CRADLE SONG.

Hither, sleep! a mother wants thee!
Come with velvet arms,
Hold the baby that she grants thee
To thy own soft charms.

Bear him into Dreamland lightly!
Give him sight of flowers;
Do not bring him back till brightly
Break the morning hours!

Close his eyes with gentle fingers,
Cross his hands of snow!
Tell the angels where he lingers
They must whisper low.

—[Timothy Titcomb.

"How much to insert this death?" asked a person at a newspaper office.

"Four shillings."

"Why, I paid but two shillings the last time I inserted one."

"That was a common death," said the publisher, "but this is sincerely regretted.".

"I'll tell you what," said the applicant, "your executors will not be put to that expense."

To Remove Warts.—Children are liable to these disfiguring excrescences on the hands, which spread, if not immediately attended to. They may be removed by dissolving washing soda in water to the consistency of cream, and applying it to the warts regularly night and morning.

Coffee.—Coffee is wholesome and nutritious, when it agrees with the constitution and is taken in moderation; but is pernicious when taken immoderately, producing feverishness, excitement, and palpitations.

But for a mere nervous headache, where there is no determination of blood to the head, a cup of strong coffee is a palliative, if not a cure.

Genuine Beef Tea.—A pound of lean beef, minced small, and put into a wide-mouthed bottle, covered. This bottle must be placed in a pan of water over a slow fire and boiled, for at least two hours, then the liquor, which will be the true essence of the beef, may be poured off.

The men who jump at conclusions seldom reach any that are worth having. These must be got by climbing.

When fame is regarded as the end, and merit as only the means, men are apt to dispense with the latter, if the former can be had without it.

Sweet Marjoram.—Few people know how to keep sweet marjoram, the best of all herbs for broth and stuffing. It should be gathered in bud or blossom, and dried in a tin kitchen at a moderate distance from the fire. When dry, it should be immediately rubbed, sifted and corked up in a bottle carefully.

Cure for the Ear-ache.—Cotton wool, wet with sweet oil and paregoric, relieves the ear-ache very soon.

Croup Remedy.—Equal parts of camphor, spirits of wine and hartshorn, well mixed and rubbed upon the throat, is said to be good for the croup.

Positive Cure for Corns.—The strongest acetic acid, applied night and morning with a camel's hair brush. In one week the corn will disappear—soft or hard corns.

Boiled Onions.—Peel and boil them in milk and water, with a little salt; if boiled in water, they will not look white; when tender, take them up and butter them.

Those who excel in strength are not most likely to show contempt of weakness. A man does not despise the weakness of a child.

Money is well spent in purchasing tranquillity of mind.

The more a man is envied, the less he is spared.
