DEBATES OF THE House of Assembly.

INDUCED by the pledge of the late House of Assembly, (as contained in their Resolution of last Session, to provide for the Reporting of their debates, and to furnish them gratuitously to any Printer who would undertake to print them daily in Frederickton,) we have made all the necessary preparations for issuing a daily publication of the debates of the present Session; and Mr. Blatch, who originally established and has for seven years executed the Reporting, was prepared to furnish us with the Debates, as reported by himself, agreeably to the intentions of the same Resolution. Our first Number would have appeared about ten days ago; but owing to the House of Assembly having shewn, by their discussions on the subject, a reluctance to follow up the intentions of the late House, by patronizing our attempt, our project was delayed. We have however, again determined to prosecute the work, as far as lies in our power; convinced that a daily publication of the Debates of the Assembly will be interesting and useful to the public generally, and confident that we need fear no competition with regard to the style in which we are enabled to execute it. Mr. Blatch, the Reporter, who is at present attending on the House, furnishes us with his manuscript reports, and we have therefore commenced the publication according to our original intentions. The work will be printed in large quarto, four pages of which, containing twelve closely printed columns, will be issued daily; provided there is sufficient matter in debate; printed with new type, imported expressly for the purpose, and on fine paper, with a full and copious index to the work. The subscription price will be Twelve Shillings and Sixpence for the entire Session, exclusive of Postage. Persons wishing to subscribe to the work will please transmit their names to either of the following Agents; and upon the list being returned to this Office, the Reports will be forwarded to them from the beginning, and regularly continued thenceforward.

We shall occasionally introduce into the Columns of the Gazette, such of the Debates as may be interesting and important to the constituency of the Province generally, and more particularly such as bear upon the Commercial and Agricultural interests of the community.
