Mr. Foster puts much stress upon the fact that he is a Christian and a man, yet he does not show the qualities of either when he keeps the public servants of the country out of the pay which they have earned.

The Textile Trust made profits of $4,435 last year after paying dividends upon its watered stock. That is not a showing which qualifies it to put on a poor face and declare that it cannot pay living wages to its operators.

An Ottawa dispatch says: The Appeal bank statement does not give the amount of the deposit in Canada. At the end of April the deposits in Canadian Banks payable on demand was a hundred and fifty-four millions, an increase of six millions over the month previous.

Obstruction is invariably employed to arrest public attention and concentrate it on some measure which an oppositionist believed to be inherently bad. The Government need not fear public attention in this case. The stand of the Opposition is thoroughly studied the more this will appear.

George Washington Perkins, of Casville, Mich., lost his watch and advertised for it, stating that the person who found it was known and that no questions would be asked if it were returned. Since then five watches have been sent him anonymously, and he is keeping the advertisement in the paper.

Big births in the Belfast, G. B. yard, are not only the things which point to the eventual production of the 1909 ship, certain works are proceeding at Southampton in connection with the new dock which clearly anticipates the advent of vessels of that length. Probably before such a ship actually appears accommodation will be provided for her.

The Montreal Star cannot disguise its lack of sympathy with Hon. G. E. Foster. Its latest bit at that 'moral reformer' is in reference to the issue of Civil Service Reform. It shows that it comes with the poor grace for Mr. Foster to condemn anyone for not promoting reform of the Civil Service in view of the fact that he is in power for twelve years and dubs him a 'Civil Service reformer.' That is a title which will stick—Ottawa Free Press.

EUROPEAN METHODS.

Canada, being the latest of the great tree-producing countries of the world to have its forest resources exploited, is fortunately in a position to benefit by the experiences of other lands, and learn at no cost lessons for which they have often paid a terrible price.

In this respect the United States, on account of their proximity and very similar physical and climatic conditions in the northern parts, first offer themselves for consideration. And the startling disclosures which have in recent months been made of the approaching failure of American forest resources afford Canadians a very striking illustration of the inevitable results of the extravagant forestry methods there adopted. But there is also much to be learned from a study of European methods, which are less familiar to people in this country.

In the first place in studying European methods it must be remembered that conditions are very different from those of America. The timber lands are very limited when compared with such forest areas as those of Canada, they have been used for many generations and even centuries, and their preservation has made necessary a careful and elaborate system of management which might in its entirety be at present more or less impracticable in this country.

Trade conditions, too, are very different, and this could not be better illustrated than by the case of Germany, where an import duty is placed on pulpwood. On this continent such a duty is out of the question, and the whole difficulty is caused by the too great readiness of one country to take the other's wood. But there is a good reason for the duty in Germany, as it is necessary to protect the native lumbermen, who are greatly restricted in their operations by a careful system of government supervision.

Of all European countries, Sweden offers the closest parallel to the conditions in this country. Sweden has the forest resources for country of its size, but they have been eagerly exploited and now, in spite of a very efficient government forest service, a scarcity of timber begins to be felt. Furthermore, its neighbor, Norway, is drawing heavily on the Swedish supplies of pulpwood, as the Norwegian mills cannot find sufficient raw material at home. This position is very similar to that subsisting between Canada and the United States. In order to check this heavy exportation pulpwood the Swedish government in 1906 informed an export duty on a certain kind of pulpwood. And there now a strong movement in that country to raise this duty to $1.50 a cord so as to make it practically prohibitive.

Another country which has an export duty on pulpwood is Finland, which is drawn on very largely by Germany for its pulpwood. An export duty was established, and not being sufficiently effective, was doubled, and now there is an agitation for a still further increase. Furthermore the Finnish government insists on large exporters of pulpwood, such as Waldhof, of Mannheim, manufacturing their pulp in Finland, as much wood as they take out of the country. As a result Waldhof has lately constructed a 200 ton pulp mill in Finland.

In Austria there is no export duty in spite of the fact that a great quantity of pulpwood is annually exported especially to Germany. The reason, however, is clear when it is understood that the government owns only 1 per cent of the timberland, all the rest being in the hands of private owners and the competitors of government mills. These men would naturally be opposed to any check on their operations, but there is nevertheless a strong movement in Austria to put an end to the export of pulpwood.

In Germany, too, there is no export duty, but the reason is that the home supply of pulpwood does not begin to supply the home consumption, and the government system of forestry and government supervision is employed to preserve the forests from destruction. The other countries of Europe possess so little wood that they are not worth considering in this connection, except as horrible examples of the results of reckless forestry.

CANADIAN FORESTRY ASSOCIATION

The railway builder has too often sounded the death-knell of the forest. Only of late years has the necessary care been exercised to prevent the wholesale destruction of forests along railway lines in course of construction.

The Canada Atlantic and the Toronto and Northern Ontario Railway are examples of railways built in some portions, through valuable forests without any considerable damage having been done to the woods by fire. During the construction of the former its builder, Mr. John E. Booth, the well-known lumberman, laid down for his contractors such regulations in regard to burning brush along the right of way and setting fire generally that no serious fires took place. Constant and careful patrolling of the line of the T. & N. O. has likewise resulted in an almost complete absence of forest fires.

An unfortunate contrast to this is presented in the construction of the C. P. R. lines in Northern Ontario and British Columbia. These were constructed before the days of careful oversight in the matter of fires along the right of way. In 1869 a line of forest fire, extending from Nipigon, Ont. westward to the coast, was responsible for the loss of a comparatively short distance of the line of the C. P. R. in 1869 was partly responsible for its being burned over, but the building of the railway in 1882-84 was responsible for a far greater proportion of the loss. Around Canmore, B. C., and Kicking Horse Lake, too, occurred conspicuous examples of destruction wrought by forest fires arising from C. P. R. construction.

In the building of the new transcontinental line, the Grand Trunk Pacific, better things are promised. As a result of the co-operation of the Dominion and New Brunswick governments, it is announced that a strong fire patrol will be maintained along the line of the railway through the latter province, where valuable timber areas are traversed. West of Edmonton, too, along the route of the railway, the patrolling of the line has been arranged for and is already in operation.

EXPECT TRIP TO RESTORE HEALTH

Prince of Wales Not Enjoying the Best of Health.

TRIP TO CANADA

Expected This Will Greatly Aid His Return to Former Health and Strength.

NEW YORK, Monday.—A London cable to the American says: The Prince of Wales, not enjoying the best of health just now, and the royal physicians have insisted upon his getting as much sea air as possible. It is expected that the prince's trip to Quebec in July will prove an aid to his recovery.

The prince has never worked harder than he has done of late and is conscientiously performs all sorts of duties in the palace of his father. Sometimes of late he has been so thoroughly tired out after a long day that he has been compelled to retire as early as nine o'clock.

If one feels dull and spiritless in the spring or early summer, they call it 'Spring Fever.' But there is no fever usually. It is the after effect of our winter habits. The nerves are mostly at fault. Tired, worn-out nerves leave a languid, listless and without spirit, or ambition. A restorative will quickly and quickly change all of these depressing symptoms. The Restorative gives a splendid and prompt relief to the health in a day or two, but it will do enough in 48 hours to satisfy you that the remedy is reaching that 'tired spot.' Druggists everywhere are advising its use as a splendid and prompt relief to the health in a day or two, but it will do enough in 48 hours to satisfy you that the remedy is reaching that 'tired spot.'

NEW CARLSLE

NEW CARLSLE, Wednesday.—We were visited with quite a rainstorm on Tuesday, the rain fell in torrents but today the weather is about cleared up and we hope that it will continue so.

Mr. Hector Morrison arrived here from the United States Monday, where he has been for the last few years. Mr. Morrison, of Campbellton arrived in town Monday, to attend the funeral of his brother, Wm. Ray. Dr. Arsenault of Bonaventure passed through here Tuesday.

We are pleased to see Mr. X. Menard look again looking well, after going through an operation at the Hotel Dieu, at Campbellton. The funeral services of the late Wm. Ray took place Tuesday afternoon at St. Andrew's Episcopal church, New Carlisle, and was largely attended.

BATHURST, Wednesday.—Ten men left this morning for the iron mines having been sent here by the Drummonds. They will begin to build such buildings as are necessary and make what ever other preparations required before the opening up of the mines.

Work has been commenced on the new mill of the Bathurst Lumber Co. Already extensive excavations have been made. Stone is being scooped from Bell's quarries at Stonehaven, an immense stone crusher has arrived and will immediately begin crushing in the cement works.

Some two hundred Italians are expected very soon to wheel the railroad and shovel gravel on the spur of the road which this company intend building.

The crew of the wrecked laborer were in town yesterday afternoon and evening.

P. G. Mahoney, Melrose, is in town in connection with the loss sustained through the negligence of the Wm. Wilmut Young Co. who open a three night's engagement at Bathurst Monday evening next, June 8th, preceding the first time here. Mr. Young's own dramatization of Bertha M. Clay's celebrated novel 'Thorns and Orange Blossoms.' A number of the specialties will be given between the acts.

OTTAWA, Wednesday.—It is a sign that the election bill deadlocked in a fair way of settlement. This time by agreement between the Prime Minister and the leader of the Opposition, R. P. Roblin does not figure in it. The basis of settlement has been embodied in an amendment prepared by the Opposition members, and Sir Wilfrid is disposed to accept it. The proposal was talked over at a liberal caucus yesterday and a laborer breathing are relieved, suffocating sensations and loss of breath are cured. NEW WAY TO BE WELL

Healthfulness of Oranges.

The one lesson which most people never seem to learn is, how to guard their health.

We have been eating oranges since time immemorial, yet how many of us know that orange juice contains a medicinal principle which has a marked action on the stomach, bowels, kidneys and skin. Some physicians go so far as to say that they can cure the average case of indigestion, Constipation, Biliousness and Dry Skin with orange juice and proper diet.

This can be easily proved to the satisfaction of any sufferer. Take the juice of one or two oranges every morning before breakfast, take one or two "Fruit-a-lives" every night at bedtime, exercise a reasonable care in diet, and the proof will be found in health.

The cure will be greatly assisted and hastened by taking "Fruit-a-lives" in conjunction with the orange juice. "Fruit-a-lives" are fruit juices in which the medicinal principle of oranges, apples, figs and prunes are many times increased by the special way in which they are combined. Then tonics are added and the whole made into tablets. "Fruit-a-lives" may be obtained at all dealers or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price—50c a box—4 for $2.00. "Fruit-a-lives" Limited, Ottawa.

LINDSAY, Ont., Wednesday.—The little son of Thomas Waldon, South Ops, was brought to Ross hospital last night in badly scalded condition. The little fellow backed into a tub of hot water and was scalded from his head down to his knees. His parents hurried to town with their child, but they did not arrive without incident. Passing the cemetery the horse shied and tipped the three occupants into a ditch, bruising all of them very severely, but especially the little fellow who was severely suffering a great deal. The injuries are so severe that little hope is held out for the lad's recovery.

ST. JOHN, Wednesday.—G. M. Jarvis, District superintendent of the L. C. R. died very suddenly in the Royal Hotel here, Monday.

He was a "super" and was apparently in the best of health. After supper he retired to his room. A few minutes later he telephoned down to the clerk to come up that he was not feeling well. The clerk on going up found Mr. Jarvis stretched out on the floor and gasping hard for breath.

The clerk placed him upon the bed and telephoned to Dr. T. D. Walker. When the physician arrived the doctor was breathing his last. The doctor puts his death down as heavy asthma, probably caused by acute indigestion. Deceased entered the employ of the I. C. R. over 20 years ago. In 1888 he was appointed District Superintendent with headquarters at Terrebonne and leaves besides a wife, one son and two daughters.
