Ethel Allen's Body Found.—The body of a girl was found yesterday afternoon on the beach at Red Head by one of Mrs. John R. Gillis' children who had been in bathing. The body was much decomposed and mutilated, the head, arm, and a leg being missing. Captain Rouse, who was notified of the discovery of the body, drove into the city and told Coroner Berryman of it. The coroner sent undertaker Chamberland out and had the body brought to the dead house, where it still remains. As far as possible the identification proved to be the body of Ethel Allen, one of the poor girls who were drowned off Reed's point several months ago when returning from a dance at Carleton. The relatives were informed that they had better not view the body, and it will be buried as soon as possible.

While the relatives did not see the body, the girl who was rescued when Miss Allen lost her life, identified the necklace, and some other articles found with the body, which Coroner Berryman says he is satisfied with this.—Gazette.

Board of Trade.—At a special meeting of the board of trade held Friday afternoon, the committee appointed to meet the agricultural society reported they had done so and had carefully discussed the advisability of holding an exhibition here this fall open to the provinces for agricultural, horticultural and stock exhibit, and that they had concluded it would not be wise to undertake the exhibition, but that the money should be guaranteed. One-half of this sum is expected from the local government and the balance is to be raised outside. The board decided to ask the city council for a grant of not less than $500 to be paid out of the accumulated interest of the $3,000 held by the city for the old exhibition building, the balance to be raised by private subscriptions. Committee were appointed for these purposes.

It is also proposed to offer some special prizes for dairy products, and that the competition may be open to all the provinces. The Bijou Opera Company.—A large audience gathered at the city hall on Thursday evening to hear the Bijou opera company in their celebrated opera, Ermeline. The company is a good one and the singing was excellent. Undoubtedly, the feature of the evening was the singing in the last act, of The Last Rose of Summer, by Miss Randall. This was rendered in excellent style, and Miss Randall was obliged to respond to vociferous applause. Miss Vining was also given a great reception. Messrs Peakes and Leonard, in their character as thieves, provoked much laughter and well-deserved applause.

Social Amusements.

On Tuesday morning and afternoon, a festival was held on the grounds adjoining the church of St. Nicholas. A number from this city and Gibson attended. A basket and strawberry social was held in the hall at Douglas, on Friday. In the evening, the young people had the advantage of the opportunity and had a dance on the ground, adjoining the hall.

The A. O. H. of this city will run an excursion to Calais some time during next week. An excursion to Calais is well patronized, doubtless a large number will take the opportunity to spend a day in the border city.

Another picnic was held on Wednesday on the grounds of B. D. Sewall, at Spring Hill. The Ivanhoe in charge of Geo. I. Gunter took a large number of ladies and gentlemen from this city to the picnic grounds. The program of sports was similar to that at the other picnic, and were indulged in with a vigor.

A picnic under the auspices of St. Marys Altar society was held at Hayes field, St. Marys, on Tuesday night, and was very largely attended. A good program of sports attracted the attention of the young people during the afternoon, and in the evening a large number tripped the lights fantastic to the music of the Marys' band.

The Prohibition lodge, No. 8. L. O. T. A. will hold an anniversary social in their hall on Tuesday evening. This lodge which has been organized one year, is progressing rapidly and now numbers some thirty members, ten members on an average, being added to the lodge at every meeting. An interesting program has been arranged consisting of solos, recitations, readings, etc., as the close of which refreshments will be served.

The arrangements are being completed for the mammoth picnic to be held August 6th at St. John, under the auspices of the Prohibition lodge, K. of P. The picnic will undoubtedly be well patronized, and every possible means are being brought into requisition to make the affair a success. Both the Fredericton and David Weston bands, ten members on an average, being added to the lodge at every meeting. An interesting program has been arranged consisting of solos, recitations, readings, etc., as the close of which refreshments will be served.

Don't forget the festival at the grove on Monday evening and the picnic at the Fredericton Brass band. Let everybody go and have a good time. A good program of sports has been arranged for which excellent prizes are offered, and in addition to this the celebrated "McGinley family" will be there. Plenty of music will be furnished by the Fredericton Brass and Marysville bands. A good chance will be afforded those who wish to dance, while for those who do not care for this kind of amusement, other recreation will be in progress.

The moonlight excursion under the auspices of Star Social club on Monday evening was attended by some twenty people. The night was warm, and the decks were lined with people listening to the delightful music furnished by the Fredericton Brass band, while the band was crowded with dancers. The F. O. M. V. orchestra furnished excellent music for this part of the proceedings, while that of the band on the deck is very highly spoken of. The refreshment table was well supplied, and the boys were kept busy supplying the wants of their customers. The party sailed down about twelve miles returning about midnight.

Recent Fires.—The old schoolhouse at McKee's corner, Kewick, which has been used for the past four or five years only as a hall for temperance and other gatherings, was burned to the ground early Wednesday morning. It had been the cause of much speculation, and its burning is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary. The building was worth about $500.

On Wednesday, Patrick Lucy of Hallowville, a brother of Daniel Lucy of this city, lost his house by fire. Mr. Lucy was away from home at the time, and the occupants of the house were unwary of the fire until warned by a girl who came from an adjoining field. The house was completely destroyed along with furniture, kitchen utensils, bedding etc. The fire originated from a spark from the chimney. No insurance.

A heavy fire occurred at Gibson on Tuesday night, by which a dwelling occupied and owned by Robert Nell was completely ruined. The contents of the house were lost out at the time, Mr. Nell being in St. John and his wife at her father's house. The St. Marys firemen turned out, and were the means of saving from destruction by the flames several houses in the vicinity. It is not known how the fire caught. The house was insured with F. I. Morrison for $1,000, and the furniture for $500, which will fully cover the loss.

A most disastrous fire occurred on Thursday evening about 10 o'clock, whereby a mill property, on the Woodstock road, a short distance above the city, owned and occupied by R. K. Jewett, was completely destroyed. There were grave suspicions that it was the work of an incendiary but this proved to be without foundation. The mill had been on fire during the afternoon but was extinguished by the men. Mr. Jewett had been at the mill about the 10 o'clock, but had returned home thinking everything was all right at ten o'clock the mill was in flames. The hose companies destroyed the mill, but were unable to progress of the fire, on account of not being able to obtain any water. The mill was valued at about $5,000, and was insured for $2,500. Mr. Jewett has the sympathy of all in his heavy loss.

He will spend his holiday between the two places, Harvey and Fredericton, though he may go as far as St. John and perhaps extend his visit to St. Stephen.—Telegraph.

The Fredericton brass band will favor the citizens of the upper part of the city, at the grove on Smythe street, with a choice program of music next week. The week following the band will give an open air concert at Maryville.

Grover Cleveland at Fredericton.

(From the Canadian Advertiser.) The news that Mr. Cleveland of the Barker House, Fredericton, had received a despatch from ex-president Cleveland, engaging rooms for himself and party on Wednesday night, was welcomed in the celestial city with a spirit of enthusiasm that one sees manifested only on important occasions, such as a meeting of the legislature or when there seems to be a turn in public sentiment giving rise to hope that the Scott act will be repealed.

Enquiry as to the authority on which the announcement was made, set all doubts at rest, for Mr. Coleman said there was no need for concealment and he, therefore, allowed the despatch in question to be inspected by the class of doubters, who, not knowing his well established reputation for veracity, appeared to think the news too good to be true.

When the regular trains were all in and the expectant crowds failed to see Cleveland amongst the arrivals, Coleman was asked what he meant by getting up such a story, but Mr. H., a knowing St. John newspaper man who had just "come off" from a confidential interview with him, took charge of several of the enquiries, while Fred, himself, explained to the remainder that gentleman of Grover Cleveland's position didn't travel in the evening on a C. P. R. special. As the special had not come by eleven o'clock and there was uncertainty in reference to the time of the expected arrival, the crowd thinned down to the last man shortly before midnight.

Just as Coleman was preparing for his bed-time devotions, his last act being to look into the morning paper, he saw the next forenoon at ten to drive a friend out to Killarney farm to see the 33rd Regt. of the St. John newspaper man appeared upon the scene and with the tone of one who had an inside track with his boss, he said "he" had come yet.

"Yes," said Mr. Coleman, "and he's in his room."

"Did you give him my message?"

"Dear me I really forgot it."

"Well, I must see him. What's the number of his room?"

"Eighty-three; but he's retired by this time, for he is to leave early in the morning. So, don't disturb him."

"That's a nice go, isn't it? Here's Ellis away flailing at the North Shore and I have the whole coast clear to down the Globe on the biggest and best ever came from the province, and you spoil my chance of an interview by your forgetfulness."

"Easy, my dear fellow; he's not going to call six in the morning and you can see 'im and still be in time for your paper of to-morrow."

And so it was arranged that H. was to be called at 5.30 next morning. He appeared at the time, and Coleman was moving about the office, like a man who had just discharged important duties to his own or some other country. Nevertheless he wished Mr. H. good morning with a cheerful "Good-morning!"

"Is he up yet?"—was anxiously fired at him. Fred leaned over the office counter and after a plying glance at his journalistic guest, said: "Yes, and I've been up since two. Some officers person told him last night that John V. Ellis was fishing on the Tabernacle and he started on his special over the Canada Eastern at four o'clock this morning."

When the citizens who called at the Barker that morning learned that Mr. Cleveland had come, and gone in the manner described by Mr. Coleman they were disappointed. Some of the more astute persons discovered that a receiving blank had been purloined from the telegraph office the day before, and the St. John newspaper man was told that the blank was worth grand chief of the Fredericton Amateurs club, about eleven o'clock, a. m., he appeared at the Barker house counter and asked for his bill in a tone of deep seated indignation. He didn't have town but he had a check to the station, didn't want his baggage checked, wouldn't have an early dinner and even refused a parting cigar tendered by the genial entertainer of the occasion. He didn't have town but he merely changed quarters, going to the Queen, where he said that he saw a placard in a certain apartment in the Barker on which was printed, "He haseth a liar," and if he were Fred Coleman he would take it down. Coleman, however, declares he is simply the victim of circumstances and as his most distinguished guests choose to dine and go between two days he can't help it.

SHOCKING SCENES IN PARIS.

PARIS, July 23rd.—Horrible scenes have been witnessed during the past week about the place de la Roquette, where criminals are executed by the guillotine. Crowds of the lowest class of people have assembled there every evening and have passed the night in the vicinity eagerly waiting to witness the execution of the murderous Reclaire and her accomplice Dore. Last Saturday morning a large crowd had gathered about the place de la Roquette in the expectation of seeing these people executed, but the execution was postponed on account of the marriage of the executioner, Delbier's son and assistant to the daughter of a provincial executioner. Since that time, Sunday morning excepted, low women and their consorts as well as a certain number of people of the better class have gathered each morning about the prison and execution place, singing, shouting, fighting and using obscene and profane language. This morning the crowds were more riotous and offensive than usual. The consequence was that the police were compelled to charge the crowds, making many arrests and somewhat clearing the air of the neighborhood. The gorgettes, cafes and other public resorts of the neighborhood have throughout the week been doing a booming business as a result of this bloodthirsty expectancy and when the police had charged and cleared the streets the officers had another and quite a lively task in clearing out the most disorderly of these drinking places. Here again many arrests were made and hideous drunken men and drink-sodden women, yelling and fighting, were escorted to the police stations, selling the very air by their horrible language.

THIS MAN HAD EIGHT WIVES.—RONDOUT, N. Y., July 24th.—Augustus Lewis, 47 years old, was arrested in Ellenville, and placed in jail to await action of the grand jury on a charge of bigamy. He is said to have no less than eight living wives in this state. They range in age from 22 to 50 years.
