CHIGNECTO POST AND BORDERER.

SACKVILLE, N. B., MAY 24, 1888.

—Parliament prorogued yesterday.

—The Republican Senators at Washington held a caucus last Friday at which they practically determined to vote down both the Fisheries Treaty and the Mills Tariff bills.

—Russia and Montenegro are reported to have concluded a treaty, by the terms of which Montenegro will undertake operations against Austria in the event of a Russo-Austrian war.

—A syndicate, to be known as the Michigan and Canada Tunnel Company, has been formed to tunnel Detroit River at Detroit. The syndicate represents more than $100,000,000 of capital.

—The British war vessel Egeria has been detailed to survey the route of the proposed cable between Canada and Australia. The work will take three years to complete. The Egeria left Auckland, New Zealand, to commence the survey on the 2nd inst.

—A Montreal despatch of the 18th inst. says the cattle exporters have been taking legal advice in reference to the combination entered into between the Allan, Dominion and Beaver steamships companies, to coerce them into accepting insurance certificates issued by the Montreal and Export Lloyds on terms named by the companies, and are informed that the combination is illegal and that the companies are criminally liable.

—The reflux of "exodians" continues, and every steamer brings home numbers who a few years, months or weeks ago, left the Island in the hope of making money rapidly in some other part of the world. Many of them are glad to get back again to "the old sod," and some, indeed, are so rejoiced to get home that they can hardly realize that they are once more on the Island. The majority of these can be depended upon to stay at home in the future.—P. E. I. Agriculturist.

—The Lawrence-Townley estates bubble seems to have finally burst. At Toronto last week a meeting of the directors of the "Consolidated Lawrence Chase Townley association" was held, when the finishing coup was put to hopes that had been fondly nursed for many years by an opinion from Mr. S. H. Blake stating that he believed it was useless to seek further to prosecute the association's claim to the estates in England, which were estimated to be worth all the way from fifty to a hundred and fifty millions. These "estates" have been before the public for a long period, and shrewd operators have managed to extract comfortable incomes from the expectant and anxious heirs.

—The will of the late Archbishop Lynch was made four years ago, and on his death-bed he added a codicil. The will proper, as is customary among bishops, bequeaths everything he died possessed of to his successor in office. His personal effects at the time of his death consisted of a gold watch and one suit of clothes. The codicil prays his successor to give £60 to a widowed sister of the testator, at present living in poverty in Ireland. A further clause in the codicil states that he forgives all his enemies and gives them his blessing, and prays that God in His goodness will forgive them also.

The Day we Celebrate.

To-day in all parts of the civilized world and in each hour of the twenty-four, Englishmen and the descendants of Englishmen will keep high holiday in commemoration of the sixty-ninth anniversary of the birth of Britain's Queen. In every land the sun shines upon the dawn will be greeted with booming cannon and waving banners, and once more the sound of Britain's drum-beat will encircle the world in honor of the best monarch who ever sat upon Britain's throne. Notwithstanding the revolutionary tendency of the age, Queen Victoria is beloved and reverenced by her subjects as few sovereigns have been in any period of the world's history, and the esteem in which she is held is not confined to her own people, for her virtues both as a queen and as a woman have won the respect and admiration of other nations. Although the length of her reign has only been exceeded twice in the history of England, our gracious soverign has not yet attained to the allotted span of the Psalmist, and she may live many years to receive the homage and affection of her people. If this should be the case the Queen's Birthday will be celebrated each year with increasing honors, and not only in the British Isles, but in Canada, Australia, India, Africa, and the islands of the sea,—wherever Britain has planted a colony and wherever British rule and protection are acknowledged and appreciated,—a loyal and loving people will fervently cry "LONG LIVE THE QUEEN."

To-day marks another important epoch, for it witnesses the commencement of the nineteenth volume of the CHIGNECTO POST. When the first number of this paper left the press, Queen Victoria for more than thirty years had ruled the greatest nation of modern times, and for nearly a decade had been wearing the weeds of widowhood and mourning the loss of "Albert the Good." The Queen still reigns and is still enthroned in the hearts of her people, and the POST with a steadily increasing patronage and an ever widening field of usefulness is rapidly approaching its majority, with abundant prospect of attaining a vigorous and healthful old age. More than this our inherent and characteristic modesty will not permit us to say, but we may suggest to those who have hitherto withheld their assistance, that now is an excellent time to subscribe.

A Remarkable Platform.

It is not uncommon in deliberative assemblies for a member, in the heat of debate, to forget his own personal dignity and the respect due to his associates and indulge in language which is supposed to be characteristic of the pot-house or the fish market; and it would be manifestly unfair to judge the character and standing of any representative body by the wrathful utterances of one of its number. Consequently, when Senator Ingalls, of Kansas, indulged in a fierce attack on Senator Voorhees, of Indiana, Senator Vest, of Missouri, and Senator Blackburn, of Kentucky, the force of his rhetoric and the fervor of his vituperation did not create a very profound sensation, even when it provoked retorts quite as remarkable for wealth imagery and force of expression. Such incidents are of too frequent occurrence in the legislative halls of the Republic to call for anything more than passing comment, and the Ingalls-Voorhees episode would have passed ere this into comparative oblivion but for the action of the Kansas Republican convention at its recent meeting at Wichita. It was reserved for that convention to calmly and deliberately adopt and place on record a platform or series of resolutions which for bold and striking metaphor and free and vigorous use of the vernacular must challenge admirations in the coming ages. This convention was composed of representatives of the Republican party of Kansas, who assembled to choose delegates to Chicago to assist in selecting a candidate for President, "and it is with profound gratitude," say they, "that we acknowledge "our great obligation to Senator John "J. Ingalls for the able and masterly "manner in which he everlastingly "mopped the earth with these repre-"sentatives of murderers and assassins "of Andersonville and Belle Isle and "Knights of the Golden Circle of Indi-"ana; and we here and now indorse "every word, syllable and sentence "contained in his two great speeches "in reply to these cowardly traitors." After such an ebullition as this it is not surprising to find it "Resolved, "further that the delegates to the "Chicago convention would represent "the Republicans of Kansas by giving "a solid vote for John J. Ingalls as a "candidate for President of the United "States."

In consideration of the clamor in some quarters for commercial union, which is only another name for annexation, the Wichita platform is both interesting and instructive. And it should not be forgotten in this connection that Senator Ingalls is one of the bitterest opponents of an equitable settlement of the fishery troubles, and one of the strongest advocates of a retaliatory policy against the Dominion.

Investigation Required.

An esteemed correspondent at South Rockland, whose letter we have not room to publish this week, calls attention to the case of a man whose leg was broken last February by the fall of a building and who has become a town charge. It appears that the unfortunate man is sadly in need of surgical attendance, and the matter should at once receive the attention of the proper authorities. According to our correspondent the leg was set, soon after the accident, and encased in a wooden box, in which condition it has been left ever since. Such a statement scarcely seems credible, and but for the thorough reliability of our correspondent, we should regard the story as a hoax. We are not acquainted with the persons concerned in this inhuman and disgraceful treatment of an unfortunate man, but it is evident that a thorough investigation of the matter should be made at once, and if the facts are as stated an example should be made of the guilty parties.

PERSONAL.

—Sir Edward Kenny, of Halifax, is seriously ill.

—Mr. D. L. Chubbuck and wife will spend the summer at Amherst.

—Lord Stanley, of Preston, our new Governor-General, will sail for Canada next Thursday.

—E. W. Plunkett has left England for Canada to go on with the work of completing the Western Counties railway.

—Rev. F. M. Young has resigned the charge of the Dorchester Baptist church, resignation to take effect not later than July 1st.

—It is reported that Hon. Mr. Foster, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, will shortly be married to Miss Smith, daughter of the Deputy Minister of Maine.

—Rev. Joseph Hogg, of Moncton, has accepted the call to St. Andrew's church, Winnipeg, as successor to Rev. Mr. Pitblado. He will leave early in June.

—Six thousand persons assembled at Phœnix Park, Dublin, Sunday, to take action on the resolutions adopted by the Irish-Catholic members of parliament in reference to the recent papal rescript. No priests were present. Lord Mayor Sexton presided. John Dillon, William O'Brien and other Parnellites made speeches. The manifesto of the Irish members was endorsed by acclamation. Dillon denied that the rescript was only moral doctrine. He said the Vatican would treat no other country in Europe in the same way. The Irish would neither submit nor bow to Rome and would show the world that they were able to discern between its spiritual and political demands.

—It is said that W. H. Rouke, of St. Martins, proposes to develop the manganese mine in that locality. The mineral is known to exist there, Mr. Gould, lately connected with the Stockton mine of Sussex, having operated there some years ago.

—The friends of the Scott Act in Elgin, Albert Co., are raising money to aid in suppressing the liquor traffic in the parish. They held a pie social two weeks ago from which they realized $26.

PARLIAMENT.

OTTAWA, May 17.—Sir John stated that it had been decided to drop the following bills in order to close the following session as early as possible:

To abolish forfeitures for treason and felony.

Respecting application to Canada of the Criminal law of England.

To amend the copyright act.

The bill to amend the libel law was considered in committee.

Sir Richard Cartwright recognized the force of the bill which would save men from being taken into another province to be tried. He said the bill did not affect cases pending.—The bill passed.

OTTAWA, May 18.—Mr. Kirk called attention to the order in council of last fall, restricting the period for lobster fishing. He objected to the class of evidence taken by the lobster commission. Out of 77 witnesses examined not a single person was representated to be a fisherman. In regard to the south coast of Nova Scotia there was no evidence that there was any falling off in the lobster fisheries. He attributed the falling off in the lobster fishery to Government regulations permitting lobsters to be caught so late in the season when lobsters were in spawn and the shell soft. It would be better for the lobster fisheries to be utterly destroyed rather than the fishermen kept in poverty by present restrictions. He suggested that lobster fishing might be allowed to continue for two months later in the fall of the year.

Gen. Laurie said that while restrictions in lobster fishing were desirable and necessary, he hoped Hon. Mr. Foster would see his way clear to concede to residents of the south coasts of Nova Scotia an extension of time during which fishing might be permitted. This was not a question of lobster packing. On the southwest coast of Nova Scotia the business consisted chiefly in sending live lobsters to the States, and therefore the question was mainly one in which fishermen were interested rather than packers. He hoped the minister would see his way clear to grant the concession asked for.

Hon. Mr. Foster expressed his regret that Mr. Kirk should have advocated the exhaustion of the lobster fisheries. An industry amounting to seventeen million pounds of canned lobsters alone, besides the live lobster trade, and employing several thousands of people, was too large an industry to be sacrificed. He believed the public sentiment of the country was pretty nearly ripe for some fairly strong preventive measures for the preservation of the lobster industry. The history of the lobster industry in the United States, Norway and other countries, showed that lobster fishing was constantly decreasing through over fishery, and if Canada desired to preserve her fishery stringent measures should be taken to prevent over fishing, even though lobster fishermen had suffered from that restriction. The United States lobster fishery was pretty nearly exhausted and now their supply is being drawn from Canadian shores. Evidence taken by the lobster commission pointed strongly in the direction of restricted measures and the commission unanimously recommended the close season adopted by the department last summer. Mr. Kirk had advocated fall fishing, but the great mass of evidence was against fall fishing. Packers had written the department and their evidence, given before the commission, showed that to grant fall fishing would be a fatal blunder. Canning, and not the live lobster industry, was most destructive to fish and therefore protective regulations had to be made. If on further inquiry it was found that the regulations were not best, the department would be prepared to change them. If it were found that something more than a close season is required, resort would be had to that, and the wish of the department was to give permanence to this important industry. If changes were found necessary he would have pleasure in acceding to them.

OTTAWA, May 20.—In the commons yesterday, Sir John moved concurrence of the house to the address of regret from the senate at the approaching departure of the governor general and Marchioness of Lansdowne. He made brief references to the ability with which his excellency had performed the duties of his office.

Mr. Laurier seconded the motion, remarking that the expressions in the address were not mere formal, conventional expressions of perfunctory lip courtesy, but a deep expression of the feeling Canadian people entertained towards their excellencies.—Motion carried.

On motion for the third reading of the bill to amend the Electoral Franchise act, Mr. Laurier moved the addition of a clause to the effect that a revision of the lists should take place in all electoral divisions where the election of the sitting member was now controverted.—The amendment was defeated by 74 to 53.—Bill passed.

The house went into committe on the railway subsidy resolutions, and Sir Charles Tupper explained that practically only two subsidies were being given this year, and these under exceptional circumstances. The government were obliged to turn a deaf ear to the importunities of many companies, in consequence of the absolute necessity there was of avoiding increase in the public burdens of the country.

Mr. Mitchell brought up the old story of the purchase of the Intercolonial railway by the Kamper syndicate. He read documents at considerable length to show that negotiations had taken place between Kamper and the government on the subject.

Sir Charles Tupper said there was no doubt that propositions of that character might have been made, but he challenged Mitchell to show that an official reply had been given to them, or that in any way they had received consideration.

Sir John stated most emphatically that no proposition for the sale of the Intercolonial railway had ever been considered by the government or any member of it. The proposition before the government had had reference to the establishment of steel works in Nova Scotia.

MAY 21.—The commons met at 10 this morning for the purpose of enabling the Governor General to prorogue on Tuesday evening. The greater part of the day was taken up in routine business.

On the vote for expenses of the fisheries commission, Mr. Mitchell said if in the excitement of political turmoil the United States senate should reject the fisheries treaty he hoped that the Dominion government would deal liberally during the coming fishing season with American fishermen in order to give the senate a chance to think the matter over in quiet, and reconsider their decision. He believed the treaty was much more favorable to the United States than the people of that country believed.

Sir Richard Cartwright asked if the government had power to nullify the modus vivendi in the event of the treaty being rejected.

Sir Charles Tupper stated there was great doubt as to what action the United States senate would take as to the fishery treaty, but he was still hopeful that it would be in favor of adoption. It was in the power of the Governor General, in the event of the treaty being rejected to terminate the modus vivendi; otherwise, the modus vivendi could be continued for two years. There was every reason to believe that such a continuance, together with rigid protection of our fishing grounds, not neglecting due courtesy to American fishermen, would allay any feeling that might exist in the States. It would be premature to disclose what action the Canadian government would pursue.

Parrsboro.

—The weather still continues very cold. It seems more like March than the middle of May.

—Dr. Robbit, of London Hospital, has settled in Parrsboro where a good opening awaits him.

—Some of the merchants complain of dull times but from the amount of goods coming in the town one would be led to believe their complaints were unfounded.

—We have ten barques taking in cargoes at West Bay and more are expected soon. The deal boom has now commenced and for the next four or five months Parrsboro will be a lively place.

—Messrs. Moses Harrison and M. L. Tucker have purhcaed building lots from Thomas E. Day, on Main St., and intend erecting two fine residences. They are to commence soon a large lumber operation at Moose River.

—The Queen's Birthday promises to be lively. There is to be an excursion from Spring Hill and another from Windsor, a cricket match between the Spring Hill and Windsor teams is to be played in the Parrsboro cricket grounds. The ladies of St. George's Church will have a dinner, tea and refreshments.

—I was informed the other day, on reliable authority, that the deposits in the Savings Bank together with this amount of Savings Bank stock held here, emounted to one hundred and seventy thousand dollars (170,000.) Where is there another town in the Maritime Provinces of the same age and size as Parrsboro that can show such a bank deposit. Then besides that there is a large amount of money deposited in the Halifax Banking Co's. office as well as in banks in Halifax, Amherst and Windsor. Perhaps the action of the Federal Government, in reducing the interest on deposits, may have a tendency to decrease the deposits, and I am under the impression that that would be a benefit to the place as the money is really needed elsewhere. One thing that has a great influence towards increasing the deposits in banks in this country and thus preventing it from being invested in other channels is that it thus is excluded from taxation.

Rockland Station.

—Farmers have done very little as yet in the way of farming, on account of the cold and backward spring.

—The Salvation Army have marshalled their host, and opened fire on the citadel of Satan at South Rockland.

—Messrs. James Anderson & Sons have been fitting up their wharf, which was damaged by the ice during the winter, to have it in good shape for the summer shipping of deals, of which they have from ten to fifteen schooner loads for the St. John market —At Charlottetown last week Mr. Justice Peters made the final order in the affairs of the old bank of P. E. Island. The banking company was dissolved, The amount now in the hands of the liquidators, viz., $180,000, is to be paid into the Bank of Nova Scotia, there to remain bearing interest for three years, at the expiration of which period it is to be handed over to the Receiver General of Canada.

—The Londonderry Times is the name of a new paper published at Acadia Mines. The "home print" part of the paper is bright and newsy. The remainder is about like the average "patent outside."

—The North Sydney Herald reports that the catch of seals this season is about 100,000 below the average.

—Over 1000 immigrants arrived at Montreal last week.

Wood Point.

—Arbor Day was duly observed here, quite a number of trees were planted, the school-room nicely decorated by pictures and mottoes prepared by pupils has given it a homelike appearance.

—The enterprising Freestone Quarrying Co., have already sent away three cargoes of stone from their quarry and have a large three-masted schooner now about loaded for the American market.

—Farmers are once more driving their teams afield, "the stubborn glebe" is yielding to the plough, the dancing harrow speaks of covered seed and predicates a yielding harvest. Only a small amount of seeding has yet been done. The land seems wet and cold and our farmers are looking for cold rains yet that will injure potatoes if planted.

—Mr. Simeon Outhouse, the old man hale though close on fourscore years, is engaged in his usual business of shipping piling, and will ship some thirteen cargoes this season. The excellent demand for this kind of timber this season has much encouraged our lumbermen and will doubtless lead to an increased output another winter. Our men who had deals to ship at the opening of navigation were much pleased at the prices obtained in St. John for them.

Amherst.

—R. L. Black, M. P. P., was in town this week, not looking for another inspector's billet we hope.

—Bycicles are again on the stir but do not appear to be as numerous as in past years. Where is our ex premier with his little wheeler?

—At the Church of England sociable on Tuesday evening $40 were raised towards painting and otherwise improving the interior of the church.

—Mr. Leary, of New York, is talking of building another raft at or near Five Islands, Colchester Co., as soon as the one on the stocks is launched.

—William Blair is about selling out his soda water and pop business to G. D. McCallum of Spring Hill Mines, who will continue to run the business here.

—In our last week's "budget" referring to the Prince land matter we unintentionally used the name of "John Prince" as being the claimant. Brother William was the person we referred to and we gladly make the correction. Will the Moncton Times please note.

—The Bank of Nova Scotia has marched into their new quarters in stone building recently erected by the Bank. For beauty and convenience for "shaving" their office cannot be excelled in the province and reflects great credit upon the builders Messrs. Rhodes, Curry & Co.

—O. S. Weeks, Barrister, of Halifax, was in Amherst a few days ago in the interest of the Spring Hill "Scott Act" offenders now in jail. Mr. Weeks approves of Judge Weatherbe's "latest" on the "Scott Act" and thereunder feels confident of getting his clients clear of "durance vile."

Dorchester.

—L. White, Barrister, of Sussex, is in town.

—F. Devine, Official Court Stenographer is in town.

—Joseph Warren has recovered sufficiently to be out once more.

—Several handsome new residences are being put up this spring.

—Dr. Goodwin, of Point de Dute, is talking of settling in Dorchester.

—H. A. Powell Esq., of Sackville, is in town engaged in Ogden vs. Anderson.

—It is understood that an American Company will shortly re-open and work the Couch Copper mine. This valuable property has been hung up by litigation for some years

—Angus D. McDonald, lately from Sackville, is about to open the blacksmith shop formerly owned and occupied by Allan McDonald. He will be assisted in the Carriage building line by Mr. Sutherland, of Truro. There is room in Dorchester for a good mechanic, but poor men need not apply.

—Wm. McConnell, of Sackville, was seized with a paralytic stroke on Tuesday morning while coming from Sackville to Dorchester, on the Spring Hill accommodation train. On the arrival of the train at Dorchester he was immediately conveyed to the Dorchester Hotel, where Dr. Church attended him. Mr. McConnel is improving steadily and will recover.

—On Tuesday afternoon His Honor Judge Tuck, opened a special sitting of the Equity Court to try the Equity suit of Amos Ogden vs. James Anderson, et al. The questions at issue are the conflicting interests of the Plaintiff and Defendant in about 250 acres of woodland in the Parish of Sackville. The cause will probably occupy three or four days. D. L. Hanington Q. C., for Plaintiff W. B. Chandler, Esq., for Defendant.

—On Sunday last, about 5 p. m. a convict named Rafuse made his escape from the Penitentiary. He was employed about the barn and when the guard was in another part of the building Rafuse leaped through the window and ran for the woods. The keepers were immediately sent in search, but were unsuccessful. It is rumored that Rafuse had outside assistance and got away in a schooner which sailed from the Government wharf Sunday evening.

—The long expected entertainment by the school children was held on Tuesday evening in Robb's Hall. The hall was crowded and the programme all that could be desired. The children, under the able instruction of Mr. Geo. J Oulton, their teacher, showed unlooked for ability and proficiency. The choruses were excelently well managed, the recitations and character songs exceedingly good, and the whole entertainment was most enjoyable. The proceeds, amounting to upwards of forty dollars, are to go towards laying a sidewalk down Church St., to join the one to the school house.

—The stained glass window for Trinity Church has arrived and been placed in position at the end of the Sanctuary. The window, which is the magnificent gift of Mrs. J. Minnie Chandler, in memory of her mother, Mrs. Forsayeth, consists of three lights. On the one to the left is depicted the nativity, the middle one represents the baptism of our Lord, and the one to the right the ascension. At the bottom of the light to the left is the text: "The word was made flesh." In the middle: "This is my beloved son," and beneath the representation of the ascention is the text: "He ascended into Heaven." Beneath the three lights are three trails containing the dove, lamb and chalice respectively. At the top of the window is a cinquefoil representing the session of Christ in glory. At the base of the window is a Latin inscription: "To the glory of God and in memory of Harriett G. Forsayeth. Died July 4th, 1886. Aged 74 years.
