

Author has spent one-third of his life, either as an officer in His Majesty's service, or as a private individual, exploring the Colonies of the British Empire; that since his return to Europe his stores of information have been enriched by official documents derived from the Colonial Office, the India House, the Board of Trade, the Custom House, &c., and by very many valuable private and semi-official communications from the various Companies connected with the Colonies, the Governors of each Settlement, and numerous Merchants interested in their welfare in London and Liverpool, as well as in the Colonies themselves.

The manner in which this elaborate statistical work has been conducted, in its large and expensive form, entitled "The History of the British Colonies," the increasing demand for which has required a second edition of the first volume, is the best guarantee which can be offered for the execution of the "British Colonial Library," on which no pains will be spared to render it worthy of being received as a National Work, and deserving the support of an enlightened people, ever generously prompt to give efficiency to any undertaking calculated to augment the wealth, extend the power, and promote the glory of their country.

The First Volume will appear in January, and a Volume will be issued every Month in succession, until the whole is completed. Country Booksellers are therefore requested to transmit their Orders in due time through their London Agents.

Each Volume will form a complete Work in itself.

JACKSON'S HOTEL.

THE Subscriber grateful for past favors, begs leave to intimate to his friends and the Public generally, that owing to the circumstance of the late fire in Fredericton, he has been induced to take the well known and commodious stand at present occupied by Mr. Robert Chestnut, at the Public Steam Boat landing, where it is his intention to recommence immediately.

BOARDING ESTABLISHMENT

upon the most genteel and comfortable system. No pains shall be spared to render the reception of visitors pleasant, and their stay agreeable. The situation as a summer residence is surpassed by none in the place: it commands an extensive view of the river above and below, as also a most pleasing prospect of the opposite shore: the officer's barracks and square stands immediately in front, where frequently the military band enlivens the neighbourhood during the Summer evenings. Families can be accommodated with private apartments and it is his intention as he goes on, to improve every thing connected with the Establishment as it may be found to require; and he trusts that nothing shall be wanting on his part to render it a first rate and well known Hotel.

A good Groom will be in constant attendance and the best servants employed.

HENRY JACKSON.

Fredericton, 25th April, 1836.

N. B. As soon as the Establishment is fairly commenced another notice will be given.

WANTED.

A MAN SERVANT, accustomed to Cows and Horses, and having some knowledge of the general work of a Garden. He must bear an unexceptionable character for strict sobriety, honesty and steadiness.—Apply to the Rev. Dr. Jacob, King's College.

April 27th, 1836.

CARD.—The subscriber respectfully presents his warm thanks to the Officers and Men of the gallant 43d Regiment, and to the inhabitants of Fredericton generally, for their kind, generous and sympathizing exertions in his behalf during the progress of the fire which destroyed his house and premises on the morning of the 16th instant. To the military he would say, "Your conduct on this, and every similar occasion since your arrival here, has been beyond all praise; it has seldom been equalled—never exceeded." To Civilians, particularly to those who literally ventured their lives to save his property, he would say "He cannot thank you, for language cannot describe his feelings; but he feels assured, that men who could nobly dare so much for a stranger, must have an approving conscience, which will satisfy the minds more than any language the subscriber could use." To both classes he would say, "Gratitude, warm, heartfelt gratitude for you; kindness, shall ever fill his bosom."
