view of the financial state of the College, I was compelled to consider, as precisely what the House desired; judging from the very explicit words of the resolution, and the comment of an experienced Member of the House. As to the objections to the charge for commissions, I beg leave to observe that the mere receiving and paying the monies, although attended with a great small portion, and much trouble, were a very small portion of the services performed by me, for which those commissions were charged. In the first place, it seems to have been entirely overlooked, that the office of Treasurer, under the old establishment, was combined with that of Clerk or Registrar to the Corporation; and under the New Charter, with that of Registrar to the University and Clerk of the Council and Convocation: the ordinary duties of which offices so combined, were to collect and receive all the revenues of the College, to keep all the Records, to keep a Matricula in which the names with other additions of all the students and other members of the College must be registered; to attend all meetings of the council and convocation and register their proceedings; to pay out all the disbursements of the college; and to keep separate accounts with every individual student, member and servant of the college; to settle the same; and also to keep a general and detailed account of the several receipts and payments between the corporation and myself, supported by vouchers for every payment; to collect all fines imposed; to inspect, manage and conduct, the renting out of all the lands, buildings, and other property of the corporation; and to superintend and direct the execution of all repairs and improvements of the property.

For all these duties the only remuneration I received, until the year 1829, when my present salary commenced, was a commission of 5 per cent, on the monies passing through my hands as Treasurer, and the whole aggregate so charged is £631 : 12 : 4, for 6 years and a half, amounting to the sum of £27 : 3 : 4 a year. For the first few years I held the office, the income of the college was small, and the commission for any one of these years did not of course amount to any such sum, but as the payments to the college, were very irregular, the annual amount of my commissions were equally so; and one year it will be found, that the whole remuneration which I received for my services was £9 : 6s. commission, with the trifling amount of a dollar and a half each, for making out six leases and counterparts, which by a regulation of the College was allowed in all cases. The duties, it is true, were not at that time so great as they afterwards became; but such as they were, the commission on the amount of annual rents and interest alone, was no compensation for the trouble of collecting them, as they were almost all to be received in very small sums, to be carried to account, and receipts given in every year, besides all the other duties of the office; but subsequently, when large sums passed through the hands of the Treasurer, they brought with them a great increase of duty, and of course a corresponding increase of remuneration was to be expected. During the years when the commission was highest, I had to attend to the arranging and making out all the new titles to the different proprietors of the lands, who came in under the Provincial Law to redeem the rights of time and labor, as almost every proprietor owned lands which belonged, some to the class that paid fourth of the original rent, and some that were subject only to the single rent; it therefore required great care and attention in making out the description of the lands so as to distinguish them; and two very long and special deeds of conveyance were requisite to all deeds of conveyance so redeeming the rent, for most every tenant so redeeming the rent, I had then to lay out all the monies so received on landed security at interest again. Also, during the progress of the building I had very great and extensive additional duties thrown on me, in keeping and settling accounts with the different people employed, and particularly during the latter part of the time, when I was engaged for whole days together in going through and arranging the Contractor's accounts,—for all these extra services I made no charge whatever, nor received anything except the Commission in question; and I will venture to assert that if the whole services I performed in the first six and a half years I held the office, could be so divided as to apportion equally to each year a portion, no one, not even those objecting to the charge, knowing what the duties were (if capable of performing the same) would have undertaken the service without a much larger amount per annum than £27 : 3 : 4. And here I must observe, that on this point the whole question ought to turn; that is, whether upon the whole the allowance of this sum per annum was more than my services entitled me to; if it was, then the College Board certainly did wrong in allowing me so much, and I should think myself wrong in having charged it. But as I know from experience, supported by the opinion of every member of the College Council who knew what my services were, that so far from its being too much, it was an inadequate remuneration to me, I feel myself fully justified in having made the charge. Then, as to the particular charge of commission on the £2,800 mentioned in the report, it will be seen, by reference to the receipt and payment in the account for that year; and all the other items of receipt for the year with a few exceptions, were in small sums, and the payments likewise; consequently the commission on that sum formed the principal part of the whole commission for the year ending July, 1832, and was not as it would seem by the report, merely for transferring that sum, but formed a part of what the Council deemed a fair and reasonable remuneration for the extensive and numerous duties of which I had been in the regular performance; and which I had been without such allowance the College would have been bound to give me a special grant out of the funds, which would have amounted to the same thing. The contrast drawn by the Committee between Mr. Odell and myself, I beg leave to observe, is totally beside the question; the sum on which they maintain that he had not charged any percentage, having never passed through his hands as Treasurer; nor did Mr. Odell at that period hold any office in connexion with the College, for which remuneration was allotted or expected. He was merely one of the Building Committee appointed from the members of the College Board, and the amount of his account consisted merely of the transfer of warrants in the payment of contracts entered into under his direction: But in that case, as the official officer, had to do all the writings, make out all the contracts, and inspect and adjust the accounts of that Building Committee as rendered to me by Mr. Odell.

Then as to the charge of £25 for extra services.—It would appear from the report, that this sum was granted for the services of one day, that is the 7th July, 1829. Now how the committee could be led into this mistake, I know not; the grant was ordered by the Council on the 7th July, 1830, at which time my account for the year ending the first of that month, was not made up and balanced; and when I afterwards made up and balanced that account in my book, I charged that sum under date of the 1st July, up to which time that account was made up, as properly belonging to that year, and in the account transmitted to the House it stands charged for extra past services, as ordered by the Council on the 7th July, 1830, merely referring to the date when the order was made; but the extra services therein referred to, were for superintending, contracting for, and directing the erection of the out-buildings, which were erected in the year 1829, and digging the foundations thereof, and superintending the other works necessary, at and about the time of the first occupation of the College building by the professors, students and servants, and for copying and engraving the code of statutes,—all which took up a great deal of time and attention, as there was much work to be done; and many arrangements to be made after the contractors had occupied the building, preparatory to its being occupied. I also early in the spring of 1830, had to hire a number of laborers by the day for levelling the ground around the building, and with whom I had at the end of every week or fortnight to settle, and to make out accounts and take separate receipts from each, while the work was going on,—a task of no trifling nature with a number of illiterate laborers. It was therefore in consideration of all these extra services, and not for the mere duties of a day, that the grant of £25 was given, the council being of opinion that the salary of £2100 a year, which I was to receive in lieu of commissions, was certainly not more than an adequate remuneration for the ordinary duties attached to the office I hold: Lastly, as to the loss, by discount on the warrants, I can only say, that it arose from absolute necessity. I found there was no money in the Treasury of the Province; and the Treasurer himself told me he saw no probability of his being able to pay the College warrant or any part of it for some months. Money was necessary to carry on the works, and to pay the salaries of the officers; I therefore found the only method of obtaining it was by selling orders on the Treasury to the merchants in Saint John at some discount; and in doing so, I always exerted myself to get them negotiated at the least possible loss to the College; and then only, when money was absolutely requisite for the immediate wants of the institution. It will be seen also by the rendered accounts that I have been several times considerably in advance for the College, particularly in the year ending July, 1829, in which the commission on the £2,800, so much objected to, is charged; for after charging that commission, I was £274 in advance; and although three arrears by the accounts rendered to the House, a balance due to my hands of £400, that has been since considerably reduced, and will all be called for shortly in the payment of salaries and accounts now about becoming due.

I have the honor to be, Sir, respectfully,
Your most obt. and humble servt.
(Signed) GEO. FRED. STREET.

The Halifax Mail which arrived here on Saturday last, announces the arrival of the Mary Ann in 42 days from Liverpool to that Port, bringing London papers of the 11th, and Liverpool of the 12th June: With the exception of additional particulars of the Revolt in Paris we have nothing to communicate to our readers of much importance from Europe;—the state of affairs, however, on the Continent are seemingly of a very serious character.

As our paper was going to Press we received Quebec Papers of the 23d and Montreal of the 21st July.—We hastily give the following extract:

Quebec, 23d July, 1832.
The Report from the cholera hospitals for the last 24 hours, gives 6 deaths, and 2 admissions. Several deaths have, however, occurred at private dwellings, probably from four to seven or eight, and some of these were after very short illness.

The above account is truly of a pleasing character and we hope to learn by the next accounts of the total disappearance of the Cholera in Quebec. The Montreal Gazette of the 21st ult., states, that the disease for the last two days has been on the increase.

We have received New York papers by the Western Mail, by which we regret to learn that there is a frightful increase in the number of cases of Cholera and of Deaths.—The disease, however, has been most generally prevalent and fatal in the haunts of infamy and pollution, and of those conveyed to the Hospitals much the greater proportion were from similar sources.—We are clearly of opinion that there is no danger to be apprehended by persons of correct habits; provided they give the symptoms immediate attention.

From the Albion, July 21.
New cases on the 18th...133—deaths...72.

On Thursday Evening the clergyman of the several congregations in this City, together with a number of the inhabitants met at the Assembly Chapel, for the purpose of forming an Association, and of raising Funds by subscription to assist the poor in cleansing and beautifying the streets, and to provide artless of famished children, and comfort for them, with a view to and the violence of cholera, should it prevail in this city, and to mitigate the sufferings of its victims. A Committee of sixteen Gentlemen, together with the Clergy, with leave to meet so the number, was appointed to carry into effect the object of the meeting. A subscription was opened, and the sum of £19 was subscribed by the Gentlemen present, to enable a Committee, which was appointed for the purpose, to purchase materials and commence immediately the beautifying and purification of the apartments of the poor. The following gentlemen were appointed to carry round the subscription list on Friday, Saturday, Monday, and Tuesday—viz: The Rev. Wm. Gray, and Mr. John Kinnear. The Rev. Mr. Watson, and Mr. G. D. Robinson. The Rev. Mr. De la Say, and Mr. L. H. Devereux. The Rev. Dr. Gray, and Mr. C. A. Kinnear. Messrs. Gilbert T. Ray, and J. Senott. The Rev. Mr. Dillard, and J. H. Blacklee. —Saint John Courier.

Saturday morning.—The Tyro and the Congress still continue at quarantine, and are proceeding with the cleansing of the sick on board the former are evidently better this morning, and all the others on board either vessel enjoy good health.—16.

At a meeting of the Board of Health for the County of St. John, held the 25th July, 1832: Reports were received from the Magistrates in charge of the districts in the Parish of Port-Lancaster, which were read; and the Board have much pleasure in observing from these reports that the utmost readiness has been manifested by the inhabitants to comply with their regulations, and that as much has been effected with regard to cleanliness, as the short time which has elapsed since the establishment of this Board would admit of. They also announce, that no case of Cholera or contagious disease exists within those extensive districts.—ROBERT PAYNE, } CHARLES SIMONDS, Secretary. } Chairman.

ST. ANDREWS, July 26.—It becomes our painful duty to record one of the most distressing events which has ever occurred in this County. Amos Hitchings, junr. a young man of good moral character and highly esteemed by all who knew him, is no more! His death was caused. It is supposed, by the accidental discharge of a gun—he being alone at the time. A large circle of relatives and friends deeply deplore his untimely end;—he has left a widow and two small children to weep over his remains. M. H. was a respectable farmer, and lived about 15 miles from this Town.—Herald.

Whaling Ship.—It is with pleasure we have to announce the fitting out of the Barque Mary, Harper, master, 338 tons burthen, at this port, for a whaling voyage to the South Seas. C. Curry, Esq. of Campo Bello, is the enterprising merchant to whom the credit is assigned this occasion,—the whole outfit is at his own expense, and we sincerely hope he will reap adequate benefit from the speculation. The Mary will be manned with 32 men, principally active fishermen and natives of the county,—she will afford an excellent opportunity for young men who are now spending their time in acquiring a bare subsistence at the coast fisheries, to become experienced seamen, and return with ample compensation for their labour.—16.

Arrangements have been made to place the Dock yards at this port and Pictou, as one of the measures arising out of the abolition of the Navy Board, under other control. The office of Commissioner is to be annulled, as at all other Ports; but instead of substituting for it the appointment of a superintendent, in the person of a Captain of one of the Royal Yachts, as has been in other cases observed, the duties are to be under the regulation of the respective commanders in chief.—Hal. R. Gazette.

HALIFAX, July 20.—The Royal William, steamer, at anchor at the Quarantine ground, 54 hours from Miramichi, did not call at Pictou—has five cabin passengers, and forty in the steerage.—No sickness on board the steamer. Acadian.

On Thursday night last, by the Rev. Mr. McSweeney, Mr. Michael Holend to Mrs. Child, both of the Parish of Queensbury.

Died.
At Fredericton, on Wednesday last, John Dow, Esq. of the Parish of Woodstock, in the 62d year of his age.

In 1816 Mr. Dow was required to represent the County of York in the General Assembly of this Province; and so unbounded was the confidence placed in his undeviating integrity by his neighbours and the public, that he was continued in that important station to the close of his life.

Mr. D. left Fredericton after the short session of the Legislature in May in perfect health. Shortly after his return home, he was seized with a cold which brought on a rapid decline. He then returned to Fredericton for the benefit of medical aid, where he shortly after closed his mortal career without a struggle, "in perfect peace." Mr. D. has left a widow and ten children with a large circle of relatives and friends to lament the loss of a tender husband, an indulgent father, and sincere friend. His remains were conveyed to Woodstock on Thursday to be restored to his family and friends for interment.

"Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright; for the end of that man is peace."

On Thursday morning last, after a lingering illness which she bore with resignation to the Divine Will, Mrs. Olive, wife of Mr. John E. Brown in the 44th year of her age. Mrs. B. has left a husband, four small children and a large circle of friends to mourn their loss.

Last week, at the Almshouse St. John, Samuel Horne, shoemaker, a native of England.—This man had been brought to the Almshouse in a state of complete exhaustion and illness, induced by excessive drinking, and languished about eight days, when he expired in much agony.—The circumstances of his death should operate as a warning to persons who indulge in the use of spirits.

At Fredericton, on Wednesday last, John Dow, Esq. of the Parish of Woodstock, in the 62d year of his age.

In 1816 Mr. Dow was required to represent the County of York in the General Assembly of this Province; and so unbounded was the confidence placed in his undeviating integrity by his neighbours and the public, that he was continued in that important station to the close of his life.

Mr. D. left Fredericton after the short session of the Legislature in May in perfect health. Shortly after his return home, he was seized with a cold which brought on a rapid decline. He then returned to Fredericton for the benefit of medical aid, where he shortly after closed his mortal career without a struggle, "in perfect peace." Mr. D. has left a widow and ten children with a large circle of relatives and friends to lament the loss of a tender husband, an indulgent father, and sincere friend. His remains were conveyed to Woodstock on Thursday to be restored to his family and friends for interment.

"Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright; for the end of that man is peace."

On Thursday morning last, after a lingering illness which she bore with resignation to the Divine Will, Mrs. Olive, wife of Mr. John E. Brown in the 44th year of her age. Mrs. B. has left a husband, four small children and a large circle of friends to mourn their loss.

Last week, at the Almshouse St. John, Samuel Horne, shoemaker, a native of England.—This man had been brought to the Almshouse in a state of complete exhaustion and illness, induced by excessive drinking, and languished about eight days, when he expired in much agony.—The circumstances of his death should operate as a warning to persons who indulge in the use of spirits.
