

add, that the snake of rebellion is rather scathed than killed, and though no immediate outbreaking is perhaps, to be apprehended in any part of the Province, yet a vigilant watch is requisite, lest some sudden gust may kindle the smoldering embers, and light up the fire of rebellion in a fiercer flame than ever. Chénier, the rebel leader, fell in the fight. The adventurer Girard has committed suicide. It is said on good authority that neither Papineau nor O'Callaghan have as yet been seen at Middlebury, in the United States; and that it is more than probable they are still lurking in some part of the Province. T. S. Brown has been arrested at Middlebury, Vermont, for debt, at the suit of the Montreal Bank. McKenzie, according to latest accounts, was at Buffalo. He is said to have escaped in woman's attire. Scott, the M. P. P., the most brutal and impudent pretender of the whole gang, is a prisoner, and many others of the instigators of rebellion in the same county are also in captivity. All the leaders of the incorrect movements in the Lake of Two Mountains are now accounted for, except J.
Gibson, M. P. P. and the Rev. Mr. Chénier, for the arrest of both of whom large rewards are offered.

Our attention has been directed to a pa-graph, proceeding from the pen of the Editor of the "Pictorial Base," which appeared in that paper of the 6th ultimo, and advertising, in the most seditious language, on the unhappy state of affairs at present existing in the Canadas.
We will not disguise the odiousness of the Gazette by extracting a single quotation from such a combination of calumny and stationery, nor can we for a moment entertain the hope that such are the sentiments of any portion of our population from one end of this great Province to the other. We do in our edit, in the most unequivocal manner, to tell the Editor of that print, that every honest man in this Country, views with abhorrence the issue of such dangerous principles, and that every assistance has not only been most readily and cheerfully rendered by the Editors to the Tribune on their route to Canada, but they are prepared to follow them should necessity require their co-operation in defence of His Majesty's Government.

New Bank Notes.—It is with much satisfaction we find, that the Directors of the City Bank have caused the issue of a quantity of Five Shilling and Six Pence Notes. They are very neatly executed, in the style of their larger Notes, and, in the present extreme scarcity of small change, must prove a great accommodation to the trading community.
Checks for Seven Shillings and Six Pence each, payable at the Commercial Bank in this City, have been issued by the Branch of this establishment at Miramichi. These pass current in the Province, and will also add materially to public convenience.—Saint John Courier, Dec. 30.

OUTRAGE UPON THE QUEEN.—On Saturday afternoon the 4th of Nov. about three o'clock, as Her Majesty was passing in her open carriage through the Bridgewater, St. James' on her way to Buckingham Palace, whether she was proceeding from Brighton, a person in the garb of a gentleman suddenly sprang to the side of her carriage, and holding up his fist in a threatening manner, made use of obscene language, adding, "and I'll have you off your throne and your mother too."

His name is John Good, late a captain in the 10th Hussars. He is described as a man of gentlemanly appearance, and about forty years of age.

During his examination the prisoner continually interrupted the witness, saying "he did not care a d—n what they said about him; he was King of England, King John the Second, and that the present was the 8th year of his reign." The evidence given was merely a recapitulation of the facts above stated, and at the close Sir Frederick Roe determined to remand the prisoner for further examination on Saturday next. He was then removed in custody to the new prison, Westminster. There appears to be no doubt of the man's insanity.

Captain Good imagines himself to be the son of George IV. and his Queen Caroline. He had played off some of his canting before this affair, and had been brought up two or three times at various police offices—always asserting his royal birth and pretensions to the throne.—London paper.

The Dowager Lady Exmouth is dead, aged 82, having survived the gallant Admiral, her husband, by a few years. The death of Sir David Erskine, son of the Earl of Buchan, is also announced.

Fifteen men and boys were killed or dreadfully mangled, by a large damp explosion near Metherton, Worcestershire.

ceived, and will be inserted in our next number.
