JUST A COLD SETTLED IN THE KIDNEYS, BUT IT TURNED TO DROPSY. IT WAS CURED BY DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Read of This Wonderful Cure. It May Do You or Your Friends Some Good to Know About It.

Miss Agnes Creelman, Upper Smithfield, N.S., writes:—About 18 months ago I caught cold. It settled in my kidneys, and finally turned into Dropsy. My face, limbs, and feet were very much bloated, and if I pressed my finger on them it would make a white impression that would last fully a minute before the flesh regained its natural color.

"At Home"

The Teachers and Grammar School Pupils Entertain Their Friends.

The teachers and pupils of Campbellton School entertained their friends at an "At Home" in the Assembly Hall of the Academy Thursday evening.

The hall was tastefully draped with the school colors and flags, while the walls were hung with pictures.

Mrs. E. W. Lewis, Miss Barnes, Miss Wetmore and Miss Mair as the Reception Committee, did their duties most courteously and all were made to feel at home. The boys who acted as ushers, and who introduced the guests, are to be complimented on the manner in which they fulfilled their duties.

The following programme was carried out:—

The ice is all gone out of the Bay and most of the lobster fishermen are putting out their traps. A few lobsters have been caught, herring are also reported to have been caught at Ked Head today.

A live squid was found on the beach at North Cove by Mr. Thomas Bernier on Thursday. This may mean a fishy story, but it is true, and the oldest fishermen say they have never known of any being found in the spring.

Every body seem to be anxiously awaiting the arrival of the first steamer. There is also a report with little variety and many things are sold out.

We are sorry to say that on Wednesday last the house and barn belonging to Mr. J. LeBreton, with all their contents, including the cattle and machinery, was destroyed by fire.

Mr. LeBreton was absent at the time and arrived late to save anything. The fire started on the roof of the house about six in the evening and could have been controlled if there had been any means of getting to it. As soon as it was seen that the house could not be saved a number of people aided in removing all they could from the house to the barn, the wind blowing the flames away from the barn it was considered safe, and so it seemed till about nine o'clock when everybody had gone away it suddenly burst into flames and in a few minutes was burned to the ground. It is supposed that some sparks must have been carried in with the goods brought from the house or that one of the cats which was seen running toward the stable with its fur burning caused the damage. Mr. LeBreton was very well stocked with machinery, etc., and there was no insurance on anything.

With the help he has received in getting together timber and boards he hopes soon to build on the old ground Mr. LeBreton, with his mother and sister are living for the present at the home of Mrs. James Flynn.

Mr. Geo Sutton was in town today. Messrs C. Bird & Co. have the frame of their new store up.

And when.

When Alon, especially Alon women, meet after a separation that has lasted some time they have a pretty way of feeling each other their experiences in a sort of chant, and in the pleasant sound of their singularly sweet voices one forgets their will and unkept looks. The Japanese women are equally remarkable for the sweetness of their voices, but have the advantage over their Alon sisters of delicate and dainty ways, the charm of which the most stolid globe trotter is constrained to own.

If the women of Alon-mobility, as the Alon call their land, are the drugges of the men in their youth and middle age their opportunity for revenge comes with the lapse of years. The curses of an angry old woman excite the utmost terror in the bravest bear hunter. He flies, panic struck, from such names as shunnamash (manzy deer), ton-tonpoo (dull pated bear) or, worst of all, rai-guro (corpse) or inao-sak-guro (godless fellow). After death her ghost is regarded with even deeper dread.

A Bird Friendship.

The rector of Woolstone, Mr. Gilbert Coventry, told me of a wild rock dove which one of his stable boys had reared from the nest. It slept in the open, however, and had full liberty. Soon the good things on the rector's table attracted it, and it would appear through the open window at mealtimes, take hot soup with zest and even sip sherry from a wineglass. At night it often slipped in and slept in the rector's bed on its back under the coverlet. One Sunday morning during the reading of the lesson the dove flew swiftly through an open window into the church and settled on the rector's head. Broad smiles spread over the faces of the elders and audible titters came from the youngsters. A gentle touch sent the bird down to the edge of the clerk's desk below, where it sat undisturbed.—Pall Mall Gazette.

The Art of Making Hay.

How and when men first learned to make hay will probably never be known, for haymaking is a "process," and the product is not simply sun dried grass, but grass which has been partly fermented, and is as much the work of men's hands as flour or cider. Probably its discovery was due to accident, and the product is not simply sun dried grass, but grass which has been partly fermented, and is as much the work of men's hands as flour or cider.
