BREAD INSPECTOR APPOINTED.—At Tuesday night's meeting of the city council, city marshal Roberts was appointed bread inspector. His duties are to commence April 1st.; no salary is provided. LONGER HOURS.—The clerks in the various departmental buildings were lately notified of an advance—not in their wages, but in the time they are to work. Hereafter they will be required to be at their offices at half-past nine in the morning and remain until half-past four in the afternoon, and during the session of the House until six, instead of from ten o'clock until four, as was formerly the custom.

COMMENCED CUTTING ICE.—R. A. Estey, acting for himself and several associates commenced cutting ice, nearly opposite his mill, on Friday. He has a large number of men at work, and can give employment to more. He will cut about five thousand tons, and will store the most of it in a building to be erected in the old exhibition grounds. It is to be hoped that their enterprise will meet with success.

CASE AGAINST J. A. EDWARDS.—The case against John A. Edwards for a fourth violation of the Scott Act was taken up on Friday morning. No witnesses appeared in answer to the subpœnas, and the case was adjourned for a week. Police Magistrate Marsh announced his intention of issuing warrants on Monday to bring the witnesses before the court. J. W. McCready for prosecution. Wesley Vanwart for defence.

Races at Marysville.

One of the largest crowds of the season was in attendance at the Marysville rink Friday night, to witness the grand programme of races which was announced to take place. The fame of the skaters who were to take part in the important races, and the fact that the ice was in excellent condition was a sufficient inducement to fill the rink to its utmost capacity.

The races were a success in every respect, reflecting more than ordinary credit on the management. Indeed a gentleman who has been present at some of the skating contests of the world, said he never saw races managed in a more satisfactory manner. The Marysville brass band furnished excellent music, and the little town should be proud of its rink and its band.

The one mile race for the amateur record of the world, now held by Joe Donoghue of New York, was skated by R. W. Carson of St. John, in 3.12. Taking everything into consideration this was excellent time.

The three mile professional race for championship of New Brunswick and handsome gold medal, was contested by H. Dingee and E. McDonald of St. John. The former won in 9.40.

The three mile amateur race for gold medal and championship of Fredericton and Marysville, was won by Arthur Gibson, defeating T. Stafford; time 10.30.

The three mile race for gold medal between James Hefferon of Portland and R. W. Carson of St. John, amateur champion of the maritime provinces, was won by Carson in 10.28.

There were some other boys races which were very interesting and in which good time was made, but our space does not permit of publishing them.

Bible Society Meeting.

The Bible society meeting on Thursday was largely attended. In his report the secretary, Chas. A. Sampson, referred to the removal from the province, during the year, of Messrs. George R. Parkin and W. G. Gaunce, both energetic members of the committee; also that of the gentlemen who managed the affairs of the society 30 years ago, only one occupies a place on the committee to-day—Andrew Inches. The names of the officers and committee for the ensuing year are as follows:

President, George E. Fenety; vice presidents, Hon. David Wark and E. C. Freeze; treasurer, Hon. A. F. Randolph; secretary, Chas. A. Sampson; auditor, John Edwards; depositary, J. F. McMurray; committee, Andrew Inches, Wm. Crocket, A. M., Prof. T. Harrison, LL D. Herbert C. Creed, A. M., C. H. B. Fisher, Q. C., John W. Spurden, James A. Vanwart, A. M., J. G. McNally, G. R. Parkin, A. M., Martin Lemont, John J. Weddall, Wesley Vanwart, A. M., D. R. Forgan, L. W. Johnston, G. H. Coburn, M. D., together with the ministers of the different denominations, who are members of the society. The depository is the bookstore of Messrs. McMurray & Co., Queen street.

The treasurer's report showed that the ladies' branch paid into the treasury $588.73, which, with the balance on hand at the beginning of the year, and amount paid in by repository, made the total sum for the year, $741.18. The usual remittance of £40 sterling was forwarded to the parent society as a free contribution, and £10 on purchase account. The ladies' branch forwarded £40 to the London Bible and domestic female mission.

The following programme was very satisfactorily carried out.

Hymn, Onward Christian Soldiers; reading of scripture, Rev. Dr. McLeod; prayer, Rev. G. B. Payson; anthem, choir; address, the president; reading the report of the secretary and treasurer; sacred solo, Mrs. C. H. B. Fisher; address, The Social and Political Advantages of the Bible to Men and Nations, Rev. J. Shenton; hymn, From Greenland's Icy Mountains, audience; address, his honor the lieutenant governor; address, The Necessity of Adhering to rather than Departing from the Bible Standards as laid down in Law and Gospel, Rev. A. J. Mowatt; anthem collection; address, The Circulation of the Bible in Japan, Eldon Mullin, A. M; resolution of thanks, Rev. F. D. Crawley; doxology; benediction.

The Harvey-Salisbury Line.

Halifax has returned to its first love, and has again declared in favor of the Harvey-Salisbury route of the Short Line. Joint committees from the city council, chamber of commerce, and board of trade of Halifax, have passed resolutions to be forwarded to Ottawa, from which the following is an extract:

"Resolved, that while recognizing the great benefit that would accrue to the province of Nova Scotia by having the I. C. Railway connect at Moncton with the two greatest railway systems in Canada, giving the shortest routes to the west and carriers of more than half the imports and exports of the country, this joint committee would impress upon the representatives of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick at Ottawa, the immediate and urgent necessity for the completion of this portion of Canada's continental highway between Harvey and Salisbury."

Several very enthusiastic speeches were made favoring this route, and the resolutions were carried unanimously. It looks as if the Halifax people were at last firmly decided in regard to which of the proposed routes is the most probable and practical. The resolutions recently passed by the Fredericton city council were read at the Halifax meetings and approved of. His Worship Mayor Allen is in communication with the Mayor of Halifax, in regard to the advisability of sending a joint delegation from Halifax, Moncton and Fredericton, to the capital at an early day, to lay the claims of the Harvey-Salisbury Line before parliament. Edward Jack, at Tuesday night's meeting of the Fredericton city council, laid before the board certain interesting and important facts in support of the Harvey-Salisbury route, dwelling particularly on the important results that would follow the opening up of the Newcastle coal fields.

Mr. Jack has been instructed by the council to prepare a statement showing the main facts, figures and arguments in favor of this route, to be printed and forwarded to Ottawa. The prospects of the Harvey-Salisbury Line being built seem to be brightening, and if the cities of Halifax, Moncton and Fredericton would unite their influence, much might be accomplished.

Who are They?

There has been considerable talk in the city and vicinity lately over an unhappy estrangement which has recently taken place between a newly-married couple residing not far from the city. The groom is well known in the city and the locality in which he resides, and the bride was a resident of Fredericton previous to her marriage. After the wedding the young couple went to the home of the groom's parents to reside. Certain actions of the daughter-in-law raised the anxiety, if not the suspicions, of the old folks. A call from a gentleman visitor one day is said to have lasted a little longer than was thought necessary, and the husband was notified. He went into the room and threatened to apply the boots to his wife's visitor if he did not decamp. Since then proceedings for a divorce have been talked of.

Officers Elected.

At the last regular meeting of Royal Arcanum and Home Circle of this city the following officers were installed for both Councils for the present term by Deputy G. S. Clark:

Regent, Z. R. Everett.
Vice Regent, John Harvey.
Secretary, Dr. G. E. Coulthard.
Treasurer, Henry Chestnut.
Orator, Wm. J. Edgecombe.
Chaplain, Giles Osgood.
Collector, Wm. Crewdson.
Warden, Geo. Bookout.
Past Regent, John J. Weddall.
Sentinel, Fred. Carvell.

Milkmaids' Social.

The milkmaids' social in the Temperance Hall on Wednesday night was a very interesting and successful entertainment. The following programme was satisfactorily carried out: Reading, "Bringing Home the Cows," by Miss Carrie Everett; song, "The Broken Pitcher," by Miss Edith Porter; recitation, "The Milkmaid," by Miss Ella Clark; song, "Where are you going, my Pretty Maid?" by Miss Sadie Everett and Master Roland Wilson; reading, "High Tide on the Coast of Lincolnshire," by Miss Maggie Porter; recitation, "The Milkmaid and the Cow," by Miss Louise Thompson; chorus, "We'll turn our glasses upside down."

A Responsible Undertaking.

His Lordship Bishop Kingdon is about to proceed to New York, where he is to deliver a course of lectures known as the "Bishop Paddock Lectures," established by a wealthy New York churchman for the defence of the leading tenets of the Christian religion, and so named in honor of Bishop Paddock. The course begins on Monday next, and the lectures, seven in number, are to be delivered on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays successively until finished. Bishop Kingdon has chosen for his subject, "God Incarnate," and has, evidently, undertaken a work of no little labor and responsibility.

The Curlers.

The curlers played a pretty lively match in the rink on Wednesday. The ice was in good condition and some fine playing was done. The match was between those over and under 33, and resulted as follows:

Skip Inglis defeated skip Lee Babbitt, 16 to 12.

Skip Rutter defeated skip Hoegg, 12 to 11.

Skip Hawthorn defeated skip Grieves, 16 to 9.

The P. E. I. Poisoning Case.

The examinations into the Charlottetown poisoning case is being continued. Several witnesses testified to Mrs. Weeks having purchased strychnine and rough on rats at various times. Another witness testified that the defendant had poisoned some cats with a white powder. W. F. Best of St. John, testified that rough on rats contained ninety-nine parts of arsenic. He tested it with the whiskey for some time, and the whiskey in the analysis contained arsenic. He would not say it was rough on rats.

John Williams testified that he drove Mrs. Weeks to Cape Traverse to cross to the mainland. Mrs. Weeks told witness it was hard she should have to leave through Mrs. Sutherland. John D. McLeod testified to Mrs. Weeks telling him she had received an anonymous letter advising her to leave the island at once. David McKay advised her to leave, and gave her $200 to go with. Collector of Inland Revenue Nash told how he had seen Sutherland making clandestine visits to Mrs. Weeks in the autumn of 1888, and entering through the pantry window, and through the front door, and that these visits had continued for some time. While this evidence was being given Mrs. Weeks was taken suddenly ill.

W. F. Carter had a conversation with Mrs. Weeks on the train from Cape Traverse. She would defy Sutherland to go back on her. She just wanted to see him for five minutes to settle it. "I suppose Jim is acting best man home, now?" she said.

W. D. McKay knew of the poisoning on 28th January. He talked with Sutherland on the 30th. He induced Mrs. Weeks to go away on the 31st. He sent her $200 for that purpose. He induced her to go away for Sutherland's sake, as her name was mentioned in connexion with the case. He did it for Sutherland's sake, as they were great personal friends, without thinking of the consequence to Mrs. Weeks. He wanted to avoid a scandal. Sutherland was opposed to her going.

Maggie and Annie Henderson, sisters of Mrs. Sutherland, told of their visits to see their sister, Mrs. William Goom, who lives in the other half of the house with Mrs. Weeks, was also examined. She said the prisoner told her New Year's day, 1889, that Sutherland gave her a set of diamond earrings as a present. She saw Sutherland go in and out of Mrs. Weeks' frequently and at different hours. She also saw him go out at daylight in the morning.

W. A. Weeks, brother-in-law of the prisoner, said he was one of the trustees of his brother's estate, which yielded about $300 a year. She drew money from the principal on two occasions, once in 1888 and again in December, 1889.

W. C. T. U. Conference.

There will be a conference of W. C. T. U. workers in this city march 13th and 14th. The sessions of Thursday afternoon and all day Friday are open to the public. Delegates from Chatham, St. Stephen, Milltown, St. John, Woodstock, Gibson, will be in attendance. On Thursday evening there will be a public meeting in the City Hall, addressed by members of the legislature.

Many good things are expected: A good audience, good speaking, good singing, and a good silver collection, all in aid of W. C. T. U. work.

IN THE LUMBER WOODS.

The Present Contrasted with the Past.

The lumber season is about drawing to a close. For the most part the winter's operations have met with average success. The cut in the various sections of the province is equal for the most part, to that of previous years. On the whole the winter has been favorable to the great industry of our province. There have been a few drawbacks, not the least of which has been the ubiquitous grip, which penetrated the remotest depths of the forest, and laid its frigid hand on the woodsman. The present heavy snow storm, following so closely on that of last week, will considerably impede the work of hauling lumber from the yards to the brows, but with these exceptions, the people of the province will be pleased to learn that the great industry of New Brunswick, which gives employment to so many men, and which keeps alive and prosperous so many other lines of business, has not been retarded by any calamitous drawbacks, and that the cut for the winter is satisfactory to the various operators.

"Speaking of lumbering," said a prominent lumberman the other day, "there is no business in which the advance and improvements over old plans and methods have been more rapid and complete than in the lumbering operations in the woods. Why, said he, it is only a few years, since the man who went into the woods in the fall, saw no signs of comfort until he came out in the spring. The accommodations were all of the most rude and primitive character, the camps were generally built after the men went into the woods, and were mere protections against the weather, the men laid down at night on some boughs, with such covering as they might happen to bring into the woods with them; the fare was the most common kind, being chiefly pork and fish—none of the present comforts being heard of in those days. It was on the streams that the men suffered most. From long before daylight in the morning until after sundown at night the men drove the lumber down the swollen streams, and often drenched through at night by an accidental bath in the cold water, or by a beating rain, they laid down on the cold ground without covering of any kind and slept until morning. They always laid close together and built a huge fire, which two men of the party, in turns, kept blazing all night long, and by the time the men were ready to turn out they were pretty well dried, provided it did not rain during the night. Now these things are all changed and the old plan of getting along in the woods, has given way to the progressive spirit of the times, and the man who goes into the woods for the winter very often goes to a house far better than the one he left his family in at home, and almost always more conveniently appointed. The lumber camps of the present day are substantial and commodious, are fitted up with all the modern improvements. A good cooking range and a good cook are the first essentials. The sleeping accommodation around the sides of the camp are well supplied with straw beds, and plenty of woollen blankets. The "grub" is of the best quality and the most nutritous that the country affords. Beans and pork and hot buns form the morning meal, a dinner of cold meat and bread is carried to the men in the woods, while a hot supper of fresh beef, potatoes, and some kind of a pudding, or perhaps codfish or soup, awaits them on their return to the camp in the evening. The evening hours are spent in various ways, some of the men grinding axes, others mending socks, moccassins or snowshoes, others reading a book or a late paper sent them by their friends at home, while another plays the fiddle or entertains the company with a song. No card playing is ever seen in a well regulated lumber camp. A bundle of papers or books from the regions of civilization is looked upon as a great treat, and goes the rounds of all the men, who read everything, even to the advertisements. The old method of driving is improved on, the men being well fed and sleeping in tents each night. Taking everything into consideration the life of the lumberman of the present day is a comfortable and healthy life."

Colwell and Aleck Lee, are the executors. The will provides that, that part of the estate on Westmorland street, the homestead, shall go to Newton, now in Dorchester penitentiary he to pay $300 into the estate. The livery stable and opera house property on Queen street is to be held in trust for Aleck, and Henry, whose whereabouts is not known, each to pay into the estate $1,000 in five years, or should Henry not turn up in three years Aleck to pay into the estate $2,000 additional, then all to be held in trust for him, he to derive the benefit therefrom during his lifetime; then the property, to go to his children. The rest of the property, is to be sold and converted into cash within eighteen months, and after paying debts and all other expenses, Mrs. Lintforth is to receive $300, and his daughters, Mrs. G. Jones, Mrs. James Ryan, Mrs. John Russell, and Mrs. Wm. Lowry, $100 each; and his son William $100. The residue of the estate is to be divided equally between daughters after all debts are paid.

SILVER AND GOLD.—The mining craze has struck Carleton county in earnest, and it would seem that there is good reason for it. Since the discovery of traces of silver and gold in the Brittain-Shaw mine near Woodstock, other parties owning lands in the vicinity have commenced digging it is reported, with more than ordinary incouragement. The ore is said to yield $600 worth of silver and $100 worth of gold to the ton, besides ten per cent. lead. A company has been formed to work one of the mines, and others will be opened up. A gentleman from Carleton Co. says that the land in the vicinity is of the same character.
