"August Flower"

I had been troubled five months with Dyspepsia. The doctors told me it was chronic. I had a fullness after eating and a heavy load in the pit of my stomach. I suffered frequently from a Water Brash of clear matter. Sometimes a deathly Sickness at the Stomach would overtake me. Then again I would have the terrible pains of Wind Colic. At such times I would try to belch and could not. I was working then for Thomas McHenry, Druggist, Cor. Irwin and Western Ave., Allegheny City, Pa., in whose employ I had been for seven years. Finally I used August Flower, and after using just one bottle for two weeks, was entirely relieved of all the trouble. I can now eat things I dared not touch before. I would like to refer you to Mr. McHenry, for whom I worked, who knows all about my condition, and from whom I bought the medicine. I live with my wife and family at 39 James St., Allegheny City, Pa. ## Swimmin' In The Creek.

Vacation's come and now, of course,
The boys don't hev to go
To school 'nd soon as chores are done,
If they don't hev to hoe
Potatoes, why, all on 'em meets
Down where the trees are thick,
'Nd then ondress and with a shout
Go swimmin' in th' creek.

I tell you what, when I wuz young
'Nd hed my holidays,
They warn't no pleasure neat h the sun,
That's what I thought, least way,
Thet cud compare, when days were hot
'Nd things began to stick,
To cuttin' down through our back lot
Nd swimmin' in th' creek.

When I wuz down to town one time
I tried a city swim
In what they calls their Rooshun baths
Down in a cavern dim,
Where they biled me fer a dollar
Till it nearly made me sick,
'Nd I opined 'twarn't ha'f so good
As swimmin' in th' creek.

'Nd sometimes when I hears the boys
A shoutin' in their fun
While I'm er blowin' furrers
'Neath th' hot 'nd brillin' sun
I wish I wuz a boy agen
So's I cud cut and lick
Right down to Sandy Holler
Nd go swimmin' in th' creek.

LITERARY NOTICES.

The Bronte Family, by Dr. William Wright, will be published by D. Appleton & Co., with illustrations. This remarkable book contributes absolutely fresh information to the history of the Bronte family, and it presents certain romances of family history almost as strange and thrilling as anything in the novels of the gifted sisters. The complete book will prove a work of absorbing interest, and one which will be indispensable for those who wish to understand the influences which directed the development of the Bronte sisters.

DONAHOE'S MAGAZINE seems surely to have in it the elements of great usefulness and power. It breathes a spirit of deep human sympathy and broad fraternity that is most inspiring. It differs from the other magazines in that it takes editorial position on the various questions of the day, besides having all the usual features of an illustrated review the array of articles for September is especially fine, the two most striking being John Boyle O'Reilly, the Man, by Edward A. Moseley, of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and 'Faith and Science,' by Rev. Father Zahm, who made the sensation at the Plattsburg Summer School by his advanced ideas. In this number also begins a serial story by Marcus Waterman, the artist, illustrated by himself.

JIMMY MAKES A JOKE.—Harry—'Can I go over to Jimmy Jones' just a little while? He wants to give me something.'

Mother—' Yes.'

An hour later—' Well, what was it?'

Harry—' Pshaw, it was only measles.'

Harriet E. Hall of Waynetown, Ind., says: 'I owe my life to the Great South American Nervine. I had been in bed for five months from the effects of an exhausted Stomach, Indigestion, Nervous Prostration and a general shattered condition of my whole system. Had given up all hopes of getting well. Had tried three doctors with no relief. The first bottle of the Nervine Tonic improved me so much that I was able to walk about, and a few bottles cured me entirely. I believe it the best medicine in the world. I cannot recommend it too highly.' Sold by A. Dixon, druggist. 6 m.

A friend visiting a well-known physician one Sunday found him busy on that day with his patients. 'Don't they allow you to rest on Sunday?' asked the friend. 'Sunday!' exclaimed the physician, 'why that's the only day the poor can afford to be ill on—Heaven help them!'

To the editor of the Post.

Please inform your readers that I will mail free to all sufferers the means by which I was restored to health and manly vigor after years of suffering from Nervous Weakness. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thanks to heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong. I have nothing to sell and no scheme to extort money from anyone whomsoever, but being desirous to make this certain cure known to all, I will send free and confidential to any one full particulars of just how I was cured. RHEUMATISM IN THE KNEES.—SIRS,—About two years ago I took rheumatism in the knees. which became so bad that I could hardly go up and down stairs without help. All medicines failed until I was induced to try B. B. B. By the time I had taken the second bottle I was greatly relieved, and the third bottle completely removed the pain and stiffness.

Baptist Church Items.

On Sunday last Rev. W. H. Warren gave to his congregations an interesting sketch of the proceedings of the convention recently held at St. Martins. A resolution unaminously passed at the convention requested all the pastors to give such a report to their churches at the earliest possible convenience, in order that a deeper interest might be awakened throughout the denomination in behalf of the great enterprizes for the furtherance of which the churches had pledged their cordial assistance.

The important business transacted at St. Martins, especially the decisions reached in relation to the manner of separate Conventions, is the absorbing topic of conversation among Baptists at the present time. That the unity of the Maritime Baptist Convention has been maintained is a source of general satisfaction. But there are many difficulties still remaining to be considered, and some anxiety continues to exist in relation to the outcome of the new propositions. Home missions and academic education, together with several other provincial matters, are to be managed by each province for itself. By what organization this is to be effected has yet to be determined. The union of the three N. B. Associations has been suggested as a possible arrangement for one province. Others propose to have a fourth organization, to be known by some such name as the New Brunswick Home Missionary Union, to control the Baptist affairs of this province, leaving Nova Scotia and P. E. Island to adopt a similar course. The objection to this plan is that it multiplies machinery when we already have too much, increasing the number of annual gatherings when there are already too many. A third proposal is to empower the New Brunswick delegates to the Maritime Convention to meet one day before the general Convention begins its sessions, and take provincial matters into consideration, appointing its own boards, and controlling the local affairs of the Baptist churches of the province. This suggestion is becoming popular. The advantages connected with it are these: There will be no increase in the number of annual gatherings; attendance of N. B. delegates at the general Convention will be undiminished; home mission statistics can be embodied in the Year Book; and interest in the general work of the denomination will be enhanced.

Sackville Baptist church contributed about $320.00 to the funds of the Convention. This compares favorably with the contributions of any previous year, and is much larger than the contribution of any other Baptist church in eastern N. B., with the possible exception of the church at Moncton.

The delegates from Sackville to Convention were Dr. Sangster, Edw. Read, I. C. Harper, Colpitts Fillmore and Rev. W. H. Warren. Mrs. Warren represented the Sackville W. M. A. S. at the Women's Missionary Union. A banner painted by her for the use of the Union was very much admired.

The Baptist Pastors of Westmorland County are making plans to unite with those of Cumberland County, N. S., in organizing a Ministeral Conference to meet once each quarter for friendly intercourse and for the exchange of views on all matters pertaining to pastoral work. The first meeting is to be held at Sackville some time in October. It is believed that this arrangement will be very helpful both to the pastors and to the churches.

The various Sunday-schools connected with the Baptist church in this vicinity are being sustained with a good degree of interest. At Mount View the new organization is progressing admirably. Its fine library is giving much satisfaction, and both teachers and pupils seem to take great pleasure in the good work.

We are also pleased to notice that the Yound People's Union moves steadily forward in its appropriate work. At the recent meeting of Convention at St. Martins this movement was heartily approved of, and it was evident that the young people are true to their denominational relations. The work is becoming very wide-spread. It needs judicious superintendence and it is sure to be productive of grand results.

Respecting the general outlook of the Baptist church in this place it is only necessary to remark that a good degree of harmony prevails, the usual meetings of the church are regularly sustained, and a fair measure of progress is being made in spiritual culture and activity. There is, however, serious need of an awakening among members who seldom fill their places, and of a resurrection among those who have a name that they live whilst in reality they are spiritually dead.

INTERVIEWER.

RHEUMATISM CURED IN A DAY.—South American Rheumatic Cure for Rheumatism and Neuralgia radically cured in 1 to 3 days. Its action upon the system is remarkable and mysterious. It removes at once the cause and the disease immediately disappears. The first dose greatly benefits 75 cents. Warranted by Amasa Dixon.

Tommy—Paw, I read that a man can stop chewing tobacco by eating candy. Do you suppose that is true?

Mr. Figg—Probably.

Tommy—Say, paw, if a little boy was kept filled up with candy all the time, don't you suppose that he would never want to learn to chew tobacco?

Rebecca Wilkinson, of Brownsvalley Ind., says: 'I had been in a distressed condition for three years from Nervousness, Weakness of the Stomach, Dyspepsia and Indigestion until my health was gone. I bought one ottle of South America Nervine, which done me more good than any $50 worth of doctoring I ever did in my life. I would advise any weakly person to use this valuable and lovely remedy; I consider it the grandest medicine in the world. A trial bottle will convince you. Warranted by A. Dixon, druggist. 6 m.

'Don't you think,' the mother said, proudly, 'that her playing shows remarkable finish?' 'Yes,' replied the young man, absently, 'but she was a long time getting to it.'

The Hay Trade.

SOME EXTRACTS FROM A CIRCULAR LATELY ISSUED BY THE DEPARTMENT OF TRADE AND COMMERCE IN REGARD TO HAY AND ITS SHIPMENT.

In consequence of a short crop of Hay in Great Britain and some parts of continental Europe, there has existed for some months past a large demand for export thereto, which demand has been partly met by shipments from Canada. The imports into Great Britain during the past six months have aggregated 62,766 tons as against 26,066 tons during the corresponding six months of 1892. The imports for the month of June were 9,045 tons as compared with 4,459 in June, 1892. Of these quantities Canada furnished 1,881 tons as against 1,705, and the United States 2,338 tons as against 234, Holland furnishing the major portion of the balance in each year. The demand in consequence of large shipments has somewhat abated and the prices as anticipated have materially fallen, yet there is room for more, provided it be of good quality, properly prepared for market, and provided it can be laid down at reasonable rates. In view of the present and growing importance of the trade it was thought advisable to obtain reliable data as to the requirements of the English market and endeavour to ascertain wherein Canadian hay would meet those requirements and in what respects it might fall short. In pursuance of this object, advantage was taken of a visit to this country of a gentleman thoroughly conversant with the trade in England and he was induced to make a tour of inspection of such portions of the Dominion as it was thought could, provided freight charges were not excessive, be drawn upon for quantities sufficient to meet the demand, and to report to this Department the result of his investigations, and to give such information as seemed necessary for the guidance both of growers and of intending shippers.

His report is now at hand and may be summarized as follows :--

QUALITY.—The hay in many parts of Canada is suitable for the English market, in some sections more so than others, while in some parts it is not suitable, being neither grown, harvested, handled or pressed in a satisfactory manner.

The quality most suitable for the English market is timothy and clover, mixed with a proportion of not more than half clover, not but that more clover would improve the value of the hay, but experience goes to prove that if there is a greater percentage than half clover, the heavy action of the press spoils it, the clover being of a softer fibre and full of saccharine matter, which the action of the press exudes, and by the time it lies a month or two in the bales—which it always does before its reaching England—this moisture is turned to mould and the whole bale is spoiled.

Hay cut young, well got and nicely saved, with a bright green colour, is most valuable. Plain timothy so got, is more valuable than timothy with a larger percentage of clover left standing too long and allowed to get discoloured.

In some places, perhaps from motives of economy, the hay is picked up straight from the swaths and not teddied, thus causing that portion nearest the ground which has not received the sun, to get discoloured and yellow, and this deteriorates the whole quality. Hay should always be teddied. It will always pay its cost. Low marsh hays, except in very dear years, are not worth the expense of pressing for England.

PRESSING—Small bales from 100 to 120 lbs. are most suitable, and slightly more valuable for the English market.

On the small bales, three wires should always be used. Where only two are are used, should one happen to break, which is often the case in the rough handling it gets during shipment, the whole bale is wasted.

Great care must be taken that no damp hay is ever pressed as, however slight the moisture, the bale is invariably ruined after it has laid some time.

In pressing hay in winter time, care must also be taken that none is frozen, this being a most fruitful cause of spoiled bales, as with the thaw, the hay gets moist and then mouldy and rotten. Especial care must be taken not to press new hay too soon, otherwise by the time it reaches England is it absolutely worthless.

For shipment it is absolutely necessary that every bale should be legibly and plainly marked. A small ticket or tag or piece of wood, fastened under the wire is hardly sufficient. A slat or shingle from one and a half to too inches broad that will go under the wire of the Dederick-pressed bales, or under two or three loops of the big bales is recommended, and that such shingle should be legibly printed or stencilled, with a distinctive mark. The only time that this can be done satisfactorily is, in the case of the Dederick bales, just as the bale is leaving the chamber, and in the large bales, the shingle must be put on before closing the press.

As successful competition for the trade of any particular market necessitates a close compliance with the requirements of that market, irrespective of any general practice existing at the place of production, it is evident that Canadian producers or shippers cannot hope for a profitable market in Great Britain for their hay, unless they prepare and ship it in the condition and of the quality most desired by the consumer. It is therefore hoped that the information as above will be of service to those engaged in the trade.
