next week,

The American papers furnish English dates to the 11th November.

The accounts from France represents that Mr. Barton was about to return to the United States, as the French have not acceded to his last demand for payment of the first instalment, we do not see, while bearing in mind the language of the late message, that any other course can be left for him to take.

DEATH OF ADMIRAL DE RIGNY.—This distinguished officer of the French Marine, who commanded at the battle of Navarino, died at Paris, Nov. 7th. His complaint was dropsy in the chest.

England was perfectly tranquil, and business flourishing.

FLORAL AND HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.
We come now to what may, in an especial manner, be called the ornamental part of Gardening.

Our fruit trees cannot bloom many days, but our gardens must always be in blossom; indeed a well regulated one, must abound continually with such things as strike and delight the eye; and where climate will permit, the Gardener should be able to shew a fresh blossom for every day in the year. Even in this cold climate, and with our short summers, innumerable varieties of flowers may be cultivated by him, and he may have the satisfaction of seeing his grounds arrayed in a mantle of many colours during the whole season, after the fragrant but ephemeral blossoms of the fruit trees have passed away.

Although the subject of flowers is a delicate one, that must be touched tenderly, yet we must be permitted to say we have always been enthusiastic admirers of "the beautiful," especially in nature's works, and shall, therefore, take leave to express our admiration whenever we behold it.

This delightful branch of Horticulture has always had, it is confessed on all hands, more devoted followers than any other. Indeed, the culture and management of flowers is undoubtedly the most pleasing and interesting occupation of the Gardener;—as they require his tenderest care, so they ever engage his tenderest regard. Their beauty and variety of tint and form, appeal in a thousand ways to his feelings, and alternately awaken and engross the various sentiments and sympathies of his mind; indeed, their diversity of hue and form and fragrance is such, that they may be said of themselves almost to constitute a language. The skillful Florist finds no difficulty in arranging a bouquet to express any emotion of the heart, and almost every thought of his mind. In short, we look upon the flower garden with mingled feelings of delight and admiration, that baffle our powers of description. On one side, we find gay and brilliant flowers to weave into festoons and garlands for the festive board; on another, we behold those whose mournful hue and drooping form and attitude fit them to mark and decorate the grave. This flower speaks the language of friendship—that tells the tale of love; this discourses of gladness and joy—that relates the story of sorrow and woe.

So rich, so rare, and so diversified are the family of flowers, that there is not a blossom in the garden, from the gorgeous dahlia, arrayed in royal purple, down to the meaneat violet, from which the Florist cannot gather a sentiment, it may be, of joy or of sorrow.

During the few weeks of warm and glow-summer in the past season, we witnessed exhibitions at the Saturday weekly meetings of this Society, of as beautiful bouquets as ever delighted the eye of an amateur. Some arranged in sand, with such exquisite taste and brilliant effect, as left the beholder nothing to do but to admire. One of those presented by Mr. Woolforde, (the President of the Society) was, in every respect, matchless, and bespoke at once the delicate taste of the amateur and the artist. We will make an attempt, feeble however we are sure it must be, to describe it. The nucleus or centre was the largest and finest sulphur coloured double Holly Oak (from a seedling of his own raising) we ever saw. This centre was surrounded by eight different and distinct varieties of beautiful double pinks in as many different circles, graduated in hue from the white pink, streaked delicately with red, which immediately encircled the Holly Oak, to the deep crimson of the Royal William, which formed the border or external circle. But it is impossible to give a just idea of this exquisite bouquet. What with the beautiful center flower and the nicely graduated tints of the different circles of pinks which surrounded it, the whole presented such a radiant display of floral beauty as we have never seen surpassed.

Many native wild flowers, brought into garden cultivation by Mr. Watts, were also exhibited at the meetings of the Committee. Some were very remarkable for their beauty, and they confirm our belief that garden cultivation will improve them, as well as every thing else under the sun that grows out of the earth.

We often saw the West India plants, presented by Captain Douglas of the brig La Plata, thriving under the careful hand of Mr. Watts. Only one however bloomed the last season; but, perhaps, another summer may find them all in blossom; at all events, we have much satisfaction in this opportunity of making an experiment upon tropical exotics in our frosty climate.

Our readers, we are sure, will require no apology for concluding this article with an extract from an author, whose merits, we think, may safely rest for their judgment upon the beautiful passage which follows:

"The cultivation of flowers is, of all the amusements of mankind, the one to be selected and approved, as the most innocent in itself, and most perfectly devoid of injury or annoyance to others. The employment is not only conducive to health and peace of mind, but probably, more good will have arisen and friendships been founded, by the intercourse and communication connected with this pursuit, than from any other whatsoever: the pleasures, the extacies of the Horticulturist, are harmless and pure; a streak, a tint, a shade, becomes his triumph, which though often obtained by chance, are secured alone by morning care, by evening caution, and the vigilance of days; an employ, which in its various grades, excludes neither the opulent nor the indigent, and teeming with boundless variety, affords an unceasing excitement to emulation, without contention or ill will."

At Halifax, on Sunday se'night, John Howe, Esquire, senior Editor of the Halifax Gazette, in the 82d year of his age—a man much esteemed and respected by all who knew him.

CENTRAL BANK of NEW BRUNSWICK.

Fredericton, 8th December, 1835.
A DIVIDEND OF FOUR AND A HALF PER CENT. has this day been declared upon the Capital Stock of the Central Bank of New Brunswick, for the half year ending on the first MONDAY in December instant; and the same will be payable to the Stockholders at the Bank, on or after FRIDAY the 8th day of January next.
By order of the President and Directors,
ROB. GOWAN, Cashier

VALUABLE PROPERTY, FOR SALE.

THE Subscriber offers for sale that commodious Dwelling HOUSE and STORE, with suitable Out Houses, and other conveniences, to form a complete Establishment on a large scale. The situation is well known to be one of the best and most public in Fredericton—adjoining the public Steam Boat and Sloop Landing, granted for that purpose by the Legislature, and on that account a superior water privilege, where a wharf might be extended, in addition to the one already erected, sufficient to land all the goods and passengers on that arrive at Fredericton in the course of the season; and to a person who is qualified to establish a genteel Boarding House, there is no place on the River Saint John that offers a more eligible situation.

The Lot is 68 feet on Market Street, and runs 165 feet towards the River on Regent Street, exclusive of the water privilege. The main Building is 50x30 feet—three stories from the wharf, and two from Regent Street, and finished complete to the garret. The lower story, on level with the wharf, (formed on three sides with a substantial stone wall, the front with frame work,) is used for the storage of Goods; from this there is an entrance into a frost proof Root House, 32x16 feet, floored and partitioned, capable of containing 2000 Bushels of Potatoes. The Stable is also on this level, and entered from the wharf, preventing all interference with any other part of the premises. In addition to the Store and small Counting Room, which are fitted up in good style and convenient for the transaction of business, there are two large Parlours, two Sitting Rooms, a good Kitchen, and three Bed Rooms, exclusive of the Garret, which is finished into four Bed Rooms. The out Store, fronting on Market Street, is 30x20 feet, two stories; a Wood House is attached, extending 44 feet until it joins the Stable and Hay Lot, which forms an enclosure from Market Street to the wharf, and so arranged that the whole can be visited without going out of doors.

The Wharf, Stable and Hay Lot, Wood House, Root House, Veranda, Fencing, &c. were all added during the two last summers, consequently are entirely new and in the very best condition, as well as every defect that could be found in the main Building, which was erected in 1823, carefully repaired and improved.

To any of our enterprising Western Neighbours, who are about embarking in the Lumber Trade on the River Saint John and its Tributaries, and who wish to have a central situation convenient to all the Public Offices at Head Quarters, to transact their general business, the above is most eligible, being at the head of the Sloop navigation of the River, and in all other respects convenient for business.

The above Property can be viewed at any time, and further particulars made known by applying to Messrs. CROOKSHANK & WALKER, Saint John, or to the Subscriber on the premises.

N. B.—If not sold previous to 1st May next, will then be let for one or more years.
