WHAT ARE WE COMING TO?—Before election there were brought into this office several hens eggs of abnormal size, measuring over 7 inches in circumference. This was before the Conservative government was defeated. Since the 23rd of June the hens which laid these fine specimens have been laying smaller eggs. The smallest was produced one day this week. It is only a little over two inches in circumference. Persons calling at this office will be allowed to examine this egg—the first fruits of liberalism. How sad the poor hen must feel!

DR. SANGSTER'S NEW OFFICE.—Dr. Sangster has removed from Main St. to the Post office building on York St. His present offiice is one of the coziest in the town. It is very light, containing two windows. The glass is stained making the light soft and easy to the eye. The office is prettily furnished, the intention being to make the poor patient forget himself as far as possible. The doctor is very conveniently situated and in the future will be even better prepared than ever to extract teeth, having provided himself with Nitrous Oxide gas which insures painless extraction and is considered much safer than any other anesthetic.

THE NEW MACHINE SHOP.—Messrs. Seaman, Murray & Co, proprietors of the new machine shop on Lorne St. are ready for business. They have a first class plant and are prepared to do all kinds of general jobbing and machine work. They will furnish castings and steam fittings at short notice. Portable mill men will find this firm reliable and capable of giving good satisfaction. Persons having old machines which they have cast aside for some reason might do well to give the Sackville machine shop a call. This firm have a large new building conveniently situated and well adapted to their wants. See advt.

DEATH OF AN OLD SACKVILLE STUDENT.—Mrs. Hannah Curtis Brown, wife of R. Balfour Brown, of Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, died in that town June 19th, of heart failure. Mrs. Brown was the daughter of Mr. W. H. Jenkins, a prominent citizen of Yarmouth, and was educated at Mt. Allison College, Sackville, N. B. She was a woman of marked literary proclivities, and for years was an occasional contributer to the Transcript, as well as to other Boston publications. Her work was always characterized by a high degree of excellence. She left two children, a son and a daughter, the latter of whom is the wife of a well known Boston musician, Mr. Johannes Ableoscher.

Three Dollars Per Day.

THE COUNCILLORS FOR THIS COUNTY WILL HEREAFTER BE PAID A SALARY.

The regular semi-annual meeting of the Westmorland County Council was held Tuesday at Dorchester. The Council opened at 2 p. m., Warden Kay in the chair. The following Councillors were present: Garland, Copp, Trueman, LeBlanc, Hickman, Gaudet, Clark, Peacock, Mahoney, Wallace, Avard. The absentees were Couns. Smith, Hebert, McFarlane. The most important matter which came up was the item of salary for Councillors while sitting at the board. At the session of the Council held in January last it was agreed to petition the legislature of the province to grant the council the privilege of taxing the people of the county a sum sufficient to pay the Coun[illegible] a salary. The sum agreed upon [illegible] per day. The legislature granted the petition and Tuesday the matter was again brought up and pretty warmly discussed. Couns. Mahoney, Trueman and Wallace, spoke strongly against the payment of a salary, while Couns. Garland, Hickman and LeBlanc supported the motion which was finally carried 5 to 6. The vote stood as follows: Yeas, Garland, LeBlanc, Hickman, Gaudet, Peacock and Alward. Nays—Copp, Trueman, Clark, Mahoney, Wallace.

A number of bills were ordered after which the council adjourned.

NEWS BY WIRE.

(SPECIAL TO POST.)

OTTAWA, ONT. JULY 8.—Government have resigned and a messenger has been sent to summon Laurier. It is said some friction between Sir Charles and Governor General was overcome by compromise in which Aberdeen assents to miner appointments to office but leaving judgeships and senatorships to be filled by Laurier.

NEWCASTLE, N. B, JULY 8.—Case against Beynon, charged with shooting Norman McKenzie was begun to day. McKean and Hall who were with McKenzie gave evidence to the effect that Beynon had been very offensive in manner of speaking to them, but several other witnesses flatly contradicted this and attibute blame to MacKenzie and others. The evidence shows the Newcastle men had been drinking. Case was adjourned till tomorrow.

ST. JOSEPH, JULY 9TH.—About two thousand persons attended the laying of the corner stone of Lefebvre Hall yesterday afternoon at St. Joseph. The stone was laid by his lordship Bishop McDonald of Charlottetown. This was followed by an address in French by vice president of Lavall college Quebec Judge Landry then read an address of welcome after which he spoke briefly. Addresses were also given by Dr. Inch of Fredericton, Dr. Belliveau, Mr. Benoit of Arachat, Dr. Allison of Sackville, and H. A. Powell, M. P. A large number were present from Amherst, Sackville, Dorchester, Moncton and other places along the I. C. R. Rev. A. B. O'Neil received the following cablegram yesterday.

ROME, July 8.

The Holy Father blesses Lefebvre Hall, its projectors and benefactors and imparts the apostolic benediction.

ZAHM.

The festivities will continue today.

Masons began work on the preparation of the stone on April 7th, and the foundation was began on April 28th. The work has been prosecuted with diligence during the past two months, and the walls will be completed early in August. The north wall has already attained its full height. The walls are laid in irregular courses of ashlar or "shoddy" work, relieved by belt courses at intervals of eight and ten feet, and look exceedingly well. Above the main entrance to the hall is a large panel stone bearing in raised letters the inscription "Lefebvre." Above a basement seven and one-half feet high, the first story will contain four rooms serving as museums and laboratories with a corridor traversing the whole floor from front to rear. The second story will be given up to the purposes of an exhibition hall with stage, sloping floor auditorium, balcony, etc, as in best approved modern operahouses. The seating capacity of the hall will be about eight hundred, and the committee hope to see held therein the commencement exercises of June, 1897.

THE FAITHFUL MEET.

NATURE HAS BECOME THE BAND-MAIDEN OF THE LIBERAL PARTY.

The Candidate Makes an Observation Which Brings Him to Grief.

The President's face was wreathed in smiles as he arose to call the meeting to order. "Gentlemen," he said "I am a proud and happy man to-night. On the 23rd of June when the intelligence came flashing over the wires that Sir Charles Tupper and his gang of professional tricksters had been hurled from power, and that the Hon. Wilfrid Laurier had been elected; when I heard that news gentlemen, I was pleased. But my fellow workers since our last meeting I have seen and heard that which has caused my heart to pulsate faster than its wont, I have beheld that, gentlemen, which has caused my bosom to swell with pride, justifiable pride, and has enkindled within me a more exhaulted patriotism and a higher and nobler sense of the great good fortune which has befallen us as a nation. To what do I refer, you ask? Why gentlemen, nature itself has become our hand-maiden, and daily is she giving evidences of this fact. Let me call your attention to just one thing. A few nights ago there was a slight frost I believe. My neighbor who is a Tory and who you know lives very near me, had all his corn and beans and peas destroyed, while mine remained untouched.

The applause which followed this declaration was long and loud. The President tried to proceed but seeing there were others who were anxious to speak, he resumed his seat.

Fellow W. F. Gee had caught the speakers eye and was allowed to proceed. He said his cows were drying up rapidly before the 23rd but since then they had doubled the quantity of milk they had been giving and it was richer too than before.

Willie B was the next on his feet. Since the election he said he had given up picking potato bugs altogether. An insect had made its appearance in the potato field that threatened to exterminate the bug which every one knew had been growing worse every year under Tory rule. Prof. Robertson had been trying to invent or discover something that would kill the bugs and insects against which the farmers had to struggle. He had been paid a fat salary too and what had he accomplished?

Willie evidently had considerable more to say but some of the fellows began talking of explosives and Willie very reluctantly resumed his seat.

The Captain declared that the fish he caught since the 23rd had been twice as large, and he had less difficulty in landing them than in former years. He felt certain it was on account of the Liberals being in power. Several of the Fellows declared that the mosquitoes had been less numerous since election than before, and one fellow strongly asserted that his corn grew a foot on the night of the 23rd and had been doing so every night since.

The President looked hard at this speaker and some of the Fellows coughed suspiciously but the Fellow with the corn stuck to his story like a man.

The Baby Candidate here arose to remark that there was another thing which had increased materially since the 23rd. He referred to Powell's majority. This remark caused the bright face of the president to assume a grave hard look and many of the other members wiped their eyes with their coat sleeves and cleared their throats several times.

The speaker accused his friends of not having worked for him as they should have worked. "You took the stump for Kidlam," he said turning to the Captain "and you didn't do anything for me. My friend Willie, here was the only man who manifested a desire to speak on my behalf, but on one occasion. I regret to say he was prevented by the friends of my opponent, at Dorchester and on the other occasion the meeting he was to address did not materialize. But sir he showed the right spirit and had my other so called friends done likewise. I would now be your representative. Fellow John T. did not come to the front until it was too late, and then he was always thinking of himself instead of the liberal candidate."

By this time the Fellows were getting mad. There were a half dozen trying to catch the President's eye.

"You didn't work yourself" one Fellow cried.

"You didn't promise us half as much as Logan in Cumberland" broke in another.

"You didn't hug us like Fellow K"

"You didn't promise me an office."

"Nor me."

"Nor me."

"Nor me" shouted a score of others excitedly.

The President cried for order, the candidate tried to explain that he had promised all the offices there were in the county but in vain. Seeing that he could not restore order the President slid down the back stairs and the candidate pulled his hat down over his eyes and made a rush for the door through which he managed to escape.

An angry roar followed his exit, but he was safe. The candidate and the President met outside and had a long talk about a scrutiny.

CHARLOTTETOWN NEWS

CHARLOTTETOWN, July 8.—A very bold robery took place in this city on Wednesday night last. The store or J. B. McDonald & Co., on Queen St., was entered by the back door and the till and safe rifled of over $100. There is no clue whatever to the guilty parties.

The City Council has decided to go on with the Park Railway prospect and at last that for which we've sighed is about to be realized. One breaks into poetry through sheer delight:—

Thanks to the Mayor, and his dauntless eight,
The Road—ay we will have we've long desired;
But perhaps they're giving it in self-defence—
If they refuse they know they'd all be fired.

The Grecian Art Tableau Company appeared to small houses in the Opera on Friday and Saturday evening.

Everything is quite summerlike around the city now with our lovely Square here, looking its best. By the way, the last Toronto Globe has an excellent picture of Queen Square and buildings in its last issue.

ABOUT GOOD Clothes

When you speak of good clothes you don't mean the material only—good clothes include CUT, FIT, FINISH and UP-TO-DATE MATERIALS, A suit may be cut by a tailor—yet poorly cut—the material may be servicable, but out of style.

We're most exacting with our work people about the style and finish of our suits, and we think that too much care can't be given to this department.

We've a nice line of Tweed suitings at $18 50 that are considered special in style and value. These suits receive the same care in cut and finish that you would expect on a $25.00 suit.
