

beyond anything that has been known in the annals of steam navigation.

The first regards the loss of the Steam Boat Moselle on the 25th ult. upon the river Ohio, at a short distance from Cincinnati. We regret to say that this was caused entirely by the criminal recklessness of the captain, who anxious to sustain and even to increase the speed of the vessel, was increasing the speed of his steam to the utmost, and actually was sitting on the safety valve, to prevent its giving notice of alarm. It is thought that there cannot be a loss of fewer than two hundred persons on this unhappy occasion, as it was known that about three hundred were on board, and it is not ascertained that more than thirty or forty have been rescued. The descriptions of the scene consequent upon the explosion are frightful, the mournings on the shore, of bereaved friends, are distressing even in the perusal; but there is an appendix to the account which will cause indignation in some readers, and increased commiseration for human frailty, in others.

It appears that on the previous voyage the captain made attempts such as the most reckless temerity only would resort to, to beat another vessel, and instead of meeting either remonstrance or reproach from his passengers, he received from them a card of commendation for his skill and—prudence! The public therefore, who encourage these things, instead of prosecuting the owners of such vessels, are themselves accessory to the mischiefs that befall them; nor can it ever be expected that reforms shall be effected on these waters until reprobation and punishment, instead of applause and reward, shall result to these wanton hazards of human life and property.

Hardly have we breathed after reading the doleful tidings above recorded, ere we have the report of another, near the same waters. The Oronoko steam boat on her way to New Orleans burst her boilers just after leaving Princeton, Miss., by which accident she blew overboard between 15 and 20 persons, and severely scalded 40 or 50 others. Four or five of the former were saved, but the lives of most of the latter are despaired of, they having been scalded inwardly.

THE STEAMERS.—The Sirius sailed on Monday for London. A large concourse of persons assembled on the Battery to witness her departure. She had in all about 60 passengers. The Great Western positively sails on Monday. She has about 100 passengers engaged.

An affair of honour took place in the vicinity of this city, on Thursday last, between Captain W. K. M'Cord, of the Royal Volunteer Artillery, and Ensign M'Donald, of the 34th Regt. Shots were twice exchanged, without effect, when the difficulties were adjusted, and the parties left the ground. The differences between these gentlemen, it is said, arose in consequence of the guard at the Chateau, under the command of Ensign M'Donald, not turning out at the time when Capt. M'Cord was passing with his company of Volunteer Artillery.—Quebec Transcript.

TO THE PUBLIC.

THE following is a true copy of an original document in my possession.

CHARLES LLOYD,

Principal Grammar School, Bathurst.

April 23, 1838.

Bathurst, 16th April, 1838.

Mr. CHARLES LLOYD, Sir—The undersigned read with surprise in the Gleaner of the 10th inst. the report of the proceedings of "a respectable and numerous attended meeting," held in this Town on the 2d of April, in reference to the affairs of Mr. Leggett, in which your conduct is severely censured.

From the ingenious manner in which those proceedings are published, we must confess, there appears to be a design to burden you, in the public estimation, with the reproach of all classes in this community, which we conceive to be most audacious and unjust.

Therefore, in justice to you, Sir, in vindication of our own opinions and character, and from a due regard for the dissemination of truth, we beg thus to assure you, that we know nothing of "a public meeting of the inhabitants of Bathurst," held in this place for the purpose alluded to; nor do the resolutions reported to have been adopted at such meeting convey our sentiments.

Had the names of the active movers in the proceedings been given to the public, as they ought to have been, we would then have deemed this letter unnecessary.

We are, Sir, your obedient servants,

(Signed)

HENRY W. BALDWIN,

ROAD NOTICE.

WHEREAS it appears by the plan and report of survey made by the Honorable Thomas Baillie, Commissioner and Surveyor General, of various Streets in the Town Plat of Frederickton, as reserved in the original Grant and plan of said Town, that divers encroachments and obstructions exist on the following of the said Streets.

The Street now called Charlotte Street, lying in the rear of said Town;

And the continuation of the several Streets leading thereto, viz:—
Northumberland Street,
Westmorland do.,
Carlton do.,
Saint John do.,
Church do.,
Smith do.,
Sundry do.,

The two Streets last named, which form the upper and lower boundaries of the Town Plat, are required to be eight Rods in width, and all the others four Rods.

Now We, the Commissioners of Highways for the Parish of Frederickton, do hereby give Notice to all and every person or persons who are in the occupation or possession of the said several reserved Streets, or who have caused the same to be obstructed or encroached upon, that they do forthwith abate, and remove the said encroachments and obstructions.

And in order that the individuals may be better informed of the nature of the said encroachments and obstructions, the plan and report of the survey will be seen at the office of Charles P. Wetmore, Esquire. Dated at Frederickton, this 26th of April, 1838.

CHARLES P. WETMORE, Commissioners of Highways.
