ONLY A Common Cold

BUT IT BECOMES A SERIOUS MATTER IF NEGLECTED. PNEUMONIA, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, CATARRH or CONSUMPTION IS THE RESULT.

Get rid of it at once by taking

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

Obstinate coughs yield to its grateful soothing action, and in the racking, persistent cough, often present in Consumptive cases, it gives prompt and sure relief. In Asthma and Bronchitis it is a successful remedy, rendering breathing easy and natural, enabling the sufferer to enjoy refreshing sleep, and often effecting a permanent cure.

We do not claim that it will cure Consumption in the advanced stages, but if taken in time it will prevent it reaching that stage, and will give the greatest relief to the poor sufferer from this terrible malady.

Be careful when purchasing to see that you get the genuine Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark.

Mr. Wm. O. Jenkins, Spring Lake, Alta., writes: "I had a very bad cold settled on my lungs. I bought two bottles of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup but it only required one to cure me. I have never met with any other medicine as good."

Price 25 cts.. at all dealers.

Wood's Phosphodine,

The Great English Remedy.

A positive cure for all forms of Sexual Weakness, Mental and Brain Worry, Emissions, Spermatorrhoea, Impotency, Effects of Abuse or Excess, all of which lead to Consumption, Infirmity, Insanity and an early grave. Price $1 per pkg., six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or mailed in plain package on receipt of price. Write for Pamphlet.

BEFORE AND AFTER

The Wood Medicine Co., Windsor, Ontario.

ARRESTED A 2 YEAR OLD BOY.

Pittsburg, Pa.—George Shaffer, 2 years old, was arrested on a warrant and charged with trespassing. A neighbor swore that George tore up his lawn and flower beds. But the Court declined to hear the case. The little son of Mrs. John Cline of Aylmer, Ont., was only a year older than baby Shaffer when his mother noticed that he suffered with severe attacks of Biliousness. She tried everything she could think of, but the boy grew steadily worse. "I cannot praise Fruit-a-tives too highly," writes Mrs. Cline. "I have tried so many different kinds of medicine for him, but he has had bilious attacks since he was three years old, since he began to take "Fruit-a-tives" he has been so well." "Fruit-a-tives" are the ideal medicine for children, as well as grown folk. They are pleasant to take and mild in action—being made of fruit juices and tonics. 50c a box. At all dealers.

CANADIAN CITIZENSHIP.

The viewpoint regarding Canadian citizenship, as expressed by so wise and worthy a French-Canadian as Senator Dandurand, would not fail to be interesting, observes the Montreal Witness. He told the Y. M. C. A. last evening that there could not be two ideas of Canadian citizenship, an English and a French one, but that the only ideal should be to weld the two into one, so far as citizenship was concerned Senator Dandurand told his hearers that the more the English-Canadians knew their French-speaking fellow countrymen the more they would find that they had the same ideals, in national, provincial and municipal politics. He put his finger on the sore spot when he stated that the great trouble today is the lack of public spirit, and that men of wealth and affairs wil not serve their fellows or work for the city's betterment. 'If they 'see anything wrong, they will merely 'grumble and swear and walk on, and 'that is all.' The speaker hoped for better things from the coming generations, but evidently despairs of the present one as past praying for. The lecture was of the kind to make people think, and it is hoped, resolve to do better.

A NOTABLE ACHIEVEMENT.

That the farmers of Canada are eminently satisfied with the Laurier administration was indicated Wednesday by the return of the liberal candidate in South Huron. South Huron is a constituency almost wholly composed of farmers and they have decided that liberal rule is good enough for them. That the liberal party will continue to gain seats in Ontario is a foregone conclusion. At the time of the last provincial election in Ontario the conservative party seemed to be in the ascendency. The people were not altogether satisfied with the Ross government and said so at the polls. But a couple of years have passed since then during which time the people of Ontario have learned that they were far better off under the old administration. The election of Whitney in Ontario was the best possible thing that could have happened to liberalism in Ontario. Stanstead, likewise, has gone liberal. Like South Huron, Stanstead has always been regarded as a conservative constituency notwithstaning the fact that it voted liberal in 1903. To carry two conservative constituencies in one day is an achievement the liberal party may well be proud of

THE BRITISH PREFERENCE.

The Toronto Globe, in a well-reasoned article, points out that it has sometimes been said that the British preference has had no appreciable effect on the voulme of British goods coming here. It is hard to understand what such critics expected of it. Our importations from Great Britain has declined from $51,679,762 in 1883 to $29,401,188 in 1897 (the last year affected by Conservative rule), the year it was introduced. As soon as the act went into force the balance was turned the other way, and for the twenty months ending March, 1907, our imports from Great Britain were $83,229,256. For the month of March, 1907, they amounted to $8,837,224, or $2,448,775 more than for the corresponding month of 1906. If the ratio is kept up the importations will be over $106,000,000. Surely an increase in ten years from $29,000,000 to $106,000,000 is not slow progress. The preference from the British standpoint has amply justified itself. It has more than justified itself so far as Canada is concerned. It has helped to reduce the consumers' taxation almost $3 per hundred, or on the total importation of 1906 by a sum equal to some $8,000,000. But this is not its only service. It is a well known rule in economies that every remission of taxation has a perceptible influence on the domestic prices of commodities. It would be quite within the mark, therefore, to increase the above figure by a large percentage. A third service the British preference has performed is to make it more easy to do business with Great Britain. The very fact of increasing return cargoes must make it easier to send our goods into their markets. The effect of this is seen in the figures of the export trade. In 1896 they were $109,915,337; in 1906, $235,483,956.

A cablegram form Paris says that thirty people broke through the ice in the Bois, but 'only two were drowned.' Only two! Very careless of the other twenty-eight.

A Pennsylvania barber was arrested for hugging a girl in a tunnel. During leap year men of sensitive natures will wait for the girls to take all such advances.

Cigar men are asking for more protection for domestic cigars, overlooking the salient fact that very many domestic cigars are quite strong enough to be able to protect themselves.

THE PANIC AND AFTER.

In endeavoring to account for the recent business panic in the United States, the comptroller of the currency, Mr. Ridley, shows that his views are very similar to those of President Roosevelt. The latter bluntly ascribed it to speculation; Mr. Ridley says the trouble was due to over-expansion of business, and too much trading in stocks. He believes that no one does the duty of mitigating the effects of the panic fall so directly as on the banks. By their partial suspension of payments and their disarrangement of the machinery of domestis exchanges and remittances, necessary though it may have been, they first brought the effects of the business reaction to bear on their customers and the business public. It is manifestly their duty to restore business to normal conditions by resuming their functions as promptly and fully as possible. That there is the strongest desire and disposition on the part of the banks to do this may be taken as a good sign, and further cause for satisfaction is found in the fact that present conditions are such as to make recovery much more prompt than has been the case after similar financial crises. What the comptroller considers the striking feature of the panic of 1907 is that, sudden and severe as it was, the trouble with the banks has not been worse, and the failures more numerous and widespread. From Oct. 20 to Dec. 30 last there were but sixteen failures or suspensions of national banks. Of these two have resumed and several others should do likewise in the near future. When contrasted with the panic of 1903, when 169 national banks failed, of which 54 were never reopened, it will be seen that the results of the recent disturbance were not so bad after all. The total number of national bank failures during the whole of 1907—just 21—has been exceeded many times in years when there has been nothing that could be called a panic. The banks have stood the strain of the past month or two better than ever before, and they began the new year in better condition than they ever were after such a crisis. The comptroller, while recognizing that the panic is over and the worst is past, sees a long period of readjustment and recuperation before the people. Values of all kinds he says, will have to be arranged. He predicts more industrial and commercial failures. A period of retrenchment and liquidation must be gone through, but it will be neither so long nor so trying as it has been at other times. The country has been too fast in business, and all classes of people have been living too extravagantly. The check which must be put to such a state of affairs during the period of readjustment cannot but prove beneficial all round.

Constipation

Baked sweet apples, with some people, bring prompt relief for Constipation. With other coarse all-wheat bread will have the same effect. Nature undoubtedly has a vegetable remedy to relieve every ailment known to man, if physician can but find Nature's way to health. And this strikingly true with regard to Constipation.

The bark of a certain tree in California—Cascara Sagrada—offers a most excellent aid to the end. But, combined with Egyptian Senna, Slippery Elm Bark, Solid Extract of Prunes, etc., this same Cascara bark is given its greatest possible power to correct constipation. A toothsome Candy Tablet, called Lax-ets, is now made at the Dr. Shoop Laboratories, from this ingenuous and most effective prescription. Its effect on Constipation, Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath, Sallow Complexion, etc., is indeed prompt and satisfying.

No griping, no unpleasant after effects are experienced, and Lax-ets are put up in beautiful lithographed metal boxes at 5 cents and 25 cents per box.
