TRUE BILL

CAMP DISCHARGED

And will be a Witness Against Preston. Trial Today

(St John Globe, 3rd)
At four o'clock on Tuesday afternoon the Grand Jury, through Charles D Jones, foreman, reported no bill against Howard D. Camp, held on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Miss Clark.

About half a dozen members of the Grand Jury were absent Tuesday, and his honor the chief justice commented on this, stating he had found that a grand jurymen could get a doctor's certificate or some reasonable excuse for not attending. It was his present intention to fine the absentees unless they could furnish a valid reason for absenting themselves.

This forenoon the Grand Jury returned a true bill in the case of the King vs. Dr Edward A Preston, on the charge of manslaughter. The prisoner was arraigned and asked if he was willing to be tried Thursday (to-morrow). After consultation with his counsel, Mr. C N Skinner, he said "Yes." The court set eleven o'clock as the hour when the trial will begin. Dr Preston did not look well, and was said to be quite ill with a cold.

Howard Camp was discharged and his bail released. The chief Justice announced that Camp would be subpoenaed as a witness against Dr Preston.

LIQUOT ACT ENQUIRY

One Witness said an Inspector was Often Drunk, but not a Confirmed toper

Bathurst, N. B., Dec 29.—The investigation into the working of the license act went on all day yesterday before Hon Mr Commissioner Jones, and some twenty witnesses gave testimony. It was made clear that wholesale places had been run as retail saloons, and there appeared to be some evidence that this was with the knowledge of the members of the license commission or of the inspector.

Mr Mott and Mr Harrington, for the defence, examined the various witnesses very closely, and brought out from most of them that the members of the board of commissioners and the inspector bore good characters and were held in good reputation.

During the investigation one woman witness testified that her son was a drunkard, and that he was supplied with liquor, but whence she could not tell. Yesterday afternoon it was brought out in the examination of Percy Wilbur, who formerly kept a hotel here, that he had been warned by the inspector not to sell to the young man in question.

Most of the witnesses gave it as their opinion that the inspector was not a confirmed drunkard, as is alleged in one of the charges, and some of them said "he took his drink like the rest of us."

The most important witness for the complainants was Samuel F. Bishop, who is secretary of the temperance organization here. He said that the chairman of the license board told him that he would not proceed on an information unless a deposit of $20 was made, to be returned if a conviction resulted, and forfeited if three was a dismissal. He told of an interview at his father's house between the chairman, the inspector and Rev J H Hooper and himself, and said that the inspector was under the influence of liquor. The interview was unsatisfactory, he said. He said the inspector was under the influence "most of the times he had seen him, but on cross-examination, said he had only seen him in all four times, once he was sober and the other times he could not walk. He admitted that convictions had resulted from information laid against sellers by the inspector, while in some cases where no information, there had been dismissals.

One witness was asked how the general enforcement of the act appeared compared to that in other places where he had resided, and he answered that he thought matters were about as well here as elsewhere.

An amusing feature of the inquiry was that it was conclusively proved that playing cards for seese or other poultry was a custom particularly in vogue in Gloucester county, and more especially about Bathurst. There has been very little evidence, if any, of playing cards for money in barrooms so far.—Transcript.

In the matter of the winding up of the J W Dumas Company, of Gloucester county, there was a meeting of creditors yesterday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock. The report of the provisional liquidator, W H Harrison, was read and His Honor Chief Justice Tuck appointed Mr Harrison and Thomas Bell permanent liquidators. There will be a thorough investigation into the affairs of the Company and to that end J W Dumas, president of the company, will be examined.

The Provisional liquidator's report showed that he had visited Grand Anse and Shippegan and taken possession of the company's books, papers, etc., and brought them to St John, where he deposited them in a vault. He also got $140 in cash, which he deposited in the Bank of British North America. Stock taking is now going on and the Shippegan effects are estimated as worth less than $4,000 and those at Grand Anse are about $9,000. The entire book debts amount to about $2,000 making assets of $15,000.—Telegraph, 3rd.

A session was held at the town hall at 11.30 o'clock this morning and a fairly large number was present to meet the commissioners. Among those present were Hon J P Burchill and W S Loggie, M. P. of Chatham.

John Betts, fish exporter, of this town, and W S Loggie spoke on fish referring to the over-valuation of smelts by the Americans.

Adjournment was made at one o'clock. They will leave for Fredericton on the maritime express tomorrow morning.

The groom's gift to the bride was a check.

The happy couple left by this morning's train for Campbellton where they will reside. The bride's going-away costume was of blue broadcloth with sable turs. Many friends of Mr and Mrs Stewart will extend heartiest congratulations and best wishes for their future happiness.
