TIGHT BINDING
RELIURE TROP RIGIDE

News Department.

The London Times, in commenting upon the financial troubles in the United States, alludes to the delusion here that a great crisis was impending in England.

The vessels on their passage from Australia to England, of whose sailing advices had been received, had on board $3,200,000 in gold. The West India steamer Atsoto had arrived with $650,000 in gold, and $925,000 in silver.

The monthly returns of the Bank of France was satisfactory. The diminution of bullion for the month was only $520,000. The two previous months exhibited a falling off respectively of $5,000,000 and $14,000,000. The total bullion at present held is about $86,500,000. The position of the Bank has been strengthened by a reduction of $1,850,000 in the note circulation.

There is no change to be remarked in the general commerce of France, except that export merchants complain that they never had so few foreign orders to execute.

The Paris flour market was dull, and flour continued to be cheaper in Paris than in the Provinces. The price of wheat has declined slightly in all the markets on the seacoast between Bordeaux and Nantes, in consequence of the demand from England having been suspended. There is a demand for wheat at Leghorn for Rome, where a scarcity exists.

The Lyons circulars say that "the activity which recently prevailed in the silk market has subsided, owing to the unfavorable accounts from the United States. Many orders for that country have been cancelled, and buyers have expressed their intention of refusing any goods delivered behind time. Still prices have not experienced any sensible decline, and the latest news from America being less alarming an easier feeling is beginning to manifest itself on the part of the manufacturers. In China silk transactions remain limited, buyers showing no desire to operate before the arrival of the larger quantities expected by sailing vessels."

THE ENGLISH COLLIER FLEET.—A Shields date of Dec. 12, says that the day previous the enormous number of 1400 vessels were wind bound in the Tyne alone. Nearly 300 sailed on the morning of the 12th, mostly colliers from London, though no vessels drawing more than 14 feet 3 inches were able to get out. Most of the fleet expected to get out on the 13th.

POSITION OF AFFAIRS AT ROME.—The correspondent of the London Times, writing from Rome, says:

"Among the English now daily arriving here it is observable that many, especially of those who come direct from England, are surprised at the perfect tranquility and monotony that reign where they expected to find excitement and fermentation. They come impressed with the idea that Rome is in a volcanic state and an explosion daily expected, and they have scarcely got into an hotel when they rush out again to peer about the city, as if expecting to discover the end of the train that is to fire the powder.

If, as we are justified in believing, their notions may be taken as a fair sample of those prevalent in England with respect to the state of Rome, it is clear that you are there under a delusion upon that head. 'Distance lends enchantment to the view;' on near approach you would find things extremely dull and monotonous. Profound calm is the order of the day, and there is as little excitement as in any previous year that can be named.

The political situation is clearly defined, and is simple enough. The Papal Government perseveres in its policy, apparently trusts to Providence and to time to bring about some change in its favor; nothing whatever in the attitude of arrangements of the French shows expectations of an approaching move; the Italian party waits and watches, and hopes for, rather than reckons upon, the withdrawal of the foreign troops whose presence alone keeps it from the attainment of its wishes; the Cardinals and Monsignori appear by no means apprehensive of anything unpleasant approaching for them, but drive and walk about with placid countenances, contribute the showy tint of their violet robes and red hose to the embellishment of evening parties, and, according to all outward seeming, are tranquil as to the future.

The great Antonelli, according to the most recent accounts and observations, is in full feather and excellent spirits; while his Holiness the Pope divides his time between religious ceremonies and the distribution of welcomes and benedictions to refugee Majesties and Royal Highnesses. The general calm, patience, and inaction spring from the conviction that the key of the position is not here but at Paris. The inscrutable wizard of the Tuileries is looked to for a solution. He has 20,000 men in and near Rome; he has fortifications at Civita Vecchia that will hold 30,000; he retards the capture of Gaeta by covering it on the sea face with his ships. He alone is the obstacle to a speedy solution to the Italian question, so far at least as Rome and Gaeta are concerned. People here have given up the attempt to divine his intentions."

The news from Hungary is very revolutionary. Riots have taken place at at Pesth, Debretzin and in several other large towns, while there is evidently an impatience on the part of the population of the whole country, to rise against Austria.

Hungary and the Danubian Provinces are on the imminent brink of revolutionary action; that Italy, including Venetia, is in a highly inflammable state; that Poland is hardly more quiet than Hungary; that the old Schleswig-Holstein business is likely to break out into new importance; that the French are not at all likely to come away at the end of their six months from their military occupation of Syria; that the Ionian Islands and Ireland are disposed to apply to Lord John Russell the argument in favor of nationalities that he so well set forth the other day of Italy, and there is a smart chance of new insurrection in British India; that the Anglo-French Chinese war, waged for the free introduction of opium and Christianity into the Celestial Empire, has just got to the beginning of its end.

At the soiree of the Birmingham Freehold Land and Building Societies, Mr. Bright made an elaborate attack on the laws of primogeniture and entail, and on the anamolies of the law relating to the titles to and transfer of landed property. He depicted in sombre language the evils which, in his opinion, arise from the existing state of things, and predicted that the most glorious results would follow from what is termed the "emancipation of the soil." The meeting passed resolutions condemnatory of the present laws, which "interfere with the natural and free division of the soil."

THE SERFS IN RUSSIA.—The labors of the committee for the emancipation of the serfs are at length concluded, the report is drawn up, and the final discussion of the projet de loi has now been entered upon in the council of the empire, after which the imperial manifesto embodying it will be promulgated. It is generally believed that this will take place on the Russian New Year's day (Jan. 13, new style), but persons who profess to be well informed assert that it will be postponed till the anniversary of the accession of the Emperor, Feb. 19, old style, or March 3, new.

The details of the proposed law are still kept a profound secret, but we are told by the same well informed persons that they will be such as to satisfy all parties—masters and servants, nobles and peasants—which is so difficult, or rather impossible a task, that we may be excused for having some doubts on the subject. It seems positive, however, that if a pecuniary indemnity is granted to the serf owners, it will be at the expense of the State and not of the peasants; and that the plan for only giving the latter their personal liberty without land, has also been rejected; but whether the homesteads (ousadby) assigned to them by the imperial ukase, will be their own property, after making a certain number of annual payments, or whether they will merely occupy them as tenants of their former lords, is not known.

PARIS, Saturday evening.—The Bourse closed dull; rentes 681 80c.

It was again reported that the passport system between England and France is to be abolished.

In a postscript to a letter dated Oct. 14, Gen. Grant states that the remaining English prisoners in Pekin had not been liberated.

It was stated that two thousand Pontificial troops were about to march against the town of Pontecorvo, to overthrow the provisional government established there.

The ship Georgiana, from New Orleans for Liverpool, was burnt at sea, Nov. 20, in lat 37 46 N., lon. 66 20 W. The crew were saved by the Levi Woodbury, from New Orleans, and had been landed at Liverpool.

FOREIGN OFFICE, Dec. 15.—Intelligence was received at this office, this afternoon, through St. Petersburg, from Pekin Nov. 9, that peace was concluded Oct., 26, and ratifications exchanged Nov 5. The allied forces had evacuated Pekin, and it was expected the Emperor would return to his capital immediately.

The China mails have arrived, and the American portion was forwarded in the Canada. They add nothing important to the telegraphic accounts, but the details are interesting.

It is asserted that England and France have certainly insisted on Francis II.'s departure from Gaeta, to prevent a useless effusion of blood.

The bombardment of Gaeta was again suspended on the 9th, and not resumed.

THE QUALITY OF THE ENGLISH GRAIN CROP. A letter from England says:

"The agriculturalists are now perplexed with another new feature attending the lately housed crops of wheat and barley. It is now stated that, besides the very considerable quantity of both sorts of grain which was sprouted in the field, and therefore unfit to be used as seed for the succeeding crop, because incapable of germinating by sprouting a second time, there is also a very large proportion of the late crop, both of wheat and barley, which was cut so prematurely that it has never attained a state of ripeness sufficient to produce germination, and therefore entirely unfit to be used as seed corn. And the same circumstance renders much of the barley unfit for the malting process, because the grain is not matured enough to sprout or to take the first step towards becoming malt: So far as respects barley, we have conversed with an intelligent and experienced maltster, who said out of six hundred quarters of barley he had found only about ten quarters which could sprout upon undergoing the preliminary steeping process. If this defect in English wheat and barley occurs to any great extent a large importation of both species of grain will be absolutely necessary."

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY, ENGLAND.—The Prince Consort, Chancellor of the University, gives annually a gold medal for the encouragement of English poetry; the Vice Chancellor has therefore announced that the prize will be given this year to such resident undergraduate as shall compose the best poem on "The Prince of Wales at the Tomb of Washington." The exercises are to be sent to the Vice Chancellor on or before March 31st, 1861, and are not to exceed two hundred lines in length.

The economical Marquis of Westminster has a park at Eaton Hall, ten miles in length; nearly all the villages bordering upon it being his property. His income is some $3,000,000 a year. Recently, while riding in the park, he missed a button from his coat. He instantly dismounted, and retraced his course for some distance; till at length he was able to announce, with the expressions of the liveliest satisfaction, his discovery of the missing article.

ATTEMPT TO ASSASSINATE THE PRESIDENT OF LIMA.—News from Lima and Callao to the 29th of November announce that a third attempt had been made to assassinate Castilla, the President of Peru. His residence was surrounded and entered by a party of soldiers, under the command of a Capt. Lara, and he narrowly escaped, after several shots had been fired at him, by way of the roof. The demonstration, which was in the interest of Col. Firmin Castillo, who was to have been proclaimed President had it succeeded, was speedily put down, and several of the leaders were executed.

CHARLESTON, Dec. 27.—Fort Moultrie was evacuated last night and the guns spiked.

The fort is now being demolished by fire.—Only four soldiers were left in charge.

The troops have all been conveyed to Fort Sumpter. There is intense excitement.

CHARLESTON, Dec. 27.—Later intelligence from Fort Moultrie represent that only the gun carriages have been burnt.

It is reported that a train has been laid below the fort to blow it up. The excitement and indignation is increasing.

LATEST.

12 30.—Major Anderson states that he evacuated Fort Moultrie to allay the discussion about that post, and at the same time to strengthen his own position.

CHARLESTON, Dec. 27.—1 o'clock, P. M.—Capt. Foster, with a small force, remains in Fort Moultrie.

Several military companies are ordered out. A collision is expected.

FROM WASHINGTON.—Washington, Dec. 26.—It is not supposed that either of the Congressional special committees will come to a satisfactory conclusion. At present extreme Southerners oppose any compromise.

Mr. Douglas denies refusing to put himself right on Davis and Toombs' resolutions, which had not been reduced to the form of amendments, and he had himself offered amendments covering the points in the resolutions.

Private accounts say that Maryland, Virginia, and other Southern States afford the secessionists much comfort.

Gen. Cass is continually receiving visits from representatives of foreign governments, who thus show their marked consideration for him.

The Secretary of the Treasury denies that there has been any defalcation in his department. The examination into its condition continues.

The Commissioners of South Carolina have arrived, and will confer with the president tomorrow. The subject will be referred to Congress in a special message, on which an exciting and critical debate is anticipated.

THE GREAT DEFALCATION.—WASHINGTON, Dec 26.—Revelations show that Russell, Majors & Co's contract has two years to run. The acceptances of the Secretary of War are said to be mere memoranda, which Russel used as collateral to borrow money. Baily, in his confession, says no Government official is implicated. He was surrendered by his bondsmen to day and is in jail. Two hundred thousand dollars is fixed as the bail for Russell, outside the jurisdiction of the Court, and Senator Green and Representative Woodson and Barrett have gone his security to that amount, and citizens of Washington are making up the remaining $300,000.

Rev. J. H. Ingraham, author of "Pillar of Fire," "Prince of the tribe of Judah," and other works, accidentally shot himself at Holly Springs, Mississippi, about a fortnight ago, and has since died from the injuries then received.

A letter from the African Squadron reports the capture, by the U. S. steam corvette, Mohican, of another slaver, having on board no less than 900 negroes, the largest cargo ever taken on the coast. The disposition of the prize is not made known.

An A 1 clipper ship, named the "Alexander," the first of a line of packet ships, is advertised to sail from the Clyde for this port on the 30th of March next. Besides freight she will bring a number of passengers for the new Presbyterian Colony at Carleton County. Mr. James Smellie is agent for this City, to whom all orders should be directed.

The Supreme Court of Canada West have decided—one Judge dissenting—that the fugitive slave Jones or Anderson, accused of the murder of Briggs, who opposed his flight, should be surrendered to the Untied States authorities.

JOHN SKINNER, M. D. &c,
OFFICE—9 Germain Street,
(3d door from Market Street, St. John, N. B.)

THE EYE.

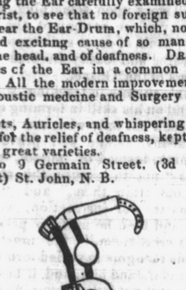
DR. SKINNER, having for nearly ten years past (with general practice) made a special study of the human EYE, its function, its diseases and cure, can now safely assure those suffering from loss of Vision, Sore and Weak Eyes, Blindness from Cataracts, obstruction and inflamation of the tear passage, or any trouble appertaining to the Eye or its appendages, that he can make a permanent cure in a large majority of cases, where application is made early in the disease, and the patients stay long enough to allow him a fair opportunity for successful treatment. Artificial Eyes inserted, quite life like, having the colour and motion of a natural Eye. Fees suited to all circumstances in life, and satisfactory to patients. The poor attended to gratis when their statements are verified DR. SKINNER can refer, if required, to a large number of individuals, both in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, who came under his treatment of the Eye quite blind, and in a few weeks or months returned home with good vision to the highest gratification of friends, etc. jan 2

THE EAR.

DR. SKINNER would here remark, that next in importance to the sense of vision is that of hearing. Patients are continually asking relief for a great variety of diseases of the EAR—such as singing noises in the Ear, and strange sensations in the head, often arising from accumulated obstructions on the Ear-drum, requiring very delicate manipulations in removal, and careful treatment to heal the inflamation got up by undue pressure on the tympanum. It is fearfully surprising to know that ladies and gentlemen will go for ten, twenty, and even fifty years, without having the Ear carefully examined by an experienced Aurist, to see that no foreign substance is lying on or near the Ear-Drum, which, no doubt, is the prime and exciting cause of so many nervous disorders of the head, and of deafness. DR. SKINNER treats diseases of the Ear in a common sense and safe manner. All the modern improvements in the practice of acoustic medicine and Surgery are at his command.

Ear trumpets, Auricles, and whispering or conversation tubes, for the relief of deafness, kept constantly on hand in great varieties.

OFFICE—No 9 Germain Street, (3d door from Market Street) St. John, N. B. jan 2



CLUB FOOT SHOE.

The above represents the most complete apparatus, for the cure of that dreadful deformity, Club Foot, now used either in Europe or America.

DR. SKINNER is happy to say that he makes a sure cure of CLUB FEET when he has the patient under his own personal attendance a sufficient length of time, and the child less than three months old. When parents find their offspring afflicted with Club Feet, they should have them attended to immediately If the apparatus is applied when the little patient is four or five weeks old, it produces little or no pain—the parts being then soft and pliable. Dr. Skinner, (by permission) takes pleasure in refering to a recent case where the baby's feet turned in and up, (very bad case of club feet) and now it would be difficult to recognise that any trouble or deformity ever existed. The child was operated on during the Prince's visit to New Brunswick.

The patient is a child of Mr. John Brooks, teacher, Portland, St. John Co.

Dr. S., keeps constantly on hand a good variety of instruments and appliances for all kinds of deformities, where mechanical support is necessary, such as Trusses, Abdominal Supporters, Spinal Corslets, for curvature of the spine, Shoulder Braces, for narrow chests, Elastic Lace Stockings and Knee Caps, Belts and Bandages, and the inclined fracture adjusting apparatus for fractures of lower extremities, etc. etc.
