

ed into by France, the project of a law relative to the American debt, will be presented to the Chamber of Deputies to-morrow. A clause will be added, the purport of which will be to guarantee eventually those French interests which may chance to be compromised."

The "engagements entered into by France" here referred to, are no doubt the solemn pledge of the King that the Bill of indemnity should be presented to the Chambers. This will accordingly be done, but it will doubtless be rejected instantly. In the meantime, the recall of the French Minister and the prompt order [for such is in effect] for the American Minister to quit Paris, leaves no doubt of the determination of the French Government to withhold the indemnity and prepare for war.

The Paris correspondent of the Chronicle remarks upon the article in the Monitor as follows:

"This spirited reply to the offensive paragraph in the President's Message, is considered in Paris as published more with a view to satisfy opinion and induce the Chambers to vote the 25 millions with less repugnance, than as expressive of any real indignation warlike feeling entertained by the French Government. The official part of the Monitor being dated the 13th, its expression to-morrow, led the people to expectation of the project of the Chamber on Wednesday. There was no sitting, however, on that day, and it was understood that it would be presented on Thursday."

BOURSE.—Paris, Wednesday, Jan. 14.
Half-past Three.—The market has to-day been depressed in consequence of the announcement of the recall of the French Minister to the United States, and that passports had been offered to the American Minister in this Court.—It is understood that Mr. Livingston, the American Minister, will leave Paris for London to-morrow; to this becoming known may be attributed the fall below 77 for the general opinion is now that hostilities will follow.

NAVAL.—Our Navy Yard at Charlestown presents at this moment rather a busy scene; a number of the largest sized guns, and a great quantity of ammunition were received at the yard while we were there a few days since, and we understand that more is on the way, and that orders have been received "to have the Constitution and Boston fitted for sea as quick as possible." The former is nearly ready, and the latter is now in the Dry Dock. She has been newly coppered and is ready to come out. The Independence has been laid up some time, but as soon as the Boston is out, she is to go in. The "receiving ship" of the line, Columbus, is also to be got ready.

The new Dry Dock is to be begun upon early in the spring, and a new ship house is also to be erected. All hands in the yard appear lively, and from the remarks of a number, we should think a war with any country would to them, be a very agreeable amusement.—Boston paper.

LONDON, Jan. 16.—The English elections and President's Message each continue to occupy a large portion of the attention of Parisian politicians. The latter of these it is anticipated will lead to changes in the present Cabinet. The Constitutional states that Ministers have determined on again introducing the indemnity measure to the Chamber of Deputies, and that the 17th instant is the day fixed on for making the attempt. The Quotidienne, speaking on the same subject, recommends the adoption of a new treaty, in which America shall somewhat modify her demand, and so far reduce it in amount that the Chamber of Deputies may feel themselves in a situation again to entertain the subject and discuss it.

Prince Talleyrand is in daily communication with the King; and it would seem that although not recognized as one of Louis Philippe's Cabinet, still he possesses very considerable influence in the Royal closet.

A Report is in circulation that Sir Howard Douglas has been returned to Parliament for the City of Worcester. We have not been able to trace the statement to any authentic source, but we believe it came by the way of Miramichi. It would give us great satisfaction to find it confirmed. Sir Howard faithfully represents the British American Colonies, and we doubt not would render us most effectual service in the House of Commons. It must not be forgotten that a Pamphlet from his able pen, defeated the Timber Bill, and preserved our commercial existence.

CENTRAL BANK.—At a Meeting of the Stockholders of the Central Bank of New Brunswick, holden at the Bank on Monday, the 2d day of March, 1835, the following Persons were elected Directors for the ensuing year, viz.:

- Henry G. Clopper,
- Oliver Smith,
- James Taylor,
- F. E. Beckwith,
- John Simpson,
- Thomas Pickard,
- William J. Bedell,
- George J. Dibblee,
- John Robinson.

At a meeting of the Directors, subsequently held at the Bank, HENRY G. CLOPPER, Esq. was unanimously re-elected President.

We feel happy in drawing the attention of our readers to an Advertisement in this day's paper, calling a public meeting, having for its object the formation of a Floral and Horticultural Society in this place. We have long thought the establishment of such a Society here, a matter of no small importance; indeed we look upon it as fraught with the most beneficial effects, for many and manifest reasons, which it is scarcely necessary now to enumerate; and we earnestly hope the present attempt will be entirely successful. It originated with a gentleman of distinguished taste and judgment, whose spirited exertions merit our warmest acknowledgments. If it is well conducted, (as we feel assured it will be) and premiums judiciously proposed and awarded to successful experiments, we anticipate, as a necessary result, much active competition, and the consequent development of capabilities in our soil which have hitherto more than doubted. At all events, we are satisfied the way proposed is the one which will most directly lead to a fair trial of what degree of success can be attained here in the elegant as well as the useful departments of Horticulture. A celebrated writer and natural Philosopher hath quaintly said, that "The life and felicity of an excellent gardener is preferable to all other diversions." If it be so, (and the name of Evelyn is high authority,) we should suppose every one would devote some portion of his time at least to an art accompanied with such felicitous effects. We hope, indeed, that scientific and experimental inquiry in gardening will soon become fashionable; and no one can doubt that both rich and poor will find it worth their while to give more attention than they hitherto have done to an occupation, which is not only healthy and diverting in itself, but the source also of many of the luxuries and comforts of life.

Reports of Cases in the Supreme Court, by G. F. S. Berton, Esq.—We have commenced the publication of the Supreme Court Reports from the beginning of the present year, and propose to publish the Cases determined at each Term in a pamphlet, immediately after the Term. The number for Hilary is now ready for delivery. Uniformity in size, &c. will be preserved, that the numbers may afterwards be formed into volumes. Annual subscription, Twelve Shillings and Sixpence. Our paper of to-day contains the commencement of the Work.

A remarkable phenomenon was observed here on Sunday night. About half past nine our attention was directed to a luminous body in a Southern direction, precisely corresponding with the usual appearance of the Aurora Borealis. It was at first a single stream, extending in an irregular arch from West to a few degrees beyond South, not resting on the horizon, but elevated a little above it. In a short time its form had greatly changed, and at length it gradually separated into two streams, leaving a considerable space in the midst. These were apparently absorbed by the surrounding atmosphere; and, in a minute or two after they had ceased to be perceptible, a meteor, which for size and brilliance might have been called a second Sirius, was seen rapidly descending from about the point which had formed the centre of the luminous arch: its descent was apparently perpendicular, but its light became extinct before it reached the horizon.

In attempting to account for so singular a phenomenon, the first idea which strikes us is, that it might be nothing more than an extension of the Aurora Borealis. This however it certainly could not be, for no luminous appearance was observable towards the North; from whence, according to all accounts, the Aurora of our hemisphere invariably originates. It was indeed manifestly and entirely insulated. Could it then be referred to the Zodiacal light which in some parts of the American Continent is described as frequently, if not uniformly, observable? The sky was perfectly clear, and the time within the limits assigned for the possible duration of the Zodiacal light. But that light is always represented as appearing in the form of a pyramid, having the sun for its base, with which this appearance was far from corresponding; not to mention that so long after sun set the Zodiacal light must have made, we conceive, a very different angle with the horizon. Some would perhaps imagine that it might be only an attenuated vapour. This we should certainly consider not improbable, had not the light which pervaded the stream been so uniformly distributed, and so exactly similar to the Aurora, as to impress us with a conviction that it must have belonged to the substance itself.

On the whole we are for the present disposed to conclude, that the phenomenon, to which we thus call public attention, must have been a collection of electrical fluid, of the same description with that which has usually appeared to diffuse itself from the poles. And if Dr. Franklin has rightly attributed the great accumulation of electric matter in the polar regions to the crust of ice which there prevents its passage into the earth, perhaps the extraordinary cold which has this winter descended so far to the South may have contributed to such an accumulation in an unusual quarter. The cold of the night was certainly intense for the first of March: the thermometer at the time indicating ten degrees below zero, and the mercury falling in the course of the night to twenty-four degrees. Should our conjecture be well-founded, the diffusion must have taken place in the second or third region of the atmosphere; in which case it will most probably have been observed in places far distant from us. We shall look with some curiosity for any notice of it which may have been taken by our philosophical friends in the United States—until the appearance of which we reserve a more astronomical description of the phenomenon.

MR. JOHNSTON'S EXHIBITION BALL.—We had the gratification of seeing last Friday evening, the various and beautiful performances of Mr. Johnston's Pupils in the elegant accomplishment of Dancing; and we do not hesitate to say they were in the highest degree creditable to Mr. J. Indeed we have never witnessed a more pleasing display of "Graceful motion to harmonious sound." We were happy to find many persons of distinction present; and we doubt not, all who witnessed the interesting scene will have much pleasure in bearing testimony to Mr. J.'s ability in bringing forward pupils in the art of gently tripping

"On the light fantastic toe."
Quadrille and Fandango, Hoitippe and Roel, seemed alike familiar to the juvenile party, and it is difficult to say where the greatest excellence appeared; but all agree that remarkable proficiency distinguished every one of the youthful performers.—Com.

Married.

On Wednesday morning last in Christ's Church, by the Reverend the Archdeacon Coster, Mr. George Woods, Merchant, to Jane, eldest daughter of Mr. James Fenton of Dramore, Ireland.

At Waterbury, on the 19th ult. by the Rev. Michael Doyle, Baptist Minister, Mr. Joseph Wasson, to Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. John Barton, all of that place.

Died.

At Saint John, on Sunday the 22d ult. after a short but painful illness, which he bore with fortitude and resignation to the Divine Will, Thomas Sandall, Esquire, in the 50th year of his age. In all the endearments of private life he was esteemed as a kind husband, an affectionate parent, and a sincere friend. As a citizen and a public character, he was justly and universally respected; and it is with deep regret we have to record the loss of so valuable a member of this community, who has been prematurely cut off in the midst of his usefulness: thus verifying the words of sacred writ, "that in the midst of life, we are in death." His remains were interred on Thursday afternoon last, deeply lamented, Mrs. Eliza, consort of Mr. William O. Smith, and eldest daughter of the late William Durant, Esq. of that City.

Floral & Horticultural Society.

It is proposed to establish at Fredericton, a FLORAL and HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY. Many persons have already engaged to forward this desirable object, and a paper still remains open at Mr. Evelyn's, [Book-seller.] for the signature of any other persons who may be disposed to give it a similar encouragement. Notice is therefore given, that a Meeting of all Persons favorably disposed to such a Society, will take place at the County Court House on SATURDAY the 7th March, at two o'clock, for the purpose of its organization and the transaction of any other business incident thereto.
