CHIGNECTO POST AND BORDERER

SACKVILLE, N. B., JUNE 7, 1894

MT. A. COMMERCIAL COLLEGE.

The letter of a prominent business man of Sackville in regard to Mt. Allison institutions will be found elsewhere and will be read with interest. It will be observed that in places the writer interferes to some extent with the prerogative of the Board of Regents,—a body to whose wisdom and experience all that Mt. Allison has been and is stands as a monument; it is true that in one place he speaks of certain branches of the institution in an uncharitable and ill-natured manner; but his opinion in regard to the commercial college will be endorsed by very many people in this vicinity. It is felt that a commercial college at Mt. Allison ought to pay and ought to be of benefit and experience goes to show that such an institution would do both. The letter was called forth by the report, current during the past week, that the Commercial college was either to be done away with or modified in such a way as to be of little benefit to students who wished to take commercial work alone.

The report has been contradicted by another. As yet the exact nature of the future commercial course has not been definitely determined upon, nor will it be until Mr. Harrison's successor is appointed. We are therefore largely able to speak only in probabilities and possibilities. It is certain however that no resolution was passed at the meeting of the Board of Regents abolishing the commercial college. It is equally certain that it was determined by the Board to modify the relation of the commercial department to the general work of the institution. It is probable that in future no student will be permitted to take the commercial course at Mt. Allison who has not sufficient age and education in other ways to fit him for entering business life. It is possible that diplomas will be given next year as usual. It is possible that Mr. Young will return as teacher in commercial work. But much remains to be settled.

In Business Man's opinion of the charming singer whom Sackville is proud to claim as its own the POST heartily joins, and we trust that whereever Mrs. Harrison may make her home in the future she will be a frequent visitor to Sackville.

THE Wilson Bill which was to overthrow the McKinley tariff has been tinkered out of shape, until, in order to get a chance of passing at all, it has become a measure upon which even Mr. McKinley himself might smile approval.

MEXICO wants 200,000 Chinese to work at developing its natural resources. The United States wants to get rid of about 200,000 Chinese. It is to be expected that the celestials will insist on staying in the United States and will smuggle in their families and friends. Such is the irony of fate.

CANADIANS are hardly more welcome in the United States than Chinese. It is now illegal to employ a Canadian in any work of any municipality of the state of New York, or by a contractor doing buisness for the state, or any city, town, village or country of the state. The law will prove more profitable to Canada than the United States.

A RECENT deal between Belgium and Great Britain shuts France out of the Nile basin in Central Africa. Both countries have more African territory than they will be able to improve in centuries, but each shows a constant anxiety to get more for itself and keep the other from adding to its area. It is not when dealing with real estate that nations shew their noble qualities.

THE London Times has concluded its series of articles on Canada The writer has in general treated the problems which Canada is meeting with fairness, good sense, and an appreciative spirit. He notes, that, while Canadians are apt at times to lament the comparative slowness of their growth, they have the consoling compensation that their material expansion has not outrun their political training and social organization. "The native Canadian and the British elements have never been swamped by an alien population untrained to citizenship. There has been no unnatural inflation, to be followed by a corresponding depression no revolt of labor, no excessive concentration of population, with the evils which follow in its train." Such is the opinion of Canada which universally prevails.

DELEGATES from Australasia and Cape Colony are now on their way to Ottawa to attend the Colonial Conference which meets the 21st of this month. Imperial delegates will also be present. The main subjects to be discussed fall under three heads. There is a desire to amend the Imperial Act of 1873 so that the Australian colonies may be able to make trade arrangements with Canada and South Africa as easily as with one another. Her Majesty's government will be asked to modify the treaties with Belgium and Germany so as to permit of preferential trade arrangements between the United Kingdom and her colonies. And lastly it will be determined by the conference whether it is not time, in the interests of the whole empire, that Canada should be recognised as an imperial highway and alternative route, not alone to China and Japan, but also to British possessions in the Pacific seas and at the antipodes The colonies claim that the steamship and cable connections are, by reason of their strategic value, of primary importance to the Empire, as a whole; and in view of the preponderating trade interests of Great Britain they ask that the Mother Land shall bear her due share of the burden.

Dominion Parliament.

In the Dominion Parliament on Friday, Sir C. H. Tupper's bill to amend the inspection of ships act; Mr. Daly's bill for the preservation of game in the unorganized portions of the Northwest; and Mr. Wood's bill to further amend the general inspection, were read in committee and passed.

Sir John Thompson then moved the following resolution:

"That it is expedient to provide that the salaries of the judges of the county courts of Cariboo, New Westminister, Yale, Nanaimo and Kootenay, in the province of British Columbia, shall be $2,400 each per annum."

On this resolution a great discussion arose, Fraser and Mills(Annapolis) strongly urging the claims of the county court judges of Nova Scotia, especially Judge Johnson, of Halifax, to an increase of salary.

Mr. McMullin vigorously opposed this suggestion, and said that the judges were all getting enough. If they were not, let them resign and their would be no difficulty about filling their places. He said that the lawyers in the house of both parties were always talking about the judges not being paid, and he intimated that they did this to curry favor with the judges before whom they practiced.

Mr. Fraser warmly resented this imputation. He pointed out that neither he nor Mr. Mills practiced before Judge Johnson, and said it was not true that lawyers equal in ability to many of the county court judges of Nova Scotia could be got to fill their places at the salaries now voted.

The subject was still under consideration at six o'clock.

Judge Wells, of Moncton, is gazetted revising officer for Westmorland county.

After recess the debate on Sir John Thompson's resolution was continued. Forbes spoke in favor of larger salaries to Nova Scotia county court judges, but said that the supreme court judges of the province were not overworked and that some of them, at least were no better than they should be. He was replied to by McMullen, who again urged his plea that if the judges were not satisfied with their pay they could resign.

COAL DUTIES.

The house then went into committee on the tariff changes of which notice had been given and some other items. When the item of coal was reached McMullen protested strongly against this duty. He said he knew that strong pressure had been brought to bear on the government by railway and manufacturing companies to remove this duty in whole orin part, but he was sorry to see the coal miners of Nova Scotia had been too strong for these Ontario interests. This duty was for the benefit of the Nova Scotia coal miners, and for them alone. He was followed by Charlton, and Campbell, of Kent, in the same strain. The item was adobted. Hon. Mr. Foster then moved that the duties collected since the 26th March, under the tariff then proposed and subsequent amendments stand, and that there be no refunds in cases of reductions, and no additional duties demanded in cases of increase This passed, and the house was then moved into supply. In proposing Charlton moved as an amendment a resolution demanding that the lands of the Northwest should be sold to settlers only. He made a long speech in favor of this policy, when he finished Hon. Mr. Daly moved the adjournment of the debate and the house adjourned at eleven o'clock.

County Court.

Westmorland County Court met at Dorchester Tuesday, Judge Wells presiding.

Following is a list of the grand jury.

Geo. C. Copp, Bedford Harper, John M. Baird, Albert Wry, Michael Cole, Wm. Pringle, Christopher Atkinson, Sanford Barnes, H. W. Palmer, D Wilbur, John W. McManus, J. P. Sherry, E. C. Palmer, W. Frank Tait, James McNaughton, Walter Dobson, Hans W. Masters, David Crossman, Bradford H. Gilbert, Silvanus T. Landry, P. Sonier, John S. Magee, Jos. J. Bourgeois, and J. W. Whitehead.

Thomas Egan, James Wry, Frank Maxwell, Robert Anderson, Sohn Ayer, Sackville. William Milton, Terence Sweeney, Joseph Trenholm, Henry Legere, Botsford. Amasa Tingley, Edwin Copp, Bowden Atkinson, James Fillmore, Westmorland.

Mr. Geo. C. Copp was selected foreman of the grand jury. Only one case, R. A. Borden vs. T. E. Babin, was submitted. The jury found "No Bill" being nearly unanimous in their verdict. It will be remembered that Mr. Babin was arrested some days ago charged by Mr. Borden with destroying a valuable document belonging to Borden which Babin had requested leave to look at. The document it was claimed was written by the accused and contained statements which it was to his interest to have destroyed.

Mount Allison Institutions

The people of Sackville are deeply regretting that the Board of Government of the Mount Allison Institutions have thought it adviseable or are thinking of abolishing the Commercial Department.

If one judged by the number of students that received their diplomas, having successfully completed the work assigned to that department, he would think it one of the most prosperous in the institution, and I am glad to say deservedly so, as for real practical benefit in any line of life's work the information gained in that branch will be of service, which cannot be said of some other studies that are perhaps placed more prominently.

Perhaps it is thought by some that the time occupied in taking the Commercial course is too short. There is a certain course of study pursued and students taking such a course passing a successful examination, are surely entitled to all the honors of having done so. The branches of study are as high in standard as are taught in any Commercial Institution in the Dominion and the time occupied in the course of study is quite as long. And a student who has faithfully studied the prescribed course need not be ashamed of the diploma granted him or her. To abolish that branch of the institution seems to me to be a reflection on the work already done. Under the circumstances, we can only conceive one condition under which such a course could, or might be abolished; that is if the financial part to carry it on was so heavy as to endanger crippling the efficiency of the whole institution; in such a case it might then be done but in no other. It is a duty the Board of Government owe to the public who have supported them, and will continue to support, if they place their institutions in line with the needs of the public. The whole and sole object of education is, if I understand it, to acquire the power for efficient action. Is not the commercial course in an educational point of view of equal importance with any other that can be taught and will not the power derived or acquired be of as much benefit? I believe it will be of more, referring to secular not religious teachings. It is rumored owing to the contemplated abolishment of the commercial course that Principal Harrison cannot see his way clear to remain with the Institutions. This is very much to be regretted as he has very acceptably performed his arduous duties, and has made of the institution over which he has presided a financial success—which is saying quite a good deal—and the citizens of Sackville generally feel that his hand should have been strengthened instead of weakened; and would have liked for him to continue with us. I know that I am voicing the sentiment of the whole community when I say that there will be a void when his better half Mrs. Harrison leaves us — we will not realize how great will be our loss until she has left us. It is safe to say that there has been no one person that has turned public attention to the Mount Allison Institutions in so great a degree as she, and we don't want to think of her leaving us. Praying that the Board of Government of Mount Allison Institutions may reconsider, if they have contemplated the abolishment of the Commercial Course, and continue it as it is of vital importance.

Yours respectfully,

BUSINESS MAN.

Port Elgin.

—A reception and donation party met at the Presbyterian Manse last Friday evening by way of surprise to Rev. Mr. Herdman on the occasion of the manse being occupied by him and his sister for the first time. Gifts in kind and money to the value of 60 or 70 dollars were bestowed upon their new minister, not only by his own congregation, but also by members of other denominations. The greatest harmony and good feeling prevailed amongst those present who composed a large and representative portion of the community, although rain prevented many more who would have come from a distance. Before refreshments were partaken of Mr. Herdman was cordially welcomed by Rev. Mr. Lavers, Baptist minister, to the "phace, the pulpits, the homes, and the hearts" of Port Elgin, and Mr. Herdman on behalf of his sister and himself returned thanks. Mr. Herdman has been the recipient of many gifts since his coming a few weeks ago. This congregation are putting the manse under repairs, outside and inside.
