2	The Grand Jury for the County, in closing their labours at this time.]

The Grand Jury for the County, in closing their labours at this time beg leave to state, that they have given their most serious attention to the different subjects given them in charge, and beg to remark that numerous evils exist in the town from the illicit sellers of Ardent Spirits, and from the frequent occurrence of Minors, Apprentices and Servants, resorting to those haunts of vice and immorality. We are fully impressed with the necessity, of your honorable Court adopting some effectual remedy to suppress the same; the Grand Jury not having sufficient power to compel parties to appear before them. Fathers, and guardians of Minors, either from affection or respect are unwilling to bring such matters before the public, consequently the offending persons pass with impunity. But we are satisfied in our minds, that there are such haunts, and that they encourage Apprentices and Children to gamble and dissipate at the expence of Parents and Masters. We would recommend that the number of Licensed Taverns be reduced in the town of Fredericton, and that none be allowed but those of comfort and respectability.

We would also recommend that your honorable Court would appoint a Stipendiary Constable, whose duty it should be to examine and report upon the state of Taverns in the Town; and check the growing evil of regrating and forestalling, so forcibly given us in charge at the opening of the Court. This being the only way we can point out to remedy this growing evil; small sum say fifteen or twenty pounds a year taken from the licence fund, or such other as your honorable Court might have at your disposal, would be sufficient for this purpose: and we are decidedly of opinion, that such an appointment would greatly tend to put down an vil which is daily growing to an alarming extent.

We have also given considerable attention to the County accounts laid before us at the pening of the Court, and are highly gratified to find the accounts connected with the Alms louse are of such a very satisfactory nature; and much is due to the Commissioners and Mr. leming, the Keeper, for the attention paid to the comfort of the inmates of that establishment. We would also beg leave to notice, the very handsome and correct manner, in which Mr. Beek, the County Auditor, has laid the Accounts and all documents connected with them, efore us; and consider that we would not have discharged our duty to that officer, if we did ot thus express our entire satisfaction. All which is respectfully submitted.

To which Mr. Justice Robinson, the Chairman, made the following reply: GENTLEMEN,-The sentiments expressed in this Report, meet my most hearty concurrence, ad that of the whole Court. I have long deplored the existence of the evils which you have pinted out, with regard to the sale of Spirituous Liquors, and the unhappy consequences nich result from it; and you may be assured, that the Court will devote their most serious tention to their removal; and especially in the adoption of your recommendation, of appointg a Stipendiary Constable, to see that the rules and regulations for the government of Taverns duly enforced, and to detect the illicit sale of spirits, and the growing evil of forestalling

The Court are also much gratified to find, that the accounts of the Commissioners of the ms House and the Work House, and those of the County generally, are so entirely satis-

GENTLEMEN,-In now discharging you from farther attendance at this Session, the Court ank you for the consideration which you have given to the various subjects, to which your ention has been called, and for the readiness with which the important functions of your
