THE ISSUE.

The issue of reciprocity. The conservative party may surround it with as many complications and fine distinctions as they please, but it remains the same. It is reciprocity or restriction which the people of Canada are called upon to choose between. The conservative party are bound by the premier's utterances and he has declared that as negotiations are about to be begun with the United States, he desires a new house of commons elected to deal with them, and this house he wishes to see elected "on the lines of 1878," that is on lines of policy which reciprocity and in favor of a policy which heavily protects a few industries and shuts the farmers and the mass of producers out of their best market. No amount of waxy talk about "treason" can alter this fact. No amount of pretence of having always favored reciprocity can outweigh these deliberate utterances of the man, who not only speaks for the conservative party, but is the conservative party. The position taken by the conservative leader is absolutely incompatible with reciprocity, and no one knows this better than he. The United States government will not treat with the Canadian government upon the basis of reciprocity in raw products. They have so declared. Sir John Macdonald will not treat with them upon any other basis. Negotiations begun in such a spirit are predestined to end in failure. This country cannot get and does not want such a measure only of reciprocity as suits the ideas of the extreme protectionists, who are rallying to Sir John Macdonald's support. The fact that they are with him in this contest shows the hollowness of his pretences. It is well known that THE HERALD has not concealed itself much with dominion politics, and even though an election were at hand it might possibly, under other circumstances, continue its attitude of independent criticism, but when a square issue is joined between the two great parties on a matter of such vital importance as reciprocity, its duty, as it understands it, is to speak in the most pronounced terms in favor of such a policy. In seeking to arrive at a conclusion as to what side ought to receive its support, it has had recourse to the best authorities on either side. On the conservative side it has taken the premier, whose position as defined by himself is given above, and on the other side it has taken Mr. Laurier, who tells us that he and his party are prepared to treat with our neighbors for unrestricted reciprocity, and even more, are willing to assist the conservatives in securing such a treaty. Believing that the broader the scheme of reciprocity the better it will be for Canada, and the better especially will it be for the country of York, THE HERALD's advice to the electors of this county is to choose a man to represent them, whose attitude towards this great question, and to the rival parties is such that no doubt will be possible as to his course. York ought not to be represented by any one who will set party considerations before the success of reciprocity. Its voice should be given to the man who sounds in favor of some one who will not look at the question from the standpoint of 1878, a standpoint the whole basis of which was restriction and the high taxation of the necessities of life. THE HERALD hopes that a candidate worthy of the confidence of the electors will be forthcoming to represent those favorable to the expansion of Canadian trade and the development of Canadian industries can give their vote, with confidence that in his place in parliament he will regard his trust in this respect as paramount to everything.

WHAT RECIPROCIITY MEANS.

Unrestricted reciprocity will build up New Brunswick as nothing else will. Electors in this constituency will do well to look at the matter from their own standpoint and not from any one else's. Our so-called statesmen are so busy looking at the country as a whole, that they lose sight of its component parts. They talk glibly of what will advance the general prosperity, forgetting altogether that there can be no general prosperity without local progress. If the whole country is to prosper, its component parts must prosper. There is no way in which the opinion of the country can be reached except by each locality speaking for itself. If each constituency is careful to elect representatives who will speak its views as to what policy is best, not only for Canada, but for that particular constituency, the house of commons will be truly representative. Do the people of York feel that unrestricted reciprocity would be to their advantage? If so, let them say so. Do not let them try to determine whether it will be for the benefit of Toronto, or Montreal or Ottawa. These localities will speak for themselves and will not trouble themselves to enquire what will benefit this constituency of York. So let York speak for itself. The only question which the electors in this county ought to consider in the coming election is whether unrestricted reciprocity would be to their advantage and they should vote accordingly, for there appears to be no doubt that they will have an opportunity of voting.

CAMPAIGN NOTES.

It will be observed by an advertisement in another column that a convention of the liberals of York county has been held at the Temperance hall. A conservative convention is not probable. From Victoria we learn that Hon. Mr. Costigan will probably be opposed. In Carleton Dr. Collier will be the liberal standard bearer and D. M. Vane will come forward for the conservatives. In Sunbury opposition seems very probable. It is rumored that the conservatives are not agreed upon Mr. Wilnot. A convention of liberals will be held at the court house on Saturday next. In Charlotte Mr. Gilmore may be opposed, possibly by J. G. Chipman. In Queen's G. J. King will again be the fore for the liberals. It is not yet certain that Mr. Baird will offer. In King's Col. Donville is out against Hon. Mr. Foster. In St. John conventions have been summoned. There will be a full ticket on each side. In Albert it is likely that Dr. Weldon will be opposed by a liberal. In Westmorland no opposition has as yet taken shape. Everybody is busy in the local contest. In Kent Dr. Bourque will oppose Dr. Legere. In Northumberland Peter Mitchell will be opposed by Michael Adams. In Gloucester and Westmorland opposition seems probable. In fact as matters now look, it seems as if every county, with the exception of Westmorland, will have a contested election.

Division No. 2 met on Friday morning when the following chairmen were selected: Administration of justice, Farrell; almshouse, Vandine; wharf, Moore; street lamps, Gilman; public works, Richey. It is the intention of the city council to lease two building lots on the Phoenix square wharf, for the purposes of coal sheds. The lots formed the subject of discussion at Friday's meeting. The plan was to divide the square, the making of the lots, and the advisability of constructing a road being laid over for future discussion.

CELEBRATION OF CANADIAN.

George Hagerman of Managack had one of his arms broken by a fall a few days ago. He is progressing favorably towards recovery. On Tuesday morning as William Thompson was on his way to the copulating cot in the barn of the Dunphy hotel, the animal suddenly became restive, and as soon as he entered the stall kicked out with his hind legs, and Mr. Thompson received a nasty blow in the chest. Had not Mr. Thompson thrown his head back, he would have been fatally injured. It was a narrow escape. On Wednesday afternoon an enemy wheel in the workshop of Morrison's mill exploded, pieces of the wheel being hurled in all directions. One large piece struck an employee, Bert Hall by name in the left hand, inflicting a terrible gash, and bruising the hand considerably. The pain was so excruciating, Dr. Seery was sent for, and dressed the sufferer's injuries. It is not known how the explosion occurred. Several pieces of the wheel struck the roof, and it was fortunate that only one person was injured. The man was sent for, and taking his horse, led him away, without as much as recognising the benevolent action.

Thirty-six immigrants for Vancouver passed through Halifax Wednesday. They arrived there by steamer and were forwarded westward in a Canadian Pacific colonist car. While W. D. Barker, secretary of the Victoria Mutual assurance company, was walking to the office he slipped and fell, rupturing one of the blood-vessels of his head and dying shortly after. James Baker, a Yarmouth furniture painter, makes a specialty of decorating bedroom suites with sketches of local scenery, and his customers have taken quite a fancy to this style of ornamentation. Anthony Steele, a carpenter, living about two miles east of Komoka, was struck and killed by No. 11 express Tuesday. The body was found that morning east of the station and before the train was placed in the baggage room of the G. T. C. station there.

Warrants have been issued for the arrest of Alfred R. Laidley, telegraph operator at Kingston, and George May Stone, a train despatcher at Montreal, convicted of negligence in connection with the recent collision near Ballantyne, by which brakeman Clow met his death.

Ernest Hagel of Toronto had a gun and a revolver—and was on the lookout for game. He sighted a squirrel and emptied his gun at it without effect. Then taking the gun in his left hand, he drew a revolver, but the squirrel was not there. He raised the bullet went before him to his left hand.

Andrew Douglas, aged about 70, was found dead in his brother's barn at Pickering, Ont., Monday with a bullet hole through his head and a revolver in his hand. On the body was found $250 and a receipt from Chas. Stark for a six dollar revolver. He left a note showing that he was tired of life.

The new fellow's home is at Millbrook.

Gilbert A. Lockhart, aged eighteen years, a clerk employed in the bank of Montreal, met with a terribly sudden death at his home, No. 240 College street, in an early hour Monday morning. He had retired to his room on the second story, and shortly after midnight, finding the room to be uncomfortably warm, he stood on a stool to open the window. It is supposed that the stool slipped from under him, as he was thrown through the window head foremost.

Rev. Dr. Stevenson died a few days ago at Montreal under peculiarly distressing circumstances at the Protestant insane asylum. He was one of the principal figures in the Canadian Congregationalist ranks and one of its most eloquent ministers. He resigned his pastorate of Emmanuel church at Montreal three years ago and took up a charge in London England, and returned to Montreal where he remained till his death.

At one o'clock Wednesday morning the large saw mill at the north end of Shelburne was discovered to be on fire. One half of the mill was owned by John C. Byer and the other half by John W. Borer & Sons of Shelburne. The mill contained planers, shingle machines and stave machines, all nearly new. Everything was destroyed. The total loss is $23,000; no insurance. Workman had been engaged all day getting ready to begin the spring work of sawing and there had been no fire about the mill for several days. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Sarah Cummings, aged 21 years, secured a position as domestic in a house in Victoria road Halifax. Six months after entering the house she complained of feeling unwell. She experienced a peculiar sensation in her side which the doctors could not account for. She decided to go to her home at Gurborough. Wednesday morning a telegram was received announcing the girl's death. A post-mortem held revealed the fact that her death was caused by a needle entering the girl's heart. The needle (a small one), it is supposed, had been swallowed by the girl in food.

Sir Charles Tupper, High Commissioner for Canada, and Sir Donald Smith arrived Wednesday on the steamer "Pentonic." In an interview, Sir Charles said, in reference to despatches in the morning papers from Ottawa in regard to the proposals of the Dominion government to the United States for a reciprocity treaty that the article was accurate. In his opinion the proposed treaty for a more comprehensive, more applicable treaty than any previous one of like nature. There is nothing asked by Canada that does not find its equivalent in benefit by the United States.

The Bishop's college at Lennoxville took fire Wednesday and was soon wrapped in flames. The building will be a total loss. The college buildings consist of three separate buildings, the main building containing the dormitories of the students of the Faculties of Arts and Divinity, the lecture rooms and the professor's quarters, the chapel and the grammar school building, these structures all stood close together, making a very imposing pile. The buildings were of brick and situated on a picturesque site near the junction of the St. Francis and Massachusetts rivers.

A little before noon Wednesday the sleeping car on the through west bound express, on the Canadian Pacific, was thrown from the track by a broken axle on the forward track, about 100 feet east of a trestle bridge near Shelburne, on the lake Superior section. The car ran half way across the bridge, tearing up the ties and was then precipitated over the side and fell 50 or 60 feet to the ground. There were 111 passengers in the sleeping car, nearly all of whom were more or less injured. Only four seriously. Some of the sleeping car passengers were fortunately in the dining car at the time and escaped injury.

It is thought several perished. Joe and Jeff Holliday, aged 16 and 20 respectively, waylaid and shot to death George Best, in Washington county, Ky., Thursday night. In consequence of ship owners taking hostile legal action, the London dock joint committee has abandoned discharging ships and a conflict between the dockers and shipowners has commenced. The latter will be compelled to organize a staff of 2,500 loaders and unloaders to meet the ordinary demands of the port of London. In addition, the entire police division will be needed to protect the men while at work.

The Russian government intends to take further diplomatic action against the Bulgarian government. Since the diplomatic agents of Germany and Austria protested against Nihilists being protected and employed in Bulgaria, the Bulgarian government, instead of expelling persons designated by Russia, took advantage of the opportunity to employ 200 other persons, chiefly ex-officers of the Bulgarian army and Rumanophiles hostile to M. Stambouloff.

Evelyn Walker, his companion, carried him on his shoulder to Daytona, meanwhile he was suffering from the poison from the wound. It appears that Walker had a sore on his lip and absorbed some of the poison. He became partially paralyzed, but at a late hour was considered out of danger.

A man went into the Astor House New York a few days ago asked for a room registered as Frederick Evans, England, and was assigned to room No. 457, on the fourth floor. The chambermaid was unable to get into the room, and at 7:30 Tuesday notified Mr. Steinberg, the hotel engineer, of the fact. Steinberg forced open the door, but was found lying on his back in the middle of the floor, dead. Beside him lay a new razor made at Sheffield, England.

The Chicago police are said to have under surveillance Dr. Blood, the man accused of being responsible for the murder of Hiram Sawtell, in New Hampshire about a year ago. Dr. Blood was convicted of killing his brother, but after asserting that Blood was the man who engineered the crime. Blood disappeared from the scene of the murder soon after the excitement and was supposed to have gone to Denver, Col. It is now claimed that he is in Chicago selling his medicines under an assumed name. The New Hampshire authorities, it is thought, are not in a hurry to get him, as they have no evidence on which to convict him aside from Sawtell's word.

In the German Reichstag on Wednesday Hansell von Caprivi, replying to a question, said that the coming year would be for the German colony in southwestern Africa a year of trial. The Chancellor added that he believed it to be desirable to wait for the expiration of that experimental period before it be decided to abandon the colony—a contingency which certainly caused the government embarrassment and annoyance. Herr Windthorst, the Centrist leader, favored the retention and continued support of the colony by the German government. Herr von Bismarck, leader of the Liberal party, opposed this view and argued in favor of the abandonment of the German colonial enterprises in southwestern Africa.

The cessation of the day in London is the scandal in the war office. The matter is not new. The statements of the Times were denied from the war office, but that paper, which evidently had the inside information, kept up the attack. The government would like to have made a stand, but did not dare, against Col. Hanbury's amendment for a committee to investigate the war office. The charge in fact an official was enough to determine the issue in favor of investigation. There has been a feeling for a long time past, not confined to liberals that the war office needed overhauling, but no one suggested corruption in its dealings, until now a majority of parliament is understood to be anxious for the retirement of the duke of Cambridge from commander-in-chief of the army.
