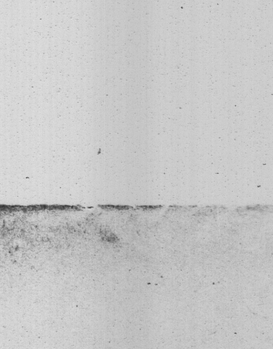
What the Saleswoman Said:

"Yes, we like to sell Stanfield's Truro-Knit Ladies' Underwear, as we know our customers will be delighted with it. We feel so safe with Stanfield's, too. We guarantee it not to shrink. If it does, we return the money, and the makers reimburse us.

Stanfield's Truro-Knit Underwear

is made of the finest non-irritating yarns. All the wool is of uniform length. So carefully is this underwear made that even every thread is tested before being woven. That is why Stanfield's "Truro-Knit" is so soft, light, warm and durable.

We have Stanfield's "Truro-Knit" in such a range of sizes that we can perfectly fit every figure. And it wears so well that while a little more expensive to start with it is really the cheapest in the end."



Driven to Drink

many a good man has been by home laundry work, with lumps of starch and waves of bleuing decorating his shirt front, and saw edges on his collars to annoy him. It makes his heart glad when he can see his linen immaculate and with a snow white color and artistic finish that he can have put on by expending only a few cents. It is worth dollars in comfort and satisfaction to have your linen laundered at the Steam Laundry.

HYMENAL

MARTIN-SHEEHAN

The Lady of Grand River Church, Grand River was the scene of a very pretty and fashionable wedding on the 14th inst, when Miss M. B. A. Sheehan of that place was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr Peter S. Martin of Campbellton, Rev. J. E. Oullet performed the ceremony.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion and filled with a large crowd. The bride was given away by her father,

The bride wore white crepe de chine with berthe of Duchesse lace and applique trimmed with pink panne velvet Miss Minette Sirois who was bride's maid wore a gown of satin messaline with coat of white panne velvet trimmed with Irish lace. After the ceremony the young couple repaired to the home of the bride Breche-a manon, wherethe immediate relatives and friends had gathered where they partook ofsumptuous repast. They were the recipients of many valuable and costlypresents.

They left on the 16th November via S. S, Restigouche for tceir future home in Campbellton followed with good wishes from their many friends.

Miss Sheehan was very popular in this vicinity and the people generally regret her departure.

WINTER FEEDING OF CATTLE

The Type to Select—Some Hints on Management

The fattening of cattle is carried on under such widely different circumstances that it impossible to lay dewn any hard and and fast rules, and say that these are right and all others wrong. There are, however, three conditions essential to success in the stall feeding of adimals, viz, good cattle, an abundance of cheep winter feed, and good management.

Fifteen or twenty years ago the cattle required for the export trade were the heavy four and five year old steers weighting 1400 to 1800 pounds. At that time quantity uot quality was in demand. Today we find that compact, well finished two and three year old animals weighing from 1250 pounds up will command tne highest prices, Of course, if weigbt ean be combined with quality, so much the better, but quality is of first importance. From the butcher's point of view the steer of best quality is the one which carries the greatest percentage of its weight in those parts of the carcase which give the highest price outs. In the Chicago and New York markets, the most discriminating in the world, the rib and loin outs command over four times the average price paid for the remainder of the carcasse, and it is apparent that the prime beef animal must be good in these parts They must be thickly aad evenly covered with firm yet mellow flesh of uniform good quality and free alike from hard rolls and blubbery patches. Coarse, patchy animals will no longer be tolerated, much less those that are bony and bare of flesh on the back and ribs.

In addition to the general beef form, with good backs, ribs and loins, there is, says the eminent American authority Prof Curtiss, a certain quality, character, style and finish that constitute an important factor in determing the value of beef cattle. One of the first indications of this is to be found in the skin and coat. A harsh, unyielding skin is an indication of a sluggish circulation and low digestive powers. A clear, prominent yet placid eye; clean-cut features, fine horn, and clean, fine bone all go to indicate good feeding quality and capacity to take on a finish of the highest excellence, and consequently to command top prices. Coarse-boned, rough animals are almost invariably slow feeders and hard to finish properly. Besides these qualities, and above all, it is necessary to have vigor and constitution. We find evidence of these in a wide forehead, a prominent brisket, broad chest, well sprung ribs, full heart girth and a general robust appearance.

With the proper beef type in mind, it will not be difficult to recognize a suitable stocker. To find him is a more difficult matter Owing largely to the great expansion of the dairy business during the past fifteen or twenty years, it is becoming more difficult to procure good stockers for feediag, To get satisfactory animals a farmer is almost compelled to breed his own. In case he does so too much importance cannot be attached to the selection of the sire. It should never be forgotten that he is half the herd Good grade cows are all right to breed from, but the bull should always be pureqred. It is poor economy to save fifty cents or a dollar in the first cost of the calf, and lose from ten to fifteen dollars when the finished animal is placed on the market. Besides this, the price at which purebred bulls can be obtained in these days leaves no excuse for the use of an inferior animal.

An abundant supply of cheap feed is essential to success in winter feeding. We can no longer finish our cattle on a ration of hay and grain with any margin of profit. We must have something that can be grown in larger quantities and at a very small cost, aud corn ensilage fills the bill. It is beyond doubt the best and cheapest winter feed at our disposal. The chief advantages of ensilage are its great palatability, the saving of labor which it effects, and the fact that it can be fed at any time of the year with equal satisfaction. While corn holds first place as a cheap winter feed, it has no monopoly of the field. The farmer who grows a large quantity of grain, and has consequeutly an abundant supply of straw, will find that by growing a quantity of roots to feed with it he can fatten cattle at a very reasonable cost. Field roots have a feeding value apart from the digestible nutrients which they contain in that they exercise a beneficial effect upon the digestion and general health Cattle rhat receive liberal rations of succulent feed, such as roots and ensilage, will have the sleek, thrifty appearance of grass fed cattle, and there will be little trouble with indigestion or having them go off their feed, as is often the case with cattle that are fed exclusively on dry fodder and grain.

The grain ration depends so largely on circumstances that it will not be discussed here. It is always well, however, to commence with a comparatively light ration and finish with the more concentrated grains. Water and salt should always be within easy reach and the cattle should be kept free from lice by the use of some of the proprietary dips, or even ordinary black oil, which is perhaps as cheap and effective as anything else

OBITUARY

A very sad event occured in Shannonvale recently, when the remains of Mr Donald Campbell Wright was brought home for interment. He had gone west on the harvesting excursion, on August 31 st. On November 2nd, he left the harvest fields, and went to La Salle, where he remained for almost a week and then started home. On reaching Winnipeg he became very ill, but insisted on continuing the journey. The disease, however, rapidly developed into double pneumonia, and when he arrived at North Bay Ontario, on Wednesday evening, his condition became so serious, that he had to be conveyed to the Hospital there, but medical aid was useless and he gradually grew worse, and passed to rest on Sunday morning Nov. 13 th.

His body was accompanied home last Tuesday evening by his eldest brother, who had gone west with him, and was with him during his illness, and was met at Eel River Station by a large circle of friends and relativer, who accompanied him to his home.

The funeral took place at one o'clock Tuesday afternoon, and the attendance testified to the respect in which he was held. The pall-bearers were Robt Wright, Amos A. Comean, Wm Innes, W S Pacifico, Peter McGovern and Duncan McDonald, Jr.

He was the second son of Mr and Mrs James Wright of this place, and was just twenty years of age. He leaves behind a sorrowing mother and father, six sisters and seven brothers to mourn the loss of a kind and effectionate son and brother; also a large number of friends, whom he had gained by his sunny and bright disposition.

Much sympathy is felt for the family in this their sad bereavement.

A precious one from us is gone,
A much loved voice is still,
A place is vacant in our midst,
Which never can be filled.
God in his mercy has recalled
The boon his love had given
And though his body rests on earth,
His soul is safe in Heaven.
