PROVOCATION OF THE LEGISLATURE.

On Friday the 9th instant, His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor proceeded in state to the Council Chamber and commanded the attendance of the House of Assembly, and after having given his assent to a number of Bills, the Speaker addressed His Excellency as follows:—

"May it please your Excellency,

"The House of Assembly have made provision for the ordinary services of the Province, and have appropriated such further sums for the advancement of the important objects recommended to their attention by your Excellency, as the limited state of the public funds will admit.

"Among the various objects connected with the welfare of the Province, which has occupied the attention of the Legislature during the present Session, the enactment of a Law authorizing Ministers dissenting from the established Church to solemnize Marriage in their respective Congregations, with liberal and proper provisions, will be received with a high degree of satisfaction by a large portion of His Majesty's loyal subjects in this Colony, and will form a distinguishing and pleasing feature in your Excellency's Administration.

"I have now to present to your Excellency on behalf of the faithful Commons of New-Brunswick, a Bill for raising a Revenue in this Province, also sundry Bills of Supply to which I pray your Excellency's assent;—and the House of Assembly feel perfectly assured, that the appropriations placed at your Excellency's disposal will be promptly and faithfully applied."

His Excellency was then pleased to make the following Speech to both Houses:—

"Mr. President and Honorable Gentle-

men of His Majesty's Council,

"Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House of Assembly,

"I HAVE had the satisfaction of giving my assent to all the Bills which you have passed during the Session; and while I am convinced that there are none among them, which can operate otherwise than beneficially,—I am particularly gratified to find that the New Marriage Act, which has now passed into a Law, is calculated to give a high degree of satisfaction to a large portion of His Majesty's loyal subjects in this Colony."

"Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House of Assembly,

"In His Majesty's name I thank you for the provisions you have made for the services of the current year; and it will be my earnest desire to see the appropriations placed at my disposal, promptly and faithfully applied.

"Mr. President and Honorable Gentle-

men of His Majesty's Council,

"Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House of Assembly,

"My best acknowledgements are due to you for the care and attention you have bestowed upon the several subjects recommended to your consideration; and it has been to me a source of much pride and pleasure to observe the wisdom and harmony which have guided your deliberations up to the close of your Legislative duties.

On Saturday Evening the annual festival of the Sons of Erin was held in this town with that joyous spirit which peculiarly attaches itself to the day. The Dinner was of the first order and reflected credit on the provider. The utmost hilarity, harmony, and good feeling prevailed during the evening, and the company having met in expectation of the most friendly intercourse, so they parted having had their wishes fully realised.

We have to apologize to our readers for the omission of our usual supply of general intelligence, and we also regret the appearance of a few errors in our two previous numbers, we allude principally to those in the list of Militia appointments,—which, however, have now been corrected. From the haste with which it is often necessary to issue our paper from the press, and connected at the present moment with circumstances we could not foresee, it is impossible to avoid the occasional occurrence of such mistakes; but we shall continue to urge forward with all possible correctness and expedition all matters entrusted to our care.

Advertisements omitted last week will be found in to-day's Gazette.

We subjoin the following Summary of the latest European intelligence:—

By Mr. Babcock, of St. Andrews, passenger in the Splendid from Boston, we have been favoured with papers of last Monday.

The injunction of secrecy removed.—

The injunction of secrecy having been removed with regard to the proceedings of the Legislature in the recent secret session, we learn in substance that the General Government feels bound to accede to the decision of the King of the Netherlands, and has expressed a desire that this State would accede to that portion of its territory, which has been awarded to the British, to the United States for an "ample inden-

nity" either in money or other territory.

The proposition has been freely discussed by our Legislature, and they finally passed resolutions authorizing the Governor and Council to appoint Commissioners to meet Commissioners

which may be appointed by the General

Government, to enter into a negotiation as to the amount of indemnity, and in case the commissioners agree, their report is to be laid before the next Legislature for acceptance or rejection.

VERY LATE FROM EUROPE.

By the ship Sampson, at N. York, from London, we have dates thence to the evening of the 6th February, and from Portsmouth to the 7th.

England and France appear to have taken a decided step on the affairs of Holland and Belgium; they had ratified the treaty, and held decisive language to each of the other three powers. The vexed question relating to the Belgian Fortresses had been arranged. The Belgian government had intimated a desire to establish commercial relations with the United States, and to establish here a Minister Resident.

The Reform Bill is still dragging on slowly

in the House of Commons. Sir Henry Parnell,

the Secretary of War, has resigned. He abandoned his seat from the House on a question embracing the foreign policy adopted by the British Government.

Four of the Bristol riots have been hung,

the rest pardoned. "The court martial on Capt. Warrington was still sitting. An immense mob had collected at Manchester, in obedience to the call of the political Union Society, and

been dispersed by the civil and military authority.

The state of Italy was very unsettled.

All exportations of bullion from England to the continent had ceased, but the Exchanges

had not yet sufficiently risen to bring it back again.

Don Pedro had taken formal leave of Louis

Philippe, preparatory to embarking on his projected invasion of Portugal. He was dressed in a Portuguese Field Marshal's uniform.

The prominent topic by this arrival is the discovery and the suppression of an extensive

From the Saint John Courier.

A Meeting of the city and county Magistrates having been held on Wednesday the 14th instant, for the purpose of considering measures for the prevention of the health of the inhabitants against the introduction of the Cholera; it was Resolved, that a board of Health should be formed, composed of the following Members, for the purpose of adopting such regulations as might be deemed conducive to this purpose:

L. Donaldson, Esquire, Mayor of the City of Saint John.

Wm. B. Kinnear, Esquire, Recorder.

Alderman Ansley, T. Harding, W. Olive,

Justice J. Ward, R. Payne, Alexander Hoyle,

M. D. Thomas Walker, Esq. Thomas Paddock, Esq.

The following directions, extracted from a work of celebrity, and appearing to the Board extremely judicious, they feel it their duty to promulgate them and recommend their adoption in private families on the appearance of that disease.

"1st. The greatest care ought to be taken to avoid wet; damp feet, and the frequent consequence, a diarrhoea, been found among the most common prodromes to the disease.

"2d. To the utmost practicable extent, disfigure the house; removing to an out-house, or at least, locking up in a separate room, all carpets and hangings whatever, and all needless articles of clothing.

"3d. Get rid of all superfluous domestics; and take care that it shall be impossible for those that are retained to communicate with any one out of doors.

"4th. Strip entirely of furniture, except bedsteads, &c. one or two rooms for the private infirmary, the nearer the door, the more distant from the apartments of the healthy, and the more airy, of course, the better. To these alone must the Physician and the Police have access.

"5th. Be provided, if possible, with the means and materials for washing and bathing within doors; with hot or vapour baths; wines (the best are port or sherry); brandy; opium in its solid and liquid state; calomel; mustard and linseed meal; ether; some essential oils, as cajuput, peppermint; or cloves; and a case of lancets.

"6th. All windows should be opened and every room thoroughly aired several times a day. Our fire-places are admirably adapted for ventilating as well as heating apartments; and in their use we have a great advantage over northern nations, whose stoves have contributed much to the ravages of this pestilence, enabling its virulence to withstand even a Russian winter.

Chloride of Lime should be used to sprinkle all floors occasionally, and a small vase containing it should be kept in the rooms principally inhabited. Sudden changes of temperature should be avoided; hot days succeeding to cold nights have been found powerfully to predispose to infection.

"7th. All letters and supplies of food must be received from the Police messengers and purveyors, with precautions adopted in Lazarettos. They must be drawn up to a window of the first floor, by means of a rope having a yard of chain and an iron pail attached to it. Whatever is not injured by wet, should be then plunged into a metal or earthen vessel filled with a weak solution of Chloride of Lime, or vinegar and water. Bread, flour, and anything that would be injured by moisture, should be exposed to the heat of an oven before handling papers must be fumigated thoroughly with sulphur.

"8th. That regimen which the individual has found best suited to his constitution, should be adhered to; those who have been used to active life, of course, diminishing the quantity of food in proportion as they are debarred from exercise. It being universally admitted, that whatever disorders the stomach and bowels predisposes to Cholera,—all unripe fruit, watery vegetables, as melons, cucumbers, &c., and all sharp liquors, as cider, must be avoided. The use of the weak acid beer of the Prussians has been found extremely injurious; and the sale, both of that sort of beer and of cider, has been entirely prohibited at Frankfurt.

Wine should be used, but in moderation. The system should neither be lowered by unwonted abstinence, nor excited by any violent stimulus.

"9th. It is needless to say that personal cleanliness is of vital importance. We need not point out the usefulness of baths. The whole body should be rubbed daily with soap and water, and afterwards sponged with vinegar. The sympathy existing between the functions of the skin and those of the intestine canal are most intimate. Linen, especially bed-linen, cannot be changed too often.

"10th. The Physician should carry phial of Chloride of Lime with him wherever he goes. His hands, after touching a patient, should be carefully washed with soap and water, and sponged with the solution of the chloride. The attendants on the Plague wear a double handkerchief, steeped in vinegar, over the lower part of the face. The following has been recommended,

Dried Chloride of Lime, 12grs.

Sugar, 1oz.

Gum Tragacanth, 20grs.

This being flavoured with some essential oil, should be made into lozenges of 18 or 20 grains, and one of them held in the mouth during the visit."

At a Meeting of the Subscribers, Medical Practitioners in Fredericton, on the 13th day of March, 1832, they took into their deliberate consideration, the expediency of framing a general system, respecting the charges to be made in the several branches of Practice, and have unanimously agreed to adopt the following Resolutions, in conducting their practice and mode of charge viz:—

Where cases shall occur, in which it is unnecessary, and might perhaps be improper to prescribe medicines, to charge a compensation for their time and professional giving attendance and advice.
